WVON
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WVON provides its listeners with programming and public announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- employment: Kimberly Dir. Of Workforce Development, of the Chicago Urban League weekly segment informs listeners about employment opportunities.

News:

Perri Small spoke Lavanya Ramanathan, featured reporter with Washington Post and discussed Alzheimer's disease how the illness is particularly common among African Americans.

WVON and listeners talked about how February has only just begun, but one retailer landed in hot water over a product related to Black History Month. Adidas announced it was pulling a running shoe from its Black History Month lineup following social media backlash to the all-white shoe.

Perri Small was joined by Devon Franklin in-studio to promote his book The Truth About Men to help people conquer relationships.

WVON and listeners welcomed Lise Olsen, deputy investigations editor and senior investigative reporter at the Houston Chronicle about the Abuse of Faith for 20 years, 700 victims: Southern Baptist sexual abuse spreads as leader's resist reforms.

WVON discussed Colin Kaepernick removal from Black History Month resolution in his own state. The resolution's author, Democratic Rep. David Crowley, called the move a "slap in the face" and a "textbook example of white privilege," noting that he had to "get the blessing of all of my white counterparts" to get the resolution passed.

Maze Jackson welcomed Lenox Magee, a freelance journalist and blogger in the Chicagoland area about the Nigerian brothers and Empire extras who say they conspired with Jussie Smollett to orchestrate the attack.

News/Community:

WVON spoke to Mike Romain, Annie Nguyen & Aaron Allen and City Bureau, the South Side-based journalism lab, deployed a three-person team of reporters to interview more than 30 Austin residents about the issues that matter most to them.

WVON spoke to award-winning journalist/reporter with Chicago Crusader, Erick Johnson about Chicago Browhouse receiving a Cease and Desist letter to remove Lem's name from its menu without permission.

Jennifer Johnson, CTU's Chief of Staff, joined Perri Small to discuss Black Lives Matter School Week.

WVON spoke with DeAnna Sherman, founder of True Star Foundation to discuss how to help Chicago teens win the Google Impact Challenge Illinois.

Cliff Kelley spoke to Candice Payne to discuss how she recently paid for 50 hotel rooms for homeless during the Polar Vortex.

WVON discussed the announcement of Colin Kaepernick and Eric Reid have settled their joint collusion grievance with the NFL, ending with little fanfare a case that has transcended the sport into the cultural debates of the country with guest Exavier Pope.

WVON celebrated Black History Month with guest President Brenda Allen from Lincoln University, It was founded in 1854 as the nation's first degree-granting Historically Black College and University, or HBCU. Originally chartered as Ashmun Institute, it was re-named Lincoln University in 1866 in honor of President Abraham Lincoln.

News/Politics:

Cliff Kelley spoke to Political Strategist Del Marie Cobb about reactions to The State of the Union Address.

WVON spoke to Tiffany Walden, Co-Founder, Editor-in-Chief to discuss journalism and storytelling as forms of activism, to strive to humanize Black people, Black places and Black things in a way that would make Lorraine Hansberry smile.

Illinois Attorney General, Kwame Raoul spoke to Cliff Kelley about the Jason van Dyke sentence challenge.

Cliff Kelley Show welcomed Jim Allen from the Board of Elections to discuss early voting in Chicago.

WVON spoke to Dan Mihalopoulos, Investigative reporter with WBEZ's Government & Politics to discuss; Team Businesses that gave tens of thousands of dollars last year to Illinois Comptroller Susana Mendoza's political fund allegedly are "front companies" in an ongoing, multimillion-dollar "sham" involving profits from a state program, according to a pending federal civil lawsuit.

Perri Small was joined by attorney General Raoul, Attorney Joe McMahon, and Rev. Marvin Hunter, great uncle to LaQuann McDonald who has been SUPER active in this case, making sure the narrative is told correctly.

WVON listeners discussed The Illinois House of Representatives passing of a bill to bring the states minimum wage to $15 an hour. The bill passed in the Senate already.

State Rep Marcus Evans discussed the tabling of the Motor Fuel Tax and its impact with WVON.

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell spoke with President Trump and urged him to sign what he calls "a pretty good deal" that a 17-member bipartisan Congressional committee put together. While it provides only $1.4 billion for the President's $5.7 billion demand for a border wall, McConnell says the President should "feel free" to use other ways for funding. Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer agreed saying the President should sign the bill and that "these months of shutdown politics must come to an end.

According to Chicago Board of Elections spokesman Jim Allen, there appears to be "stronger voter interest than in the February first-rounds in 2007, 2011 or 2015 elections.

10:05-10:17

10:17-10:21 SPOTS, TRAFFIC & WX

In the first seven days of early voting in 2007, 5,270 Chicagoans voted; in 2011, voters numbered 12,985; in 2015, there were 32,550 voters in the first seven days.

10:21-10:29
