=====

Issue: legal guardianship system

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Here and There

Date: April 8 Time of day: 4:07pm Duration: 51min

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): The hit movie I Care a Lot focuses on a fictional lawyer who abuses her clients when she becomes their legal guardian. The details are reminiscent of what syndicated columnist Diane Dimond found in New Mexico in 2016. She talked about it on HERE & THERE back then. But Dillon Bergen of Searchlight NM says some of the very same abuses are still very much with us here in the Land of Enchantment. Reforms put on legal paper seem not to have reached the ground, or the people in guardianship care.

=====

Issue: voting

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Here and There

Date: April 27th Time of day: 4:07pm Duration: 51min

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): When Coca-Cola denounced the recently-passed Georgia law on voting, it said it was doing so because the law made it harder, not easier to vote. But Joan Walsh of The Nation says what Georgia did was worse than that. It effectively made it much harder for people of color to vote. Call it out for racism, Coke. The legislature also gave itself the power to intervene against any vote outcome it doesn't like. No wonder so many are boycotting the state.

Date: May 11th Time of day: 4:07pm Duration: 51 min

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): Of life, it is said, the Lord giveth and taketh away. The same is true of the New Mexico legislature when it comes to transparency. Marjorie Childress of NM in Depth on how accountability for capital outlay allocations was reformed and how some other public expenditures somehow stayed secret -- from you and me. Capital outlay reform took 5 years, cutting a new loophole took about a week. Childress reports, they're both NM law now.

=====

Issue: drought/wildfires

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Wake Up Call

Date: May 12th Time of day: 8:11am Duration: 9 min

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): Experts from around the country are predicting that this year's fire season is going to be bad, especially for New Mexico. Currently, the state's extreme drought is causing vegetation to become dangerously flammable - which is worrying local fire departments. KSFR's Bryce Dix spoke with Santa Fe County Fire Department Fire Prevention Specialist Jeffry Folgate about they will be tackling the season and to give advice on how Northern New Mexicans can prevent fires from happening.

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Noon News

Date: May 19th Time of day: 12:35pm Duration: 9min

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): We all have heard about the most recent coronavirus guidelines released by the Centers for Disease Control- fully-vaccinated people are finally allowed to go mask-less indoors. Well, in most cases that is. But, it's controversial and even politicized, for many reasons. Some are confused by the CDC's seemingly wishy-washy stance on how to properly handle the pandemic. Others are unsure who or what to believe now-a-days.

=====

Issue: agriculture/immigration

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Here and There

Date: May 20th Time of day: 4:07 pm Duration: 51 min

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): The farming industry goes from green to green, green fields to greenback dollars for their produce. But what about the people in between, the ones working the fields for very few dollars? And what if their lives are caught between a home in Mexico and a daily crossing to the job in Arizona? They benefit from a special visa program, but the farming industry benefits a lot more. Esther Honig reported in The Nation on The Story of Your Salad.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): Over the past few weeks, the biggest iceberg yet calved off the coast of Antarctica and splashed into the ocean. Also, a death knell was sounded for a huge sheet of ice still attached to Greenland. This could put a literal damper on the boom in beachfront real estate in Australia and the USA. You can't cut any ice in New Mexico, but our ever-heating and drying climate creates related problems. Laura Paskus of of NM Public TV's Our Land and the online news site Capital and Main tells the climate story.
