=====
Issue: Economic development in rural areas
WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): At Noon
Date: 1/4/16 Time of day: 12:13pm Duration: 5:40
BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): News report: "Terry Brunner is the state director of the United States Department of Agriculture's Rural Development. The agency has begun a new program to engage communities in their own economic development. It's called Stronger Economies Together, or SET. I asked Brunner to describe the program."

Issue: NM government ethics & transparency
WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Here And There
Date: 1/6/16 Time of day: 5pm Duration: 50min
BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): One word few people use when talking about their state and federal government is integrity. NM reporter Gwyneth Doland took an assignment from the journalistic Center For Public Integrity to measure the integrity of governance in NM. She started with how the state obeys its own laws on public access to government records, and immediately found trouble.

Issue: homelessness
WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): Here and There
Date: 1/7/16 Time of day: 5pm Duration: 50min
BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): Most people know that the state of NM has an unsolved problem with homelessness...but concerns about the problem and proposed solutions focus on the homeless of cities like Albuquerque and Las Cruces. Tom McDonald, of the Roswell Daily Record tells us, homelessness may be different in NM's small towns and rural areas...but it's still there and few solutions seem at hand.

Issue: campaign finance reporting
 WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): At Noon
 Date: 1/11/16 Time of day: 12:14pm Duration: 6:54
 BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): New Mexico's campaign finance reporting system would get an overhaul under legislation being proposed by a House Republican. Representative Jim Smith of Sandia Park pre-filed the measure last week. He says the current system is outdated and that makes it difficult to track information. Smith's bill would require the Secretary of State's Office to develop new hardware and software that would make the system easier to use and would provide more transparency. The changes would require public input. Calls for reform were reignited last year in the wake of former Secretary of State Dianna Duran being prosecuted for using campaign donations to fuel a gambling addiction. The 30-day legislative session begins next Tuesday. It's unclear whether Gov. Susana Martinez will include any campaign finance or ethics reforms on the agenda.

Issue: ethics legislation
 WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): At Noon
 Date: 1/13/16 Time of day: 12:13pm Duration: 6:34
 BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): New Mexico Governor Susana Martinez will be adding some ethics bills to the agenda for the upcoming legislative session. One measure highlighted by the governor's office would require legislators to disclose outside sources of income to protect against conflicts of interest. There have been numerous calls for ethics and campaign finance reforms in the wake of a scandal involving former Secretary of State Dianna Duran, who was prosecuted for misusing political donations. House Minority Leader Brian Egolf sent a letter to Martinez on Tuesday, requesting she add a series of reform bills to the agenda. One would toughen a pension forfeiture law aimed at corrupt elected officials. Martinez's office fired back, accusing Egolf of playing political games since some of the measures had been opposed by Democrats in the past.

Issue: public banking

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): At Noon

Date: 1/13/16 Time of day:1224pm Duration: 3:04

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): The issue of Public Banking has been a big topic of discussion in New Mexico, led by our own late and great Craig Barnes and the group We Are People Here! I first spoke with Barnes and Nico Liken on the Radio Café in 2013. At that time Barnes described the growing interest in Public Banking and how it might fit into New Mexico's economy. Encouraged and educated by Barnes and We Are People Here Mayor Javier Gonzales and the City of Santa Fe launched a feasibility study. That study was conducted by Katherine Updike of Building Solutions and just released this morning in Santa Fe. KSFR's Deborah Martinez was at the conference at the Santa Fe Community Convention Center.

Issue: environment

WE RAN THE FOLLOWING PROGRAM TO ADDRESS IT (Title): At Noon

Date: 1/15/16 Time of day: 12:07pm Duration: 5:25

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM (Format, participants, content, etc.): "Just before the New Year, a group of scientists studying river flows in the west released a new paper – and as usual, the news for New Mexico's water source, the Rio Grande, doesn't bode well. In fact, the river, which currently doesn't have any intrinsic rights, could be headed for "permanent drought." I spoke to journalist Laura Paskus who reviewed the report for New Mexico In Depth."

The U.S. Department of Energy says it's committed to cleaning up legacy waste left behind at Los Alamos National Laboratory by decades of bomb-making and related nuclear research. A department spokesman reiterated the commitment Wednesday after New Mexico regulators unveiled a new proposal for addressing hazardous waste and contamination in and around the northern New Mexico lab. The DOE confirmed that it has been in discussions with the state Environment Department over a revamped cleanup schedule since a previous agreement signed in 2005 has run out.
