1:00pm – 2:00pm | Air Date May 19

➤ Beth Hail, Regional Vice President – Centerstone Central Region of Tennessee

That includes Davidson, Wilson, Williamson and Rutherford counties. She has been with the not-for-profit behavioral health care organization for more than 20 years and was previously director of Centerstone's school-based therapy services as well as its child and adolescent services.

Hail holds a master's degree in social work administration from the University of Louisville and is a licensed clinical social worker. She also won a Women to Watch award from Nashville Medical News.

Overview of Centerstone:

- Centerstone is a not-for-profit health care organization dedicated to delivering care that changes people's lives. Headquartered in Nashville, it serves all ages—children, adolescents, adults and families—and provides mental health care, addiction treatment and community education in five states: Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Major Areas of Treatment:

- Among the issues Centerstone can help with are:
  - Anxiety & stress, Depression, Trauma & PTSD, Substance use, ADHD and child behaviors
  - Relationships and more

Major Services:

- Centerstone offers the following core services:
  - Integrated mental and physical health care (mind-body connection is important!)
  - Individual, couples and family counseling - Addiction treatment and prevention
  - Psychiatric evaluation and treatment - Peer support and life skills management
  - Early childhood and family services
  - School-based therapy and prevention services (directly in schools, community centers etc.)
  - Military and veteran services - Housing and employment services
  - Therapeutic foster care and adoption - 24-Hour crisis services

Military Services:

- Nationally, Centerstone has specialized programs for service members, veterans and their loved ones. These include individual, couples and family counseling, therapeutic retreats, housing and employment assistance, online support groups, classes and workshops.

In Clarksville, we specialize in the treatment of post 9/11 veterans and their families at The Steven A. Cohen Military Family Clinic at Centerstone.

Outpatient Clinics in Nashville and around Tennessee:

- Centerstone has several outpatient clinics in Nashville – in Melrose, Antioch, Madison and Metro Center – and a total of 23 clinics throughout Tennessee. For an appointment, call 888-291-4357.

A Leader in Suicide Prevention and Crisis Services”

- Centerstone is also a local, national and global leader in crisis services and suicide prevention efforts. Our suicide prevention work has been highlighted on CNN and in USA Today and US News and World.

Centerstone regularly hosts charitable and educational community events. Information about these along with inspiring and informational daily posts are available at our Facebook page and web site. Be sure to check out our Mental Health Month activities throughout May!

- Sandy Obodzinski (O-bod-zin-ski), President and CEO - Gilda’s Club Middle Tennessee
- Jim Brown, Chairman of the Board - Gilda’s Club Middle Tennessee

- What is Gilda’s Club? A lot of people think it’s only for women with breast cancer, but it’s so much more.
- Support for the entire family. Gilda’s not only supports those who’ve been diagnosed, but family and friends too – with things like support groups, individual counseling, expressive arts workshops, movement classes, and a program just for kids and teens.
- Two locations. Gilda’s has been a part of the Music Row community for 20 years, but recently opened a second location.
- What’s next for Gilda’s Club? How will Gilda’s evolve to meet the needs of a growing and changing Middle Tennessee?

➤ Samanta Sanchez, Community Leader – TechBridge TN

- TechBridge is a nonprofit that provides technology solutions to other nonprofits to help them better serve vulnerable populations.

- Technology is more than just a job for me, I use technology every day to manage my insulin delivery for my Type 1 Diabetes. I use technology to reduce my risk of health complications.
- The more desperate the circumstance of the clients, the less community organizations invest in themselves. Technology can help a nonprofit improve service delivery and scale great programs.
- Funders want to hear outcomes data from nonprofits (i.e. how many students graduates high school on time) not just metrics (i.e. 20 students)

1:00pm – 2:00pm | Air Date June 9

- Jen Starsinic, Co-Founder/Co-Executive Director – Girls Write Nashville
- Georgia English, Co-Founder/Co-Executive Director – Girls Write Nashville

- We are currently wrapping up our third year for our flagship program (the All-City Mentorship Program.) Our middle and high school students have spent the last four months working one on one with an assigned professional female songwriting mentor, while also attending monthly youth-led Writers' Guilds. Memorial Day weekend, this program will culminate in a professional recording session at Compass Records. We have hired an all-female studio band of professional musicians. Our girls will work with this band to produce a song they wrote in our program this season, bringing their full artistic vision to life.
- We have also launched our first "Satellite" after-school program at McMurray Middle Prep in Antioch. We started this program this year as a response to the many youth wanted to join our flagship program, but who reside in neighborhoods that are geographically disconnected from the city center, are underserved by public transportation, and who face additional barriers such as language and lack of personal transport. We have partnered with Community Achieves sire director, Courtney Artis, to provide a 20-week after-school class to seven youth. They are studying guitar, songwriting, and enjoying our "Writers' Guild" model of learning. They are recording their songs April 27th-28th in partnership with Notes for Notes, a nation-wide non-profit that places recording studios in Boys and Girls Clubs.
- Our CD release show will take place in early July and will be open to the public. This will be a community-celebration of all the hard work our young artists have done this year.

➤ Jeannie Hunter, Regional Director - Society of St. Andrew for the state of Tennessee

Note: Jeannie is pronounced like Will Smith's current Disney character, Andrew is singular and not possessive.

- What we do: we glean food at farms, farmers' markets, and processing houses to collect food that might otherwise go to waste. We arrange for it to be delivered to food banks, soup kitchens, and homeless shelters, where people get to eat fresh, healthy stuff instead of overly processed canned/boxed food and day-old pastries.
- Food waste: In America, we throw away 40% of what we grow, which means we're wasting food, the money we paid for that food, and all the resources that went into growing and transporting it (labor, seed, fertilizers, tractor fuel, pesticides, trucking, etc.). Food waste in landfills causes methane, a powerful greenhouse gas that contributes to global warming.
- Society of St. Andrew is unique because we glean food at the farm level, meaning we collect fresh, healthy produce pre-consumer. It's sometimes the produce that isn't "pretty" enough for grocery stores (they're very specific about shape, color, size, etc.), sometimes excess, sometimes a farmer is done for the season, and there's still food in the fields...
- 16% of Tennesseans are food insecure, meaning they have had to wonder how they were going to get their next meal in the last year. When you consider how much food is wasted, it's pretty awful. So our work uses one problem to solve another!
