Mid-South Transplant Foundation / Giving Back

The Birth of the Mid-South Transplant Foundation

The preparation for organ procurement and transplantation in Memphis began in 1968. To assure that the necessary groundwork was laid; the Histocompatibility (tissue typing) Laboratory was set up in the fall of that year. Incorporated in 1976, Mid-South Transplant Foundation is a private, non-profit organ procurement organization recognized by the United Network for Organ Sharing (UNOS) and certified by the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services. MSTF has been instrumental in the recovery of hundreds of organs and is committed to helping meet the ever-increasing demand.

MSTF services hospitals in eleven (11) counties in Tennessee; six (6) counties in Arkansas; and, nineteen (19) counties in Mississippi. The population in this area is about 2 million people and MSTF consistently ranks in the top one-third of the fifty-eight (58) active Organ Procurement Organizations (OPO's) nationwide.

Retrieving Freedom

Retrieving Freedom, Inc. (RFI) is listed as a 501(c)3 non profit corporation that trains service dogs for placement into two main markets: children with autism and disabled veterans. RFI will breed and train retrievers with the specific traits needed for the duty of being an assistance dog in these markets. Specialized schedules are placed for each dog throughout the twenty-four months needed to train an assistant dog to meet the standards that RFI will require for placement. RFI's dogs are tailored to meet the precise needs of the veterans or children with whom they will be placed. RFI is not a "one dog for all" type of organization. Charles Dwyer with Retrieving Freedom in Senatobia, Mississippi had details about their main fundraiser of the year which is happening July 20.

Youth Villages

Youth Villages which began in Tennessee is a private non-profit organization dedicated to helping emotionally and behaviorally troubled children and their families live successfully. They help 20,000 families each year from more than 20 states and Washington, DC. Founded in the merger of two residential treatment campuses in 1986, Youth Villages now offers a complete continuum of programs and services with one goal in mind: building strong families.

Whether it's helping teens live independently upon aging out of state custody, restoring families through intensive in-home services, or providing temporary placements for children in crisis, Youth Villages is a dynamic force for families across the United States.

From the beginning, Youth Villages has worked to find and implement evidence-based treatment models that dramatically improve the chances of long-term success. Its research team obsessively collects data and measures outcomes to ensure their effectiveness.

As a leader in the field of children's mental health, Youth Villages earns its status as one of the nation's most promising results-oriented nonprofits, as recognized by Harvard Business School, U.S. News & World Report, and the White House. The First Tee

In 1997, the LGPA, Masters Tournament, PGA of America, PGA TOUR and USGA formed a partnership with the help of Founding Corporate Partner, Shell Oil, to lead an initiative called The First Tee. This initiative began as a way to bring golf to kids and teens that otherwise would not be exposed to the game and its positive values. Since that time, The First Tee has steadily grown into a robust youth service organization, impacting, influencing and inspiring more than 7.6 million young people. What started as a concept to make golf more accessible to young people turned into an opportunity to help young people develop core values and learn life skills that are inherent in the game of golf. The First Tee Life Skills Experience was formulated with the help of academic, sport psychology, youth development and golf experts to proactively teach core values and life skills as part of basic golf instruction at chapters.

In 2004, The First Tee expanded and introduced The First Tee Nine Core Values™ in physical education classes at elementary schools through the National School Program. In 2009, through a partnership with the U.S. Department of Defense, they started the military affiliate program to provide the same life skills education, character development and golf instruction to families of the U.S. Armed Forces.

Since its inception in 1997, The First Tee has grown into a robust youth service organization impacting the lives of more than 7.6 million young people and exposing them to core values and life skills that will help them both on and off the golf course. Nyrone Hawkins with The First Tee Memphis discussed the organization and its upcoming benefit golf tournament on July 22.

Juvenile Court System

County Commissioner Henri Brooks proposed a program for the Juvenile Court System to have Citizen Monitors.

Citizen monitors will observe the court, even though the Department of Justice will send two of its own monitors to observe if juvenile court is getting any better. While it may sound like a duplication of efforts, Brooks believes it is necessary.

Commissioner Brooks is the one who pushed the Justice Department to investigate the county's juvenile court. That investigation found that black teenagers were twice as likely to be detained and sent to adult criminal court for minor infractions as white teenagers.

GRAD Academy Memphis

Mr. Keyundah Coleman Ed.S, Principal of GRAD Academy Memphis, is giving parents and low-income students another option for learning.

The mission at Project GRAD is to ensure a quality public school education for students in low-income areas, so that more students-especially those from disadvantaged backgrounds-graduate from high school and enter college prepared to excel. Furthermore, GRAD Academy Memphis aims to provide all students in an open-enrollment high school with an outstanding 21st century education, to prepare them for college and career success, and to inspire them to be engaged participants in our democracy. The long-term vision of GRAD Academy Memphis is to build a distinctive blended learning environment and model in which students from ASD-zoned schools in Memphis, who currently attend middle schools that are mired in the bottom 5% of student performance in the state of Tennessee, will perform academically in high school in the top 10% globally and, by doing so, demonstrate that a comprehensive and well-designed blended learning high school model can close significant achievement gaps and prove that excellence is possible for all. The immediate goal of GRAD Academy Memphis is, over the next four years of the model's rollout, to meet and exceed the ASD's ambitious student performance growth targets, which include moving new ASD schools to the top performing 25% of schools in the state within five years, averaging double-digit performance gains annually over the next five years, and decreasing the existing achievement gap by 50% within eight years.

National Foundation for Transplants

NFT was established in 1983, in Memphis, TN. Originally named the Liver Organ Transplant Fund, the organization was founded by three caring and compassionate women after they read about a young girl who needed a liver transplant but could not afford the procedure. These women - Mary Clouse, Liz Hull and Elise Waldheim - worked hard to raise funds for the transplant and related expenses, and their tireless dedication contributed to the patient's successful transplant.

Other transplant candidates soon began contacting the organization for assistance, and it became evident that transplant candidates across the country would benefit from such an organization. The organization name was changed to Organ Transplant Fund to reflect the many different types of transplants represented.

In 1998, the board of directors voted to change the name to the National Foundation for Transplants to better convey the organization's national reach and to clearly include patients needing tissue, bone marrow or other transplants.

What began as a local endeavor has evolved into an organization benefiting thousands of organ and tissue transplant candidates and recipients. NFT's fundraising campaigns have generated nearly $60 million to assist patients during their transplant journey, and NFT assists more than 2,500 patients annually. Emily Joiner discussed the foundation and their upcoming fundraiser, The Raise Hope Golf Classic October 7.

An important part of their work is giving these animals the emotional support, training and socialization abilities that will allow them to be adopted into new and loving homes and long-lasting relationships. Alexis Amorose, Executive Director, had information on their 2nd Look campaign and upcoming annual Paw Prints Gala.

Allergy and Asthma Tips for living in Memphis

Dr. Shawn Hayden with Mid-South Internal Medicine offered tips on allergy-proofing your home, office and vehicles.

Jackson, Mo. is among the top 15 allergy capitals listed in the AAFA report. Other capitals include Memphis, Tenn., New Orleans, Oklahoma City and Omaha. Topping the list in addition to Jackson, Mo. are Wichita, Kan. and Knoxville, Tenn.

Allergic reactions to pollen and ragweed can mirror symptoms of the cold and the flu, and misdiagnosis among the estimated 40 million U.S. sufferers can prevent patients from getting proper treatment, potentially leading to more medical problems down the road.

"Allergy season is going to be 25-30 days longer in the fall as well," New York-based allergist Dr. Cliff Bassett, fellow with the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America, told The Weather Channel. Luckily, there are many ways to alleviate symptoms.

Life Blood Mash Bash

Located in the heart of the Memphis medical district Lifeblood is the Memphis region's only full-service, non-profit blood donation center. Lifeblood is the area's leading provider of blood and blood components to area hospitals, supplying more than 100,000 units for local patient transfusions each year. Lifeblood is a member of America's Blood

Centers, an alliance of community-based, non-profit blood banks. Through its neighborhood donor centers and full schedule of mobile blood drives, Lifeblood provides opportunities to donate blood throughout the year.

Lifeblood's Community Relations Director Debra Brown and Vietnam War veteran Steve Sims talked about his dedication to blood donation at Lifeblood. The time period between July 4th and September 11th (Patriot Day) is a period of great significance to Lifeblood as that is when the nonprofit honors our country's active and retired military service members via its annual M*A*S*H Bash Celebration. During this time period, those who donate blood or platelets can proudly display their M*A*S*H Bash T-shirt or surrender it in exchange for a contribution to be made in their name to the VA Medical Center, which provides health care services to veterans in western Tennessee, eastern Arkansas and northern Mississippi.

Steve is currently a commander in the American Legion Elvis Presley Post 249 in Bartlett. The American Legion is the nation's largest wartime veterans' service organization, and it is both non-partisan and nonprofit. The organization has more than 2.4 million members and 14,000 posts worldwide. Steve began donating blood when a family friend was very ill and has done so ever since.

Small-Business Loan Workshop

Sue Malone, the founder of San Francisco-based group Strategies for Small Businesses, will facilitate a small-business loan workshop in Memphis Sept. 9.

The event, to be held at the Renaissance Business Center at 555 Beale St., will feature Malone discussing funding availability for startup businesses or expansion options for current businesses.

The public is invited to the workshop, which will be hosted by Tennessee Small Business Development Center and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

While it provided assistance for more than 20,000 small businesses in 2012 through its 14 locations across the state, the Tennessee Small Business Development Center's Memphis office is a "well-kept secret." The center's new director, Rory Thomas, wants to change that.

Thomas took over the Memphis office, which is based on the Union Avenue campus of Southwest Tennessee Community College, in May. He is planning initiatives that he hopes will raise the office's profile and create a pipeline of students who could eventually become entrepreneurs.

"I wish someone had spoken to me about entrepreneurship before I finished college," Thomas says. "It's fine for you to learn a trade and go work somewhere, but while you're learning to be a mechanic, you can also learn how you can open your own shop."

Since May, the TSBDC has served 174 small business owners and has helped companies raise about $700,000 in investment capital.

The centers offer free or low-cost services for entrepreneurs and small businesses that include development of business plans, financial packaging and lending assistance, disaster recovery support and market research.

This support team takes an active, holistic approach by offering practical, emotional, and spiritual care to those in need. From helping with meals, lodging, transportation, and anything in between, the love and care provided knows no bounds, and the relationships forged can last a lifetime. Since being recognized as a non-profit in 2005, Habitat for Hope has served over 400 families.

Habitat for Hope's vision is to expand their services to other communities across the nation, and to create a facility in Memphis that will give access to families from all over the world as a place of respite, hospice, and long-term lodging. Memphis Botanic Garden

Located just outside the eastern boundaries of the city, the land that is now Audubon Park was formerly the location of a home built in 1854 by Geraldus Buntyn. The city of Memphis secured this and adjacent property to create a new park in 1947.

Display gardens began in 1953, when a group of iris lovers planted 2500 rhizomes donated by the family of Mrs. Morgan Ketchum. Soon thereafter, in 1957, the Memphis Men's Garden Club and Lumbermen's Club began planting trees to create the W.C. Paul Arboretum.

In 1963, the family of Jacob Goldsmith made a significant donation to build the Goldsmith Civic Garden Center as a gathering place for horticultural and other organizations. Three years later, in 1966, the various plantings and individual gardens were brought together under one name: Memphis Botanic Garden.

Today, the Tennessee Bicentennial Iris Garden thrives, thanks to ongoing volunteer support from the Memphis Area Iris Society. The W.C. Paul Arboretum has expanded to include the entire 96 acres of the Garden's grounds, and was recently designated as the Tennessee Urban Forestry Center of Excellence by the Tennessee Urban Forestry Council. The "Tree Team," a group of dedicated volunteers, identifies and cares for the more than 150 documented species of trees that make up the arboretum.

New areas continue to crop up, including My Big Backyard family garden, which has become a popular destination for children to play and learn in nature. Memphis Botanic Garden is home to the region's largest Herb Garden, opened in October 2011, and the Delta Heritage Garden, established in the summer of 2012 to showcase crops representative of those raised in the South's agriculture era. The most recent space, the Nature Photography Garden, opened in the summer of 2013. Mary Helen Butler detailed upcoming events and activities including the Fall Plant Sale, Dog Day at the Garden and Fall Break Camp.

Educational Opportunity Center

Sandra Wade Mabry, Director, TRIO Educational Opportunity Center hosted by MidSouth Community Center West Memphis, AR.

The Educational Opportunity Centers program provides counseling and information on college admissions to qualified adults who want to enter or continue a program of postsecondary education. The program also provides services to improve the financial and economic literacy of participants. An important objective of the program is to counsel participants on financial aid options, including basic financial planning skills, and to assist in the application process. The goal of the EOC program is to increase the number of adult participants who enroll in postsecondary education institutions.

National Foundation for Transplants

NFT was established in 1983, in Memphis, TN. Originally named the Liver Organ Transplant Fund, the organization was founded by three caring and compassionate women after they read about a young girl who needed a liver transplant but could not afford the procedure. These women - Mary Clouse, Liz Hull and Elise Waldheim - worked hard to raise funds for the transplant and related expenses, and their tireless dedication contributed to the patient's successful transplant.

Other transplant candidates soon began contacting the organization for assistance, and it became evident that transplant candidates across the country would benefit from such an organization. The organization name was changed to Organ Transplant Fund to reflect the many different types of transplants represented.

In 1998, the board of directors voted to change the name to the National Foundation for Transplants to better convey the organization's national reach and to clearly include patients needing tissue, bone marrow or other transplants.

What began as a local endeavor has evolved into an organization benefiting thousands of organ and tissue transplant candidates and recipients. NFT's fundraising campaigns have generated nearly $60 million to assist patients during their transplant journey, and NFT assists more than 2,500 patients annually. Emily Joiner discussed the foundation and their upcoming fundraiser, The Raise Hope Golf Classic October 7.

Memphis Animal Services

Memphis Animal Services, or "Animal Shelter" as they are often called, has been around since the early 1950's providing animal services to the City of Memphis and Shelby County. Although primarily a municipal animal care and control department for the City of Memphis, the service center (shelter) does provide for housing and other related animal services for animals from Shelby County. Their mantra has always been protecting people from the dangers and nuisances of uncontrolled animals and keeping animals safe from mistreatment and abuse. Promoting, motivating and enforcing responsible pet ownership is their number one goal.

Contrary to the "limited admission" philosophies of some shelters for companion animals, their shelter has an open door policy. They turn away no animal, regardless of health, temperament, age or condition. Unfortunately, this does not enable them to place every animal in a new home. In reality of course, not all of the animals they take in are good candidates for placement. The sad fact remains however, that many otherwise healthy animals never get adopted because there aren't enough families who want them.

Their philosophy is to keep working at the root causes of pet overpopulation and irresponsible pet ownership - to provide alternatives to indiscriminate breeding of pets, to encourage people to become better pet owners and to make our community a better place for both people and animals. MAS Director James Rogers discussed the upcoming Bark Block Party to benefit Memphis Animal Services.
