Priests for Life

Hello, this is Fr. Frank Pavone of Priests for Life. "Blessed are the poor in spirit for the Kingdom of Heaven is theirs." When the Lord talks about the poor in spirit He is speaking about those whose only help is God Himself. Today, nobody is more unsafe and unprotected than the child in the womb. "Thou father and mother forsake me, the Lord will receive me." God calls us to acknowledge and bless the unborn. This is Fr. Frank Pavone, National Director of Priests for Life.

Priests for Life

Hello, this is Fr. Frank Pavone of Priests for Life. Despite what some in public office say, abortion is not health care. In fact, this destructive and violent act does not even deserve the name, "medical procedure." After all, a medical procedure is supposed to help the body to do what it is trying to do but is having trouble doing. Abortion is just the opposite. It stops the body from doing what it is trying to do. This is Fr. Frank Pavone, National Director of Priests for Life.

Priests for Life

Hello, this is Fr. Frank Pavone of Priests for Life. In the time since Roe v. Wade scientists have learned a lot more about the ability of the child in the womb to feel pain. At the time of Roe doctors thought that newborn children cannot feel pain. But Nebraska has now passed a law saying that once a child can feel pain the State can protect that child from being aborted. That's progress. This is Fr. Frank Pavone, National Director of Priests for Life.

Priests for Life

Hello, this is Fr. Frank Pavone of Priests for Life. Whenever the pro-life movement is successful at getting its message to the public, pro-abortion groups whine and complain. This is seen for instance in their reaction to the prospect of an add with a pro-life message airing during the Super Bowl. The abortion industry's fear should increase our confidence, because when they fear that our message will be persuasive to young and old alike, they are right. This is Fr. Frank Pavone, National Director of Priests for Life.

Priests for Life

Hello, this is Fr. Frank Pavone of Priests for Life. Some people say that the solution to the abortion problem is to change people's hearts. In fact, that's the solution to every problem. But because there are those whose hearts have not been changed, there also needs to be laws to restrain their heartless activities. The law also influences hearts and minds. Whether regarding abortion or anything else, but hearts and laws have to be changed. This is Fr. Frank Pavone, National Director of Priests for Life.

Driving Safety PSA

MY name is Judy Teader and I'm the mother of three boys. My youngest Joe loves sports, music, and his youth group. One day Joe asked me to drive him to school. We were going through a green light and another car ran a red light and hit us killing Joe. The National Safety Council estimates 1 and 4 car crashes involve a cell phone. Hands Free is no safer. USDA – Drug Safety

Question: What will you find on all over the counter or OTC medicine packages to help you use the right drug and help you use it safely? The answer: the drug facts label. This label is the active ingredients and purpose, how much to take, and warnings you should know before using it. Remember, even OTC medicines you buy without a prescription can cause side effects you don't want. So, follow the information listed on the drug facts label. For more information, visit fda.gov/drugfactslabel. A message from the US Food and Drug Administration.

USDA – Prescription Safety

Are you thinking about buying medicine online? A search for online pharmacies yields more than 20 million results, but which ones can you trust? Medicines bought from unlicensed online pharmacies can be dangerous. You may get a fake drug, your condition may get worse, or you may experience a bad reaction. Don't put your health at risk. To learn how to find an online pharmacy that's safe and legal, visit fda.gov/besafex. A message from the US Food and Drug Administration.

USDA – Kids Drug Awareness

We all want our kids to grow up safe and healthy, so we show them how and we tell them with honest conversations that let them know what we expect. That's especially important when it comes to drugs and alcohol. Kids need to know the dangers and how to avoid them. And when it comes to pain medications, opioids, they need to know that they should never be taken without a prescription and never shared with friends or family. It's dangerous and illegal. So, talk with your kids, because when you talk they hear you.

Veterans Administration – Benefits

As we recognize the service of the American men and women in uniform, let's also honor the families who sacrifice so much every day. Military families endure frequent deployments and separations. They carry on while their loved ones are sent into harms way, and wait patiently for them to return. If you really want to honor a veteran. Look for ways to support their families and thank them for their sacrifices. Go to legion.org/honorveterans to find out how you can help.

Veterans Administration – Employment

Life in the military is one of service and sacrifice. For some, that sacrifice includes physical and mental injuries or trauma that will effect their lives forever. Please join the American legion in recognizing and supporting our wounded warriors and their families. We need to show them that we truly are a grateful nation. We cannot allow them to be forgotten or left to fend for themselves. Go to legion.org/honorveterans to find out how you can help.

Veterans Administration – Wounded Warriors

America, let me tell you about Sgt. Greg Anderson. Served two tours in Afghanistan, Bronze Star and Purple Heart recipient, and unemployed. The unemployment rate among transitioning service members is unacceptably high, much higher than the general population. Veterans are a proven commodity. They're mature, reliable, and hard working. They deserve a chance to get back to work after serving their country. Do you really want to honor a veteran? Hire one. Go to legion.org/honorveterans to find out how you can help.
