Series Title: HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i
Program Title: #1418
Distributor: PBS Hawai‘i
Date: 07/11/2023 7:30:00 PM
Length: 30
Description: On this special episode of HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i, find out which schools produced the winning entries of the HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i 2023 Spring Challenge, with host Dillon Catlett, a senior at Wai‘anae High School.

Students had just five days to answer the call for stories that met the prompt “A Blessing in Disguise.” They conducted interviews and edited their stories without any hands-on help from teachers and no mentoring from industry professionals.

During the normal, non-competitive HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i production cycle, students have several weeks and sometimes months to complete their projects. They also receive one-on-one mentorship help from HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i mentors.

Scores were given based on how well the stories met the prompt, production and storytelling criteria.

This episode also includes a special segment that takes viewers behind the scenes to meet the student hosts of the 2022-2023 HIKI NŌ season, who represent middle and high schools on Maui, Kaua‘i, and O‘ahu.

Series Title: HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai'i
Program Title: #1401
Distributor: PBS Hawai'i
Date: 08/01/2023 7:30:00 PM
Length: 30
Description: This season premiere of HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai'i kicks off a five-part series chronicling the COVID-19 global pandemic from a perspective unlike any other: straight from students' homes.

In This Changed Everything: HIKI NŌ in the Age of COVID – Part One, students and teachers tell the story of how the COVID-19 pandemic turned everyone's world upside down.

The episode begins back in March 2020 when shut-down orders rippled across the country and classroom doors closed.

Some HIKI NŌ students were suddenly stranded in Washington, D.C., where they had traveled to compete in the Student Television Network convention, after it was canceled at the last minute.

Other students found themselves stuck indoors, picking up more household chores and responsibilities to help out their essential worker parents.

As they contended with new challenges such as job loss in the family or navigating online schooling, they shared their thoughts and feelings on camera.

Through their eyes, HIKI NŌ had unprecedented access to the in-home experiences of Hawaii's people during a global pandemic — an experience no other news outlet could truly capture in this manner.

This Changed Everything: HIKI NŌ in the Age of COVID will serve as a historical archive of not only student voice and experience through a global pandemic, but that of their friends, family, and community as well.

Mina Suzuki, a HIKI NŌ journalist and senior at H.P. Baldwin High School in Maui, hosts the series from the PBS Hawai‘i studio on O‘ahu.

Length: 30
Description: HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai'i continues its five-part series with "This Changed Everything: HIKI NŌ in the Age of COVID – Part Three."

In this episode, students continue to record life on camera as the global COVID-19 pandemic presses on longer than they initially anticipated.

The student journalists share intimate details about how their personal and family life has shifted, telling of their parents' unemployment, the loss of elderly loved ones, and the challenge of taking on caregiving roles for their younger siblings.

They speak of grappling with the loss of personal connections and relationships as schools remain closed, and divulge their difficulties with maintaining a healthy mindset while working nearly all day online.

With their camera lenses turned upon themselves and their relatives, students give HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai'i an unparalleled look at what it is to stay resilient during a time of pandemic-related uncertainty.

Mina Suzuki, a HIKI NŌ journalist and senior at H.P. Baldwin High School in Maui, hosts the series from the PBS Hawai'i studio on O'ahu.

Series Title: HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i
Program Title: #1406
Distributor: PBS Hawai‘i
Date: 09/05/2023 7:30:00 PM
Length: 30
Description: On this special episode of HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i, find out which schools produced the winning entries of the 2022 HIKI NŌ on PBS Hawai‘i Fall Challenge.

For this competition, HIKI NŌ students were challenged to submit videos based on the prompt, “Where Tradition Meets Today.”

Students had just four days to interview, shoot, edit and refine their videos. They did so without any hands-on help from teachers and no mentoring from industry professionals.

During the normal, non-competitive HIKI NŌ production cycle, students have up to two months to complete a project, and they receive one-on-one mentorship help from industry professionals.

The teams entered from middle and high schools across four islands.

Scores were given based on how well the project met the prompt, HIKI NŌ’s production and storytelling criteria.

Marika Zialcita, a HIKI NŌ journalist and student at SEEQS Public Charter School on O‘ahu, hosts the series from the HIKI NŌ editing suite at the PBS Hawai‘i studio on O‘ahu.
