Aqua Kids Adventures Educational/Informational (E/I) Content

Series Overview

Aqua Kids Adventures provides CORE programming in the area of biology and specifically the ecosystem related to the ocean, its tributaries and estuaries. Children can learn about the resources of the oceans and how protection of oceans is necessary to present and future generations. Not only does the show teach biological topics, but it aims to enrich children's lives by making them aware of future generations, the role they play now, and for generations into the future, with the biggest ecosystem on earth—the oceans. Each episode provides information related to a specific topic and gives an educational approach to understand the topic related to the entire ecosystem of the Earth. Aqua Kids Adventures provides kids with a way to learn about the diversity of marine animals around the world and the importance of preserving their fragile aquatic habitats. Through the use of hands-on collaboration between kids and science researchers and educators, Aqua Kids Adventures encourages children to take an active role in protecting the future of their communities and the world.

To Whom It May Concern,

As an elementary school principal, I am always looking for new material to present to my classroom teachers and my students. Our school district has a strong emphasis on the science and math elements in the curriculum. I am writing to inform you about my thoughts on the show "Aqua Kids". The show is a fantastic vehicle for showing how science in the classroom translates into the real world. The message of environmental awareness is an important one for the young students at our school. Our curriculum is designed to raise awareness of the impact of our daily living on the ecosystems around us. Students at the elementary school level need to see concrete examples of how their actions could actually impact any future event.

The message delivered by "Aqua Kids" is given by a creative and resourceful host, Molly McKinney, whose scientific background is evident in the show. The other young hosts, whose ages range from pre-teen to late teens are equally entertaining and informative. The young viewers identify with these young hosts, and imagine themselves in this role of the scientist, and as someone who could impact the environment in a positive way. The format of young student scientists presenting information on location in a variety of aquatic settings is both entertaining and informative.
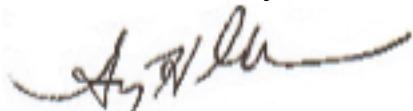

The episodes that I have viewed are creative, engaging and an excellent teaching tool for students at the elementary and middle school level. The format of the show is very "kid friendly" and useful for visual learners who might need to hear the information in this format. The writers of the show use a variety of teaching elements to both motivate and inform the viewers. By identifying the vocabulary of the scientific terms used in the show, the viewers have their questions answered quickly. One of my favorite episodes was the tagging of a horseshoe crab, because that is something that I thought my students could relate to as well as be interested in.

As an educator, we strive to make learning meaningful for the students, and make real life connections in our educational objectives. The show "Aqua Kids" does just that. The hosts make the learning fun and enjoyable. They bring the real life facts about oceanography and study of the environment into an understandable show that incorporates key elements in scientific inquiry.

I appreciate having a show like this on television for students to view and to use as entertainment and a learning tool. The show "Aqua Kids" is an outstanding learning opportunity for students and teachers alike. The content of the show is presented in an informative and creative manner. This show strikes a balance between presenting environmental concerns, and also providing hope for students to make a purposeful difference. The message is clear, positive and entertaining.

Sincerely,

Amy H. Grabner

Series Review
Aqua Kids/Aqua Kids Adventurers

   Aqua Kids by Adventure Production is a TV show that features talented students and young adults as they travel around the world discussing events about the environment and conservation. Their show is fast paced, carefully planned, age appropriate and very informative.

   As a high school principal and a parent, I know that kids love to see other children having fun on screen and learning about environmental matters, and Aqua Kids is all about the fun and learning and overall excitement of new places. Students of all ages rarely have the chance to travel outside of their neighborhood or local attractions. In my experience as a teacher and principal, it is the students who travel and experience other places that excel their school work.

   The series offers students who want to major in the sciences an opportunity to experience real life jobs surrounding environmental science. The children that are on the show are well spoken and accurate in their facts. The adults in each of the episodes provide interesting and accurate information with on site shoots and high energy excitement.

   I endorse Aqua Kids series as a strong selection of educational programming, at the elementary, middle and high school level. The show would be fun to use in the classroom, or with kids at home.

Dear George:

I want to commend you for the impressive educational work you have done and continue to do for young people through your Aqua Kids show.

It hardly seems possible that it is three years (or is it four?) since my son Zach worked with you and your crew on location. He loved the experience and it had a role in affirming for him the importance of educating young people about the environment and encouraging good stewardship of resources. Nowadays, he pursues a degree in Landscape Architecture, driven to care for the ways we interact with the landscape by the example of his teachers here at John Carroll and the influence of educators like you from beyond the walls of school.

I am happy to recommend the Aqua Kids programming to students from middle school through high school. We teach courses in Environmental Science, Marine Biology and Chesapeake Bay Studies here at John Carroll and much of the content of Aqua Kids would prove a valuable supplement to classroom instruction.

On behalf of everyone at John Carroll, I wish you continued success in your mission to motivate young people to take an active role in preserving aquatic environments and wildlife, by showing how others just like them can do the same.

Sincerely,

Paul G. Barker

Dear George,

I am writing to thank you for our successful interaction over the past few years. Connecticut Sea Grant and the University of Connecticut have found the Aqua Kids show to be both informative and entertaining, and a marvelous way to bring environmental education and concepts of conservation and stewardship to young people in a format that they can accept and enjoy. Working with you and the Aqua Kids cast and crew has been a delight for me personally, and has given wonderful visibility to the marine and coastal research that happens here. Connecticut K-12 teachers here, such as June Plecan, who recommended Katie Mulligan to appear on Aqua Kids, tell me that they also appreciate the educational value that the show brings to youth and their families. There is no better show for teens and preteens that I have seen on television. I firmly endorse the show's content and philosophy, and I look forward to working with you and the crew into the future.

Dear Mr. Stover,

Thank you for submitting your production Aqua Kids for consideration to the Parents Television Council. After reviewing your production, I am delighted to inform you that your project has been selected to receive the PTC Seal of Approval™.

Aqua Kids is a wonderful show, combining education and fun in equal measure. The fact that Aqua Kids goes beyond education and entertainment to encourage engagement and healthy activism among young people makes it even more praiseworthy.

We appreciate the time and effort invested in creating your production. The PTC believes it is extremely important to encourage the development of quality family-friendly entertainment and educational TV programming, and we are pleased to have the opportunity to recognize and help promote your production.

Please find enclosed the PTC's written review of your production, which will appear on our website (www.parentstv.org) and artwork of the PTC Seal of Approval™ suitable for use on DVD covers, newspaper advertising and the like. (Please note that every use of the phrase "PTC Seal of Approval™" should carry the "trademark" symbol.) If you would like the artwork in electronic form, please contact me at my e-mail address below.

We wish you every success in your future projects, and encourage you to submit other productions to us for consideration for the Seal. Thank you again for your interest in the Parents Television Council. I look forward to future communication with you.

"Keeping the Planet Green and Blue," Aqua Kids is an Emmy award-winning educational program syndicated to many local stations around the U.S., Puerto Rico, Guam and internationally. World traveler and ecologist Molly McKinney joins with a number of children and teenagers to host half-hour explorations of subjects related to nature, marine animals and environments, and "green" technologies.

In addition to educating viewers, Aqua Kids also encourages children and teens to get involved, showing them how they too can help make a difference in preserving the environment. Episodes have focused on topics as diverse as visits to aquariums, cleaning up beaches, deep-sea research, fish farms, and the local environment of the Bahamas, and include a heavy emphasis on various marine animals, from lobsters to dolphins.

Aqua Kids is a terrific example of programming that is entertaining, educational and fun. The Parents Television Council is proud to award Aqua Kids with the PTC Seal of Approval[TM]. We encourage kids and parents to seek out this delightful program.

Series Review
Series: Nature Adventures
Program Reviewed: 402 Grand Lake, Co: Gateway to Rocky Mountain National Park
Episode Length: @24 minutes

In Nature Adventures, Terri Lawrenz and Todd Magnuson take viewers with them as they explore nature. Just the two of them, and their camera man, Tom Orton. In the Episode: Grand Lake, Colorado: Gateway to Rocky Mountain National Park, Terri, Todd and Tom take us on an adventure throughout Rocky Mountain National Park.

Within this show, viewers will learn about the vegetation at the high altitudes in Rocky Mountain National Park. What adaptations the plants need to survive? There are many shots of the beautiful wildflowers that grow on the mountain sides and along the trails. Terri and Todd introduce us to elk and discuss the adaptations that allow them to survive in the harsh environment of the mountains. We learn about Prairie Falcons, Yellow Bellied Marmots, American Pikas, Gray Jays, Stellar Jays, Mule Deer, Moose and Osprey. There is also information about the Rocky Mountain Big Horn Sheep. Viewers will be fascinated by the fact that the Rocky Mountain Big Horn Sheep is the Colorado State Animal, even though they are outnumbered by Elk.

At higher elevations, Terri and Todd sit for lunch and point out to viewers that the food that they brought with them has changed a bit. Due to the lower air pressure, the food packages expanded! This will bring up some really good questions! Why does this happen?!? What a great way to introduce air pressure to students!

Terri and Todd mention that they are in the Rocky Mountains in August. Viewers may be surprised to see snow still on the mountain side in many of the shots seen throughout the show. As Terri and Todd travel to different elevations, the video footage of the scenery is breathtaking. It will make viewers want to take a vacation to Rocky Mountain National Park.

This show brings up a lot of important information that students need to know when it comes to ecosystems. It also addresses many of the new National Science Standards (NSS) for Middle School and High School. Examples of standards it covers are:

Life Science/Middle School: MS-LS2-2. Construct an explanation that predicts patterns of interactions among organisms across multiple ecosystems.
MS-LS1-5. Construct a scientific explanation based on evidence for how environmental and genetic factors influence the growth of organisms.
Life Science/High School: HS-LS2-7. Design, evaluate, and refine a solution for reducing the impacts of human activities on the environment and biodiversity.
HS-LS2-8. Evaluate the evidence for the role of group behavior on individual and species' chances to survive and reproduce.

This program is educational and is appropriate for grades 6 through 9. As a teacher, I especially like the use of scientific terms like flora, ecosystems, adaptations, and diverse. These are terms that every student in a science classroom needs to know.

Series Review
Title: Real Life 101
Episodes reviewed: Two
Program length: 30 minutes

Real Life 101 features stories about real people doing real jobs and is targeted at teenagers, ages 13 – 16. There are three students who host the show and interview real people in a variety of careers.

Several characteristics of the show make it engaging for kids between 13 and 16 years of age. Each episode deals with two or three different careers so that keeps students who are watching the shows interested. The journalists are young, involved, energetic people who are also trying to figure out their place in the world. These episodes would fit nicely into nearly any high school curriculum as most courses require some sort of career component, but especially in English or Business classes. For example, in the English II class at Florida Virtual School, students complete an I-Search paper, where they research a dream they have for their future. Many students choose to research a possible career choice, so these episodes would be great resources for them. The short length of each of the segments means that teachers can use these to introduce topics and spark discussion as well.

Another place where Real Life 101 would be useful at Florida Virtual School is within our Student Advisement Center, "The Hub." This is a "one stop shop" for our FLVS students where career, college, scholarship, financial aid, advisement area, personal growth items, social skill building and other resources can be found. These episodes about career choices would be excellent resources for this student advisement area on our website. As students end middle school and start high school, it is so important to start thinking about their future and taking steps to prepare for this future. Many students think they can wait until high school ends before thinking about the real world, but we know that is not the case. It is more important than ever before to have a plan.

Our English II class uses a "dreams" motif throughout the modules and lessons, and we chose that motif because it is so appropriate for students at this age. They all have dreams and goals, but don't always know how to make those dreams come true. One of my personal goals for my students is they leave my class with a plan for getting started on their dreams. On the Real Life 101 website, there is an entire section devoted to volunteering and that is often the best place for young adults to begin. The young hosts of the show "...highly recommend volunteering and getting involved in service learning opportunities." Through volunteering, students gain insight and real-life experiences and makes them contributing members of society. Real Life 101 stresses the importance of getting involved.

I look forward to using Real Life 101 with my students more in the future.

Dear Ms. Yde:

As an experienced mental health counselor, whose entire career has been spent with the education and developmental needs of teenagers, I am pleased to endorse and recommend the program Real Life 101.

I have viewed Real Life 101 and believe that the program provides a provocative learning experience for teenagers. The program is straightforward contemporary resource for teenagers looking to learn about the myriad careers that are available to them if they apply themselves and set realistic goals for themselves. Unfortunately, too often our youth are not exposed or given information in high school about various career opportunities available to them and hence are too often set to fend for themselves to a less than optimum end. Real Life 101 helps to fill this void and I would recommend it to be available to the mass market. The program also has a web link available to follow up on the information presented to them that they can view at their leisure. This is a very positive aspect of the program.

The capsules are quick, crisp and informative with the presenters dressed in "Real Life" clothing. It is just one more excellent resource to help our youth.

Sincerely,

Diane Phillips, MS.

Diane Phillips is a retired master level mental health counselor. For 36 years she worked in schools, day treatment centers and juvenile delinquent centers. Her areas of expertise are drug abuse, sexual abuse and clients with suicidal ideation. She has been a spokesperson to the board and local community for a 50 year old mental health foundation and has been sought out for expert opinions for both the written and electronic media. She is proud of the opportunity to counsel the many students she has served and especially proud of the few success stories along the way.
