Mechanic to Millionaire: The Peter Cooper Story	Tues. 9:00 pm (7/28)	1:00	Highlights the life of philanthropist Peter Cooper (1791-1883) through his own words, interviews with historians and recreated scenes from his lifetime. A mechanical genius, Cooper's inventions and business acumen helped the United States grow from an agrarian society to an industrial power. He created edible gelatin, constructed the first American steam locomotive and fashioned the wrought-iron I beam for multi-storied construction, which enabled cities to grow vertically. Cooper saw wealth as a public trust and wanted to give back to the working people who helped build his fortune. He envisioned free education based on merit, and not race, gender, class or religion. A pioneer in adult education, he introduced the concept of night school, founded The Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art in 1859 and converted a bankrupt high school into a women's college for training teachers.

Inside Nature's Giants	Thurs. 7:00 pm Sun. 5:00 pm	1:00
Kissimmee Basin: The Northern Everglades	Tues. 10:00 pm (7/17)	1:00	Meet the "Keepers of the Land" and experience a "sense of place" in the vast open spaces in the cattle country of Florida's private and public lands. Throughout the centuries, the Everglades have inspired strong emotion and debate among soldiers and poets, politicians and citizens. Its history is as broad and sprawling as the "River of Grass" itself. Although many stories have been told about the Everglades - from drainage to restoration - few have been told about where it all begins: the Kissimmee River Basin. Restoration and protection of the natural values of this vast, watery landscape may well hold the key to restoration of the Greater Everglades ecosystem. The Kissimmee Basin: The Northern Everglades invites you to take a trip up the Kissimmee Valley back through time to discover the well-reasoned, yet unforeseen consequences of a flood control project that turned the 103-mile long meandering river full of life, into a 52-mile long, multi-million dollar over-engineered channel that drained the surrounding wetlands, caused the disappearance of large flocks of wading birds, and a significant decline of an abundant freshwater fishery.

When Learning Comes Naturally	Tues. 10:00 (7/7)	0:30	Documents innovative outdoor-education programs around the country created to help children understand and experience the wonders and joys of nature. The film explores the immediate and lasting benefits of introducing young children to "green" experiences. Natural spaces - in the form of gardens, small trails and outdoor "green adventure" areas - allow for the discoveries and choices vital to child development and learning. In addition, outdoor education can cultivate in children a permanent connection with the natural world - a crucial ethic of environmental responsibility.
Your Turn to Care	Mon. 7:00 pm (7/6 & 7/13)	0:30	Explores the challenges of, and offers solutions for, those caring for ailing or aging loved ones. Four half-hour episodes focus on the inspiring stories of families at important junctures in their caregiving journeys - from initiating the difficult discussion about health directives and wills, to navigating the complex and expensive world of assisted living facilities to transitioning into the "final chapter" of palliative care, hospice and letting go. Guides viewers into this often emotional and heart-wrenching passage of life, while sharing her own deeply personal caregiving experiences. The companion website, mobile application and social media components expands the series' content to offer additional resources and support, including opportunities for caregivers to connect to each other and to experts featured in the series.	Holly Robinson-Peete - Host

Prison Break: California Rethinks Criminal Justice	Wed. 9:30 pm (9/26)	0:30	Under pressure from the courts to improve inmate health care and reduce prison overcrowding, last October the administration of California Gov. Jerry Brown started transferring authority for thousands of low-level convicts to cities and counties. The goal is not merely to shift responsibilities from state institutions to counties but to drive broader changes that will lead to fewer people being locked up and offer billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Examines these unprecedented and far reaching efforts to overhaul California's criminal justice system in the run-up to the Fall elections. The story's central narrative follows a group of inmates as they're released from state prison and pass into the supervision of probation officers in counties in northern and southern California. As the lives of these people are intimately tracked, viewers will see in real time what their challenges and opportunities are and assess their chances for success under the new system. Through their stories, we'll also be able to examine the work of county agencies and the fiscal implementation of prison reform across the state.

World Peace and Other 4 th Grade Achievements	Tues. 9:00 pm (8/7)	1:00	Interweaves the story of a remarkable educator and the extraordinary game he developed to demonstrate the complexities of peace and global conflict. Teacher John Hunter's World Peace Game is a hands-on political simulation exercise in which students tackle real-world military, economic and environmental issues. The nine- and 10-year-olds divide into groups, including nation states, the World Bank, United Nations officials, indigenous peoples and even arms dealers. Then, they face daily challenges ranging from insurgencies and global warming to ethnic tensions and natural disasters. Working together, while also balancing the interests of their own "nations," they attempt to achieve global prosperity with the least amount of military intervention.

With one of the most diverse ethnic populations in the country balanced programming of current world affairs and politics are of high interest to the station's viewers.
