Golden Game: Baseball in Sacramento	Tues. 8:00 p.m. (7/8)	0:30	Nostalgically recounts Sacramento's 150-year baseball history: its early teams and ballparks, the players, important victories, unresolved controversies and unforgettable moments. Among other highlights, the film chronicles the Sacramento Solons' dramatic come-from-behind victory against rival Los Angeles for the 1942 Pacific Coast League series title, the mysterious fire at Edmonds Field (and why some believe the team set it), and the 2000 opening of Raley Field, home of the triple-A champion River Cats. Contemporary footage and archival stills from baseball's early days, along with comments from former players, game announcers, historians and fans, reveal the indelible impression baseball has left on Sacramento and the mark Sacramento has left on the game.

State of Surveillance	Tues. 10:30 p.m. (7/30)	0:30	Looks at some of the new technologies police departments in California are using and the privacy concerns they raise. California is one of ten states that guarantee a right to privacy and the new tools pose a significant challenge: Where to draw the line between safer streets and spying? The tools range from wide area surveillance to facial recognition technology, and they greatly expand the data that officers have at their fingertips. Some systems are already in use in Los Angeles and were hotly debated in Oakland before being delayed, for now. Law enforcement agencies say the new technologies make it easier to solve - and even prevent - crime. But privacy advocates worry that these systems could become dragnets, filled with information about law-abiding citizens.
