Against this backdrop, two American organizations stepped in to provide aid. Facing political corruption and the threat of failure, Project Medishare successfully set up clinics for the victims, and the Knights of Columbus ensured that prosthetics limbs would be made available for every young amputee. But this was only the beginning of the story. Amidst incredible odds, a small group of earthquake victims became emboldened to defy deeply entrenched Haitian stereotypes against people with disabilities. Team Zaryen was formed, an amputee soccer team that transformed victims into beacons of hope, creating real possibilities for those attempting to rebuild their lives -including U.S. soldiers returning from wars overseas. At times a searing analysis of the post-earthquake horrors and Haiti's turbulent history, and at times a poignant sports story about overcoming insurmountable odds,

Desegregation: A Dream Delayed	Tues. 10:00 p.m. (1/20)	1:00	Investigates the failure of school desegregation in East Baton Rouge Parish, Louisiana, the venue of the oldest federal desegregation lawsuit in United States history. The program explores how and why this failure occurred and leads viewers through to the case's recent conclusion. During 45 years of litigation, there was minimal progress in creating a school system that provided quality education to students regardless of their race. Contrary to its intentions, the U.S. Justice Department and the federal judiciary accomplished just the opposite. They had re-segregated a school system that fell far short of the goals and ideals rooted in the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 Brown decision and other subsequent high court rulings. DESEGREGATION: A DREAM DELAYED attempts to explain the complex and multi-layered reasons behind the long-delayed melding of races and cultures in public schools. This provocative documentary offers a better understanding of the process by which communities unify to provide quality education and social structure for its youth.

Ripple of Hope	Tues. 8:00 p.m. (1/20)	1:00	Captures an extraordinary and uplifting event against the backdrop of one of the most volatile and memorable Presidential campaigns in U.S. history. On April 4, 1968, Robert F. Kennedy - a contender for the Democratic nomination for President - was en route to Indianapolis to make a campaign stop in a predominantly African-American neighborhood. In Memphis, Tenn. that same night, gunman James Earl Ray shot and mortally wounded the leader of the civil rights movement, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Upon hearing the tragic news, Kennedy made a crucial decision: risking his own life and defying city officials, he ventured into the inner city and addressed the grief-stricken crowd gathered in a park. He stood atop a shaky, flat-bed truck and delivered one of the great political speeches of the 20th century: a moving, extemporaneous plea for peace and reconciliation. By keeping his promise to speak, Kennedy helped Indianapolis avert the violence that swept the rest of the country. Within weeks of this speech, on June 6, 1968, Kennedy also would fall victim to an assassin's bullet	Frank Mankiewicz - Kennedy press secretary

Bringing to light often overlooked and unknown facts about the system of segregation in Birmingham, Alabama, STAND! features the brave men and women who risked all to bring about its demise. STAND! dispels many myths that the Birmingham Civil Rights Movement was all Black, all Male, and led by ministers who rallied in 1963 and liberated a city.	Cleve Eaton Ramsey Lewis

Walter Williams: Suffer No Fools	Tues. 10:00 p.m. (2/10)	1:00	On the major social and political issues of our time, Walter Williams is one of America's most important and provocative thinkers. He is Black, yet he opposes affirmative action. He believes that the Civil Rights Act was a major error; the minimum wage actually creates unemployment, and occupational and business licensure and industry regulation work against minorities and others in American business. Tracing Walter Williams' rise from a child of the Philadelphia housing projects to become one of America's most important authors and commentators, Walter Williams: Suffer No Fools explores Williams' belief that "Black people cannot make great progress until they understand the economic system."
