Traffic Safety, Supply Chain	11/5/2022	3:00 AM	7:52	Federal regulators appear to be taking steps toward a speed limiter mandate for commercial motor vehicles in 2023. Mr. King discussed the potential safety concerns if trucks are forced to drive slower than other traffic, including a lack of passing speed, increased congestion, and being rear-ended. He said that a nationwide 60 or 65 mph limit for trucks would create even greater safety issues in the handful of states with speed limits as high as 85 mph for cars.	Andrew King, Research Analyst for the Owner-Operator Independent Drivers Association Foundation.
Education, Minority Concerns, Government Policies	11/12/2022	3:00 AM	9:41	Dr. Johnson led a study that found that students at high schools with prominent security measures, such as metal detectors, contraband sweeps, drug testing and security cameras, have lower math scores, are less likely to attend college and are suspended more frequently compared to students in schools with less surveillance. He said the policies even affect the academic performance of students who haven't exhibited behavioral problems.	Odin Johnson, Jr, PhD, Bloomberg Distinguished Professor of Social Policy and STEM Equity at John Hopkins University.
