Show # 2017-29

Date aired: _____ Time Aired: _____

Rachael Stickland, Co-Founder and Co-Chair of the Parent Coalition for Student Privacy

Schools and third-party vendors collect and share an astonishing amount of personal data on nearly every student in America. Ms. Stickland explained why parents should be concerned and what they can do about it. She believes laws protecting student privacy need to be strengthened.

Issues covered:
Parenting
Privacy Concerns
Education

Length: 8:56

Vijay R. Varma, PhD, researcher and post-doctoral fellow at the National Institute on Aging, part of the National Institutes of Health

Dr. Varma recently co-authored a study that found an alarming decrease in physical activity in youngsters at every age. 19 year olds now get as much exercise and activity as 60 year olds. Dr. Varma explained why this is a major problem. He offered suggestions of ways to encourage both younger and older Americans to become more physically active.

Issues covered:

Length: 8:02

Physical Fitness
Personal Health
Aging

Jim Hedlund, consultant for the Governors Highway Safety Association, former researcher for 22 years at the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

Mr. Hedlund conducted a study for the Governors Highway Safety Administration that found that for the first time, more drivers who were tested after fatal crashes had drugs in their system than had alcohol. He discussed the role that the increasing legalization of marijuana may play in this trend. He also explained why laws targeting drivers under the influence of alcohol cannot easily be amended to include drug users.

Issues covered:

Length: 5:09

Impaired Driving
Substance Abuse
Government Legislation

Show # 2017-30

Date aired: _____ Time Aired: _____

Bill Thornton, PhD, Professor of Psychology, University of Southern Maine

Dr. Thornton led a study that found that the mere presence of a smart phone, even if it is turned off, can make it difficult to perform complex tasks. He explained the likely reasons that a phone can be so distracting. He offered suggestions for parents who are concerned about phone usage affecting their child's schoolwork.

Issues covered:

Length: 7:27

Mental Health
Consumer Matters

Sharon Fowler, MPH, Adjunct Assistant Professor, University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio

Ms. Fowler was the co-author of a study that found that diet soda consumption leads to expanding waistlines. She found that older adults who drank two or more diet sodas a day had waist size increases that were six times greater than those of people who didn't drink diet soda. She discussed the possible physiological reasons and offered suggestions for those trying to control calories.

Show # 2017-32

Date aired: _____ Time Aired: _____

Benjamin H. Barton, Helen and Charles Lockett Distinguished Professor of Law at the University of Tennessee, author of "Rebooting Justice: More Technology, Fewer Lawyers, and the Future of Law"

Professor Barton discussed what he sees are longstanding problems in our judicial system. He said that laws are too complex and legal advice is far more expensive than necessary. He outlined a series of reforms which he believes would make the courts much fairer and more accessible for poor and middle-class Americans.

Issues covered:

Legal Reform
Poverty

Length: 8:31

Steve Casner, PhD, research psychologist, NASA scientist, author of "Careful: A User's Guide to Our Injury-Prone Minds"

Dr. Casner has devoted his career to studying the psychology of safety. He said after a hundred years of steady decline, the rate at which people are being injured or killed in everyday accidents, such as car crashes, pedestrian fatalities, home-improvement projects gone wrong, medical mistakes and home fires, is increasing. He explained why few of us are as careful as we think we are, and what we can do about it.

Issues covered:

Show # 2017-33

Date aired: _____ Time Aired: _____

Lea Waters, Ph.D., President-Elect of the International Positive Psychology Association, Gerry Higgins Chair in Positive Psychology at the University of Melbourne, Australia, author of "The Strength Switch: How the New Science of Strength-Based Parenting Can Help Your Child and Your Teen to Flourish"

Dr. Waters discussed strength-based parenting, which focuses on sincerely praising children's strengths rather than always trying to correct their weaknesses. She said her approach helps children recognize skills, talents and positive aspects of their personalities, and shows them how to make the most of those positive resources. She said the technique differs significantly from the "participation trophy" approach that was common in the past couple of generations of parenting.

Issues covered:

Parenting

Length: 10:01

Octavia H. Zahrt, doctoral candidate in health psychology at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business

Physical inactivity is estimated to account for 1 in 10 deaths worldwide, and 79% of U.S. adults do not meet recommended exercise guidelines. Ms. Zahrt co-authored a study that found that people who think they are less active than others in a similar age bracket die younger than those who believe they are more active – even if their actual activity levels are similar. She talked about the possible reasons behind this finding, and how a person’s mindset affects their overall health.

Issues covered:
Physical Fitness
Mental Health

Length: 6:56

Rachel Tolbert Kimbro, PhD, Professor of Sociology at Rice University

Prof. Kimbro co-authored a study that found that, in the wake of the Great Recession, more children than ever are living in low-income neighborhoods. She said white children were the group with the biggest increase. She explained why low-income living conditions are a negative influence on academic performance. She offered suggestions of how educators and legislators should attempt to deal with the issue.

Date aired: _____ Time Aired: _____

Scott Sampson, PhD, dinosaur paleontologist, science communicator, Vice President of Research and Collections at the Denver Museum of Nature & Science, host of the PBS Kids’ television series, Dinosaur Train, author of How to Raise a Wild Child: The Art and Science of Falling in Love with Nature

Today’s American children spend 4 to 7 minutes a day playing outdoors. Dr. Sampson explained why this disconnect between kids and nature is a problem that should concern parents. He offered tips for parents to help kids fall in love with nature, by enlisting technology as an ally and encouraging outdoor activities like the Boy Scouts and Girls Scouts.

Issues covered:
Parenting
Environment

Length: 10:15

David Ernst, PhD, Chief Information Officer at the University of Minnesota’s College of Education and Human Development, creator of the Open Textbook Library

The cost of college textbooks has skyrocketed in recent years, but a new trend of free or low-cost “open source” textbooks is gaining momentum. Dr. Ernst said college students could save an average of $128 a course if traditional textbooks were replaced with the new electronic versions. He explained why this new generation of textbooks is often of equal academic value compared to traditional printed textbooks.

Issues covered:
Education
Consumer Matters

Length: 6:57

Linda Gordon Howard, attorney, author of "The Sexual Harassment Handbook"

Ms. Howard talked about progress in the battle against sexual harassment. She discussed how sexually inappropriate behavior in the workplace has evolved since attention was first focused on it. She believes many situations involving sexual harassment can be prevented or resolved if victims recognize what's happening and know what to do.

Campaign: Foster Care

Details:

A child needs you; open your home and heart to a Michigan child in foster care.

Every child deserves a place to call home. At any given time some 13,000 Michigan children are in the state's foster care system. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) is seeking special families who are willing to open their hearts and homes to a child.

"For too many children in Michigan a home and family to call their own is just a dream," said MDHHS Director Nick Lyon. "In most instances we view foster care as a temporary solution to keep children protected and cared for until they can be safely returned to their families."

Follow these five steps to become a foster parent:

1. Call a Foster Care Navigator at 855-MICHKIDS.
2. Attend an orientation.
3. Complete an application.
4. Participate in a home evaluation.
5. Attend a free training.

"Becoming a foster parent to a child in need is life changing for both," said Lyon. "Consider becoming a foster parent today and fulfill a child's hope for a home."

May, 2016 is Foster Care Month in Michigan!

For Immediate Release: May 5, 2016

LANSING, Mich. – Approximately 13,000 Michigan children need loving foster homes while the state works to reunite them safely with their parents or find adoptive homes.

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services in May is highlighting the crucial role that foster families provide in protecting children who were abused or neglected. Gov. Rick Snyder proclaimed May as Foster Care Month.

Michigan has close to 6,000 licensed foster homes, plus 2,800 children live in unlicensed relative homes.

"Our foster parents have great patience, compassion and skill," said Steve Yager, executive director of the MDHHS Children's Services Agency. "These selfless individuals keep children safe and care for their needs during difficult times while we work to find them permanent homes – either through reunification with their families if that's safe or finding adoptive parents. Every day I appreciate what foster families do to support children in need, but it's fitting that we have a month to recognize their efforts."

The Foster Care Navigator program, which partners with MDHHS in recruiting and retaining foster families, is featuring some of the many outstanding foster parents and kinship caregivers all month on its website at fcnp.org

Yager said May is also a good time to recognize adoptive families, employees of state and private agencies, the courts and community and faith-based organizations for the support they provide to children in foster care and to their biological and foster families.

Anyone who is considering becoming a foster parent can call Foster Care Navigator at 855-MICHKIDS. Navigators are experienced foster care parents who can answer questions and guide prospective foster parents on their journey. Learn more at www.michigan.gov/hopeforahome or by texting MDHHS FOSTER to 64468 to receive updates about fostering.

(male) I thought, "I can't be a foster parent...":

(fem) * I don't make enough money--

(fem) * My house isn't big enough-

(male) * You have to be married--

(Both?) But I was wrong.

(fem) I can provide a loving home for a child, while the parents sort things out.

One phone call can raise hope and foster dreams.

Called 855..M-I-C-H...KIDS and ask a foster parent navigator, how you change a child's life--and yours-- forever.

This message sponsored by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and the Michigan Association of Broadcasters.

Single voice radio:

Have you considered becoming a Foster Parent...
but then figured you don't make enough money,
OR your house isn't big enough,
OR that you have to be married.

Well that's not true.

You CAN help foster dreams, and raise hope.

You CAN provide a loving home for a child while the parents sort things out.

Call 8-5-5 M-I-C-H KIDS and speak to a foster parent navigator.

They'll answer your questions and get you started.

One phone call can change a child's life and yours forever.

In the last six weeks, the American Red Cross has launched a wide-ranging relief effort to help people devastated by three historic, back-to-back hurricanes—Harvey, Irma, and Maria. And now, the Red Cross is helping families affected by a fourth hurricane, Nate, which made landfall in Mississippi Saturday. The Red Cross is on the ground, part of a large team of agencies and organizations responding to provide help to communities turned upside down by these storms.

Overall Response Efforts

- In the last six weeks, the Red Cross, along with community and government partners, has provided more than 1.2 million (1,267,000) overnight stays in emergency shelters. Shelters were opened in 8 states, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. This includes—

For Harvey, 428,161 overnight shelter stays in Texas and Louisiana.

For Irma, more than 647,000 overnight shelter stays across six states, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

For Maria, more than 191,000 overnight stays in primarily government shelters across Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

- The Red Cross has served more than 6.4 million (6,408,000) meals and snacks, and provided more than 2.9 million (2,997,000) relief items to people in need.
- Red Cross volunteers have provided more than 177,200 mental health and health services to support and care for those affected.
- A total of more than 16,000 trained disaster workers, 91 percent of them volunteers, have been mobilized to support hurricane relief efforts. Many of these workers have supported multiple relief operations or deployed multiple times. In addition, nearly 6,000 spontaneous local volunteers have worked alongside the Red Cross in Texas and Florida.
- More than 100 Red Cross workers from around the world deployed to the United States to help with hurricane relief efforts.
- Right now, more than 2,600 Red Cross disaster workers and almost 250 emergency response vehicles are on the ground, helping thousands of people affected by these storms.

About the American Red Cross:

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission.
