The resurgence of swing dance is bringing all ages to the dance floor. In San Antonio, gals in flouncy dresses and guys in wingtips hit the dance floor on the first Friday of every month at Trinity University's Skyline Lounge. The joint is jumpin' with dance moves and music right out of the 1940's!

San Antonio's beautiful Riverwalk boasts more than gorgeous landscaping and winding sidewalks. It's also home to a variety of unique public art. Artists have added life to the Riverwalk with mosaic tile creations, shimmering fish that fly, waterfall grottos and much more. Donna Parker takes a look at some of the imaginative works that delight both tourists and natives along the San Antonio Riverwalk.

The Surround Project is an innovative new theatre group in San Antonio, which focuses on creating new communities around the themes seen on stage. It's surrounding the play with context: meaning the actors, producers and the audience are provided multiple access points. Donna Parker sneaks a peek at the first production, a dramatic thriller based on a real-life soldier accused of committing war crimes in Iraq.

Participants and their affiliations, titles: Eva Laporte, founder and producer of The Surround Project

Zach Lewis, actor and co-founder of The Surround Project

The Other Side of Eagle Ford Shale—a new exhibition at the Institute of Texan Cultures-- takes a look at the staggering 60 billion dollar impact that this oil and gas project had on South Texas. Housing prices soared, infrastructure struggled to keep up with an increasing population and because basic needs weren't being met, luxuries like the arts took a back seat to progress. What happens when big money comes to an area not equipped to handle it, but where people still want to enjoy all life has to offer, including access to the arts?

Participants and their affiliations, titles:

DR. HARRIETT ROMO, PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY, THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

JOSE LOPEZ, RETIRED, CRYSTAL CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY

TREVOR SHORTS, architecture student, UTSA
