

WUKY (FM) University of Kentucky

Issues/Program List: 2nd Quarter 2022

(April, May, June 2022)

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining directly and relatedly to the COVID-19 Global Pandemic which will impact the health, quality of life, healthcare and potentially health care costs of Lexingtonians.

Program	Date	Time	Description of the program/Segment
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 4, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	The University of Kentucky said a weekly testing requirement for students and employees who are vaccinated against the coronavirus is ending. WUKY's Karyn Czar reports.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 8, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	With new coronavirus cases at a low ebb, Kentucky's top health official says questions surrounding masks and boosters become a little more nuanced.
Who We Lost KY	April 16, 2022	9:40-9:44am	Who We Lost returns with a reading by Martha Greenwald from the pen of Tonya Bailey of Bath County in remembrance of Ed McDaniel. These are two poems written months apart that succinctly sum up feelings that won't go away. We post them in honor of National Poetry Month.
Who We Lost KY	April 30, 2022	9:40-9:44am	WUKY is collaborating with Martha Greenwald, creator and curator of 'Who We Lost KY' a writing project where friends and families who have lost loved ones to the pandemic pay tribute and in some cases, say their final goodbyes. Today we hear from Dorothy Wiemers of Scott County, who writes about her late husband Michael Wiemers.
WUKY's Morning Edition	May 2, 2020	8:44-8:49am	Kentucky Sen. Rand Paul is promising to launch an investigation into the origins of COVID-19 if he takes over a health, education, labor and pensions committee next year.
Who We Lost KY	May 3, 2020	9:40-9:44am	This week, in honor of Mother's Day, we hear from Shane Terry of Letcher County, who wrote and recorded this touching tribute to his mother, LaVern Terry. Special thanks to WMMT Radio in Whitesburg, Kentucky.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 10, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	COVID-19 positivity rates in Kentucky have edged up around 5 percent over the last month, and the CDC shows Fayette County trending even higher than the state average. New COVID-19 cases topped triple digits in Lexington on Friday, marking the city's first day over 100 in more than two months.

WUKY's All Things Considered	May 19, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Kentucky's COVID positivity rate is climbing again, but officials remain cautiously hopeful this isn't a repeat of the first Omicron surge. Gov. Andy Beshear says it's fair to say Kentucky has no longer "leveled off" when it comes to new COVID-19 cases, but is instead seeing an escalation. But new variables are keeping hospitalizations and ICU usage in check.
Who We Lost KY	May 20, 2022	9:40-9:44am	In this edition of 'Who We Lost KY' we hear an essay from Diane Hawkins from Jefferson County about her Aunt Joyce Bugg. Gary Graves reads.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 23, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Kentucky's COVID-19 positivity rate is on the rise, continuing a weeks-long upward trend, but there's still good news tucked in this week's new numbers.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	June 1, 2022	8:44-8:49am 5:50-5:58pm	Sahar Alameh, Ph.D., is on a mission. She wants to prevent today's middle and high school students from facing a common regret in adulthood; wishing they had paid more attention in school. She is using research around the current pandemic as a teaching tool. She talks about her methods on this week's edition of Dr. Greg Davis on medicine.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 1, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	COVID-19 infections during pregnancy, even those that go unnoticed, could lead to possible adverse long-term effects for a developing baby — that's according to new research out of the University of Kentucky.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 3, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Masks are now optional on campus at the University of Kentucky. The same goes for the use of Plexiglas to guard against the spread of COVID-19.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	June 15, 2022	8:44-8:49am 5:50-5:58pm	Vaneet Arora, Associate Director - Clinical Microbiology in the UK College of Medicine shares the latest info on COVID-19 and the rise of a new virus-related health threat: monkeypox. He's the guest this week on Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 16, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	A new nationwide COVID-19 scorecard looking at all 50 states and the District of Columbia ranks Kentucky's overall response near the bottom.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 29, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Following the lead of UK Healthcare, the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine is now available for the children ages six months to five years, at the Lexington-Fayette County Health Department. Karyn Czar reports.

Description of the issue: The lead up to and the repercussions of the Supreme Court’s overturning of Roe versus Wade – the federal case that guaranteed a woman’s right to abortion. The high court’s decision to send the matter back to the states triggered a law passed by the General Assembly in 2019 that outlawed virtually all abortions in Kentucky. That development sparked protest among pro-choice advocates and lawsuits by Planned Parenthood and the ACLU of Kentucky.

WUKY’s All Things Considered	April 15, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	With new wide-ranging anti-abortion rights bill granted final passage Wednesday, abortion access stopped in the state as providers said they couldn't immediately satisfy all the new restrictions.
WUKY’s All Things Considered	April 20, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Kentucky’s attorney general is arguing enforcement of a sweeping new anti-abortion rights bill need not be put on hold. But abortion providers say they can’t immediately comply with the list of new requirements.
WUKY’s All Things Considered	April 22, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	With Kentucky’s new wide-reaching abortion law now put on hold by a federal judge, an attorney representing one of the state’s two remaining abortion providers says the clinics can begin offering the procedure again. But the ruling merely puts providers in a holding pattern while the matter is litigated.
WUKY’s All Things Considered	April 26, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Abortion services at Kentucky's two remaining providers in Louisville resumed on April 22, following a federal judge's temporary order stopping recently passed reforms from taking effect. But women seeking abortions after 15 weeks are still without access.
WUKY’s Morning Edition	May 3, 2022	7:44-7:49am	A leaked draft of a U.S. Supreme Court signaling the court may be prepared to overturn Roe vs. Wade has sent shockwaves through the country — including Kentucky, where state laws would make the commonwealth among the first to be affected if the ruling is handed down.

WUKY's All Things Considered	May 20, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	A federal judge is keeping a temporary order blocking new abortion restrictions from taking effect in Kentucky in place, meaning the state's two remaining abortion providers can keep their doors open — for now.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 15, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Kentucky's Republican attorney general went to court Tuesday claiming the Democratic governor's administration missed a deadline to set up a regulatory process for a sweeping new abortion law currently blocked by a federal court order.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 24, 2022	5:50-5:58pm	While the U.S. Supreme Court ruling reversing course on abortion rights sent shockwaves across the country, Kentucky lawmakers, and abortion rights advocates, have long anticipated the day.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 24, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Kentucky is one of more than a dozen states with what are known as "trigger laws," meant to automatically institute abortion bans in the event Roe is overturned. Now that the court has done just that, Samuel Crankshaw with the ACLU says his group is recommending the state's abortion providers halt the procedures.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 27, 2022	5:44-5:48pm	Kentucky's new abortion ban is being challenged by abortion-rights supporters. They filed a lawsuit Monday arguing that women are being "forced to remain pregnant against their will" in violation of the state's constitution. Karyn Czar reports.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 30, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	A judge cleared the way Thursday for abortions to resume in Kentucky, temporarily blocking the state's near-total ban on the procedure that was triggered by the Supreme Court ruling that overturned Roe v. Wade.

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining to major legislation passed in the final days of the 2022 Kentucky General Assembly's sixty-day session; the vetoes issued by Democrat Governor Andy Beshear, and the subsequent overrides by the GOP-dominated Legislature.

Program	Date	Time	Description of the program/Segment
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 7, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear has vetoed a bill that would bar transgender girls and women from participating in school sports matching their gender identity from sixth grade through college. On Wednesday he also vetoed a bill that would shift key school governance decisions to superintendents and away from school-based decision-making councils. A bill aimed at introducing charter schools in Kentucky and supplying them with funding has been vetoed by Gov. Andy Beshear. He said Thursday the bill would have diverted money from traditional public schools.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 7, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Bills legalizing medical marijuana have so far stumbled near the finish line due to opposition in the Kentucky Senate. But the chamber's president maintains there are ways the state's largest university could help it gather momentum in a future session.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 8, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Gov. Andy Beshear has vetoed a bill with sweeping new abortion restrictions, including provisions modeled after a Mississippi bill currently before the U.S. Supreme Court.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 11, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Gov. Andy Beshear says the budget approved by the General Assembly contains lots of good investments, but misses the mark on teacher pay, universal pre-K, and raises for lawmakers.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 13, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	The Republican-dominated legislature blew through Gov. Andy Beshear's vetoes on day 59 of the 60-day session, reviving a number of hotly-contested measures.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 15, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	The final 24 hours of the 2022 Kentucky General Assembly saw lawmakers punt on sports betting, clean up language that could have backfired in a major education bill, and revive a measure that will affect libraries across the state.

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining to the lead-up and execution of Kentucky's primary election.

WUKY's Morning Edition	April 26, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Lexington's crime rate is emerging as an early issue in the city's mayoral contest. The contours of the debate are already taking shape as Mayor Linda Gorton defends her record.
WUKY's Morning Edition	May 3, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Tomorrow is the last day to apply online for an absentee ballot in the 2022 primary.
WUKY's Morning Edition	May 9, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Early voting gets underway Thursday in Kentucky and next Tuesday the lion's share of Republicans and Democrats will go to the polls to select their candidates for the general election in the fall. This week on Capitol Chat the Kentucky Gazette's Laura Cullen Glasscock shines the spotlight on what she says is one of the most expensive primary races for a seat in the Kentucky Senate; pitting an establishment candidate against a maverick outsider. We follow the money being raised and spent in the race between incumbent Donald Douglas and business owner Andrew Cooperrider.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 9, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	With primary elections just around the corner in Kentucky, it's typically time for a voter turnout prediction from the state's top election official. But judging how many voters will cast a ballot isn't quite as simple as it used to be.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 10, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Voters got one last chance to hear from candidates vying for Lexington mayoral seat, ahead of the upcoming primary election. As WUKY's Karyn Czar reports, the issues of violent crime and affordable housing dominated the conversation.
WUKY's Morning Edition	May 16, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Kentucky Secretary of State Michael Adams had put his office's turnout guess at around 23%, but even that number may be too optimistic.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 16, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Long-time Fayette County Attorney Larry Roberts is facing his first challenger since taking the office in 2006. His opponent, former councilwoman Angela Evans, is casting herself as the more forward-looking candidate.

WUKY's Live Special Coverage of Election 2022	May 17, 2022	6p-9p	WUKY News presented live special coverage of the May 17 th Kentucky primary with up to the minute results and analysis.
---	--------------	-------	--

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining to the documentation and improvement of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion in Lexington and Central Kentucky; including but not limited to the Juneteenth holiday, Pride Month, and other related issues.

WUKY's Morning Edition and All Things Considered	April 15, 2022	7:44-7:49am and 5:44-5:49pm	This week marks the 75th anniversary of Jackie Robinson breaking the color barrier in major league baseball. Former Kentucky Congressman Ben Chandler's grandfather, A.B. "Happy" Chandler was MLB commissioner in 1947 when Jackie traded a Negro Leagues jersey for a Brooklyn Dodgers uniform and changed sports history forever. In 2016, right about the time Ken Burns released his documentary on Jackie, WUKY's Alan Lytle sat down with Ben to talk about and hear the historic tale from Happy himself; audio courtesy of the Louie B. Nunn Center for Oral History in the UK Libraries.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 15, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Lexington residents with low-level criminal offenses will soon have a chance to receive help getting their records wiped clean, while exploring housing and job opportunities.
WUKY's Morning Edition and All Things Considered	April 16, 2022	8:44-8:49am and 4:44-4:49pm	Friends of the late writer and feminist icon bell hooks gathered for a memorial on Thursday.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	April 19, 2022	8:44-49am and 5:44-5:49pm	A study from the College of Social Work at University of Kentucky showed Black survivors of intimate partner violence receive significantly less workplace support than their White counterparts. Dr. Greg talks with study co-author Kathryn Showalter, PhD, of the University of Kentucky College of Social Work.

WUKY's Morning Edition and All Things Considered	May 11, 2022	8:44-8:49am and 4:44-4:49pm	A traveling exhibit at Transylvania University offers the chance to take part in an ambitious health research initiative with a focus on diversity.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 20, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Kentucky's 2022 Teacher of Year testified before a U.S. House subcommittee Thursday, warning that LGBTQ students and teachers feel under attack as states move to restrict discussion of highly-charged issues in classrooms.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 10, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Community organizers are presenting a variety of events in celebration of Juneteenth. Flags and banners through downtown will be joined by businesses lighting up their buildings to support and raise awareness around the holiday.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 15, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	New York Times bestselling author, Berea College professor, and WUKY's own Silas House has been awarded one of the most prestigious prizes an LGBTQ writer in the U.S can receive.
WUKY's Morning Edition and All Things Considered	June 17, 2022	7:44-7:49am and 5:44-5:49pm	We are heading into Juneteenth weekend – a holiday where we observe the official emancipation of African American slaves at the end of the Civil War, and in this segment of WUKY's Award Winning History series, Saving Stories, Doug Boyd from the Louie B. Nunn Center for Oral History in the UK Libraries highlights an interview with long-time racial and social justice activist Jim Embry. Embry explains how the roots of his activism stretch all the way back to Juneteenth.
WUKY's Morning Edition	June 21, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Lexington is embarking on a project to digitize the historical property records containing information about enslaved people in the commonwealth from the late 1700s through 1865.
WUKY's Morning Edition and All Things Considered	June 23, 2022	7:44-7:49am and 5:44-5:49pm	Today marks the 50th anniversary of the federal civil rights law known as Title IX which changed the game for women's college athletics. Back in the spring of 2021, as part of our salute to Women's History Month, WUKY's Award Winning History program, Saving Stories, featured an interview with Sue Feamster, the UK women's basketball team's first varsity coach. We're revisiting that segment with Dr. Doug Boyd from the Louie B. Nunn Center for Oral History in the UK Libraries.
WUKY's Morning Edition and All Things Considered	June 30, 2022	7:44-7:49am and 5:44-5:49pm	It's Pride Month and WUKY's award winning history segment Saving Stories marks the milestone with a look back at the brief but impactful run of Cafe LMNOP; a popular nightspot which was located near the UK

Considered			campus. Doug Boyd with the Nunn Center for Oral History in the UK Libraries shares an interview with the club's brainchild Bradley Pickelsimer.
------------	--	--	---

Description of the issue: The lead up and the successful passage of the first bi-partisan gun safety bill in Congress in decades, including Kentucky's reaction.

WUKY's All Things Considered	May 25, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Tuesday's deadly attack on Robb Elementary School in Uvalde, Texas is sparking outrage and reigniting the political debate over gun control. So far the news is being received by Kentucky leaders with familiar refrains.
WUKY's Morning Edition	May 26, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	A University of Kentucky psychology professor says it's important to keep kids on a normal schedule and monitor their access to media following events like the school shooting in Uvalde, Texas this week.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 13, 2022	5:44-5:48pm	Hundreds rallied in Louisville on Saturday as part of a nationwide push for action to prevent gun violence, as a fragile bipartisan gun safety deal took shape in Washington.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 15, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell has announced his tentative support for his chamber's emerging bipartisan gun agreement.
WUKY's Morning Edition	June 22, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Sen. Rand Paul is pledging to introduce amendments to the historic bipartisan gun safety deal in the works on Capitol Hill.

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining to Lexington city government – The Mayor and Urban County Council's major challenges and opportunities to move the community forward toward growth and prosperity for all its citizens.

WUKY's Morning Edition	April 8, 2022	7:44-7:49am	After a $4.2M upgrade Mayor Linda Gorton says the city will again accept all manner of paper recycling. Karyn Czar was there for the big announcement
------------------------	---------------	-------------	--

WUKY's All Things Considered	April 15, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Lexington residents with low-level criminal offenses will soon have a chance to receive help getting their records wiped clean, while exploring housing and job opportunities.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 18, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Lexington police are already reporting success stories in tracking down offenders using new cameras tracking license plates, but there has been pushback against the department's decision not to release information about camera locations.
WUKY's All Things Considered	April 19, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Lexington Mayor Linda Gorton says the city enjoys an exceptionally roomy general fund of around $460 million, thanks in part to one-time state and federal pandemic relief. And she laid out her vision for how to spend it Tuesday.
WUKY's All Things Considered	May 19, 2022	5:44-5:49pm	Lexington's six city pools are preparing to reopen with regular hours for the first time in three years, and they're getting upgrades paid for by federal pandemic relief dollars.
WUKY's Morning Edition	May 27, 2022	7:44-7:49am	Lexington is poised to purchase 30 acres along the Kentucky River for a new park, which will grant the county public access to the river.
WUKY's All Things Considered	June 14, 2022	4:44-4:49pm	Lexington's Urban County Council is pressing forward with a budget that capitalizes on federal pandemic relief dollars and a re-energized economy, but some on the council worry the spending plan overshoots the mark.