

WUKY (FM) University of Kentucky

Issues/Program List: 4th Quarter 2021

(Oct., Nov., Dec. 2021)

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining directly and relatedly to the COVID-19 Global Pandemic which will impact the health, quality of life, healthcare and potentially health care costs of Lexingtonians.

Program	Date	Time	Description of the program/Segment
WUKY's Weekend Edition	October 9, 2021	8:40-8:45am	WUKY is collaborating with Martha Greenwald, creator and curator of 'Who We Lost KY' a writing project where friends and families who have lost loved ones to the pandemic pay tribute and in some cases, say their final goodbyes. Today we hear from Jamey Hill Temple of McLean County who has this fond remembrance of her grandmother June Hill.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	October 13, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:44-5:49pm	You'd be surprised by how many people shortchange themselves when it comes to getting a good night's sleep. This week on Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine we hear from Dr. Lauren Whitehurst, an assistant professor of psychology from the College of Arts and Sciences , on how sleep is tied to our emotions and how depriving ourselves of it opens the door to a myriad of health problems. Conditions particularly acute as we continue to cope with the COVID-19 pandemic.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	October 20, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:44-5:49pm	This week on Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine we talk with Dr. Navin Rajagopalan, medical director of the UK Gill Heart Affiliate Network which now comprises 18 affiliate hospitals across the Commonwealth, from Pike County to McCracken County. The network allows the Gill Heart & Vascular Institute to work closely with regional hospitals to provide the highest quality of cardiovascular care wherever the patient might live in the commonwealth; a welcome situation given the increased isolation during the COVID-19 pandemic.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	October 27, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:50-5:58pm	This week on Dr. Greg Davis we talk with Beth Hawse , a pediatrician in Lexington, about the imminent FDA approval of COVID-19 vaccines for children aged 5 to 11, and how parents can help navigate the decision to inoculate their kids against the virus.
WUKY's Weekend Edition	October 31, 2021	8:40-8:45am	WUKY is collaborating with Martha Greenwald, creator and curator of 'Who We Lost KY' a writing project where friends and families who have lost loved ones to the pandemic pay tribute and in some cases, say their final goodbyes. Today we have an essay written by Darlene Haponik of Pulaski County about John, her husband of 37 years. The reader is Donna Jo Thorndale.

Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	November 3, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:50-5:58pm	The COVID-19 pandemic has made caring for an older loved one an even more daunting task. On Friday, Nov. 5, UK HR will host its sixth annual Senior Caregiving Conference. WUKY's Dr. Greg Davis gets a preview of this year's virtual event from UK elder care specialist Terri Weber.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	November 10, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:44-5:49pm	Dr. Greg talks with Ellen Swanson, professor of mathematics at Centre College and her seven year old son Peter, who received his COVID-19 vaccine the first day it became available to children 5-11 in Kentucky.
WUKY's Weekend Edition	November 14, 2021	8:40-8:45am	WUKY is collaborating with Martha Greenwald, creator and curator of ' Who We Lost KY ' a writing project where friends and families who have lost loved ones to the pandemic pay tribute and in some cases, say their final goodbyes. Today we have an essay written by Tamela Biggs of Franklin County about her father Noel Biggs. The essay is titled A Life Well Lived. Suzanne Powell reads.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	November 17, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:50-5:58pm	The program is set and registration is open for the 11th annual Sanders-Brown Markesbery Symposium on Aging and Dementia . Dr. Greg gets a preview of the COVID affected virtual event from clinical core director Greg Jicha.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	November 24, 2021	8:44-8:49am 4:50-4:58pm	From routine disruption to social isolation — the COVID-19 pandemic continues to impact children in various ways. This week on Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine Michelle Martel , a psychology professor in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Kentucky , shares her expertise and offers tips for helping your child cope with COVID anxiety.
Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	December 1, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:50-5:58pm	The COVID-19 crisis has caused the majority of health care providers to rapidly deploy telehealth initiatives to prevent disruption in care. Joneen Lowman, Ph.D., associate professor in communication sciences and disorders in the University of Kentucky College of Health Sciences , launched the first telehealth graduate certificate in Kentucky and shares her advice on the importance of telehealth training for all medical professionals on this week's Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine.
WUKY's Weekend Edition	December 4, 2021	8:40-8:45am	WUKY is collaborating with Martha Greenwald, creator and curator of ' Who We Lost KY ' a writing project where friends and families who have lost loved ones to the pandemic pay tribute and in some cases, say their final goodbyes. Today's essay is written by Michael Collins, and is part of The Who We Lost Project's collaboration with reporting students at Western Kentucky University. Tom Powell reads.

Dr. Greg Davis on Medicine	December 15, 2021	8:44-8:49am 5:44-5:49pm	The Netflix film, I Care A Lot , is a disturbingly dark comedy based on real-life events, showing the exploitation and abuse of seniors. This week Dr. Greg talks with Local attorney Amy Dougherty, who has a practice focused on elder law. She says the COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated some guardianship cases of late.
----------------------------	-------------------	----------------------------	---

Description of the issue: Matters pertaining to the COVID 19 Global Pandemic which will impact the local economy and financial well-being of Lexingtonians as it applies to tourism, the local job market, opportunities for advancement and expansion of the local tax base.

Program	Date	Time	Description of the program/Segment
WUKY's All Things Considered	October 1, 2021	5:44-5:49pm	Lexington city leaders are beginning the process of narrowing down community recommendations for how to spend $120 million in federal pandemic relief dollars. The Urban County Council has the task of whittling down hundreds of proposals from members of the public – ranging from an East End affordable housing project to an injection of $1 million into the city's tourism efforts.
WUKY's Morning Edition	October 11, 2021	7:44-7:49am	Ford Motor Co. and Korea-based SK Innovation announced the single largest economic development project in the history of the commonwealth last month celebrating a transformative $5.8 billion investment that will create 5,000 jobs and places Kentucky at the forefront of the automotive industry's future. This week on the Business Side we talk with Lane Report executive editor Mark Green who attended the rollout ceremony on the steps of the State Capitol in Frankfort.
WUKY's Morning Edition	October 18, 2021	7:44-7:49am	This week on the Business Side we talk with Business Lexington editor Tom Wilmes about the announcement of a new soccer team coming to Lexington, a recent sit-down interview with Keeneland CEO Shannon Arvin, and the successful repurposing of the Cinemark Movies 10 building by local production company Wrigley Media.
WUKY's Morning Edition	October 25, 2021	7:44-7:49am	Business Lexington editor Tom Wilmes returns to talk about several additions and closures of food and beverage establishments in and around Lexington. Some of the closures are tied directly to the ongoing challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic.

WUKY's Morning Edition & All Things Considered	November 7, 2021	8:44a-8:49a & 5:44-5:49p	Friday, December 10th marks the mid-point of Governor Andy Beshear's administration. During our 'One-On-One' interview, Beshear talks about the ongoing pandemic, economic growth, jobs, working across party lines, equity, and the challenges and successes he sees in Kentucky's future.
WUKY's All Things Considered	November 19, 2021	5:44-5:49pm	WUKY's Karyn Czar talks One on One with Lisa Meek, co-chair of the group Friends of the Kentucky Theatre, which will be tasked with reopening the historic venue that has been shuttered since the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. She talks about an important fundraising event surrounding that effort.
WUKY's Morning Edition & All Things Considered	December 10, 2021	8:44a-8:49a & 5:44-5:49p	As the University of Kentucky closes out another semester and continues to navigate through a global pandemic, Karyn Czar goes one-on-one with the man at the helm of the university, Dr. Eli Capilouto.

Description of the issue: State, Local and Federal Response to the Historic Tornadoes that struck parts of Western Kentucky; resulting in 77 deaths, hundreds of injuries and untold financial damage.) in addition to daily reportage

WUKY's Weekend Edition	December 11, 2021	8:44-8:49am	A deadly night and morning for parts of the Commonwealth. Gov. Beshear says the death toll is at least 50 people after tornadoes touched down in the state, particularly in western Kentucky.
WUKY's Morning Edition	December 14, 2021	8:44-8:49am	UK Athletics reports that more than $3 million was generated (with matching funds) during the "Kentucky United for Tornado Relief" telethon Tuesday, with all proceeds going to the American Red Cross to benefit victims of the tornadoes that devastated much of Western Kentucky last week.
WUKY 1 On 1	December 14, 2021	5:50-5:58pm	WUKY's Karyn Czar speaks one on one with Kentucky Transportation Secretary Jim Gray about the state's relief efforts in storm-ravaged Western Kentucky.
WUKY's All Things Considered	December 14, 2021	4:44-4:49pm	The ferocity of Friday night's deadly tornadoes in western Kentucky is evident to anyone who sees the aftermath. The National Weather Service is trying to determine just how strong they were.

WUKY's All Things Considered	December 15, 2021	5:44-5:49pm	Those looking to donate toys, coats, or other supplies to Western Kentucky tornado victims can do so through the Fayette County Sheriff's Office.
WUKY's All Things Considered	December 15, 2021	4:44-4:49pm	President Biden toured areas of western Kentucky damaged by a series of powerful tornadoes on Dec. 10 and 11. The president promised the federal government would be there to help people.
WUKY's Morning Edition	December 17, 2021	8:44-8:49 am	As the cleanup from devastating tornadoes continues in Kentucky, the hard-hit Latino community in the city of Mayfield is facing significant challenges in their recovery.
WUKY's All Things Considered	December 17, 2021	5:44-5:49pm	Kentucky first lady Britainy Beshear says the western Kentucky toy drive has collected at least 70,000 toys so far for families impacted by last week's tornadoes.
WUKY's Morning Edition	December 20, 2021	8:44-8:49am	The Kentucky men's basketball team will host Western Kentucky on Wednesday at 6 p.m. at Rupp Arena in place of the originally scheduled rivalry game vs. Louisville. UK athletics is working on a tornado relief fundraising component for the contest.
WUKY's All Things Considered	December 23, 2021	5:44-5:49pm	Holiday gift donations have poured in from across the country for children who survived the tornadoes in western Kentucky.