Afternoon Show: Julianne Hough Talks About Troubling Past in Magazine

Coverage:

Thursday All American Morning News with Eric Scott 1/3/2013 (Courtesy TheBoot.com) Good Morning! Singer and actress Julianne Hough's road to fame certainly didn't start pretty. In next month's Cosmopolitan cover story, Julianne opens up about her painful past, sharing that at 10 years old, she was abused while studying dance in London. "I was abused mentally, physically, everything," the now-24-year-old star tells the magazine. Julianne quickly realized the Italia Conti Academy of Arts was a far cry from her life in Utah with her Mormon-practicing family. At the dance school, she says that adults made her act and dress more provocatively. -Eric Scott

Mid Day Show: Old Dylan Tune Gets Darius All Excited!!!

Coverage:

Darius Rucker is among the latest of many music artists to discover and want to record the song, Wagon Wheel. Actually, this song is a completed version of an unfinished song written by Bob Dylan. Featured in the Sam Peckinpah's western, Pat Garrett & Billy the Kid, Dylan not only got to write the musical score for this film, he also lands an acting role in the film as the character, Alias. Dylan's unfinished refrain, referred to as "Rock Me Mama", was later added to by Ketch Secor of Old Crow Medicine Show and was released as the title, Wagon Wheel in 2004. Darius never heard the song until his daughter's high school talent show featured the song. Now, Rucker is in the Wagon Wheel band wagon. With some background vocal help from Lady Antebellum, Rucker will include Wagon Wheel in his latest release, True Believers, due out later this year.

Evening: The Story Behind Heikki Lunta

Coverage:

A Heikki Lunta Dinner will be held on Saturday, January 19 at 5:30 p.m. at the Negaunee Senior Center, 410 Jackson Street, Negaunee. I've sang the songs and I've always heard it talked about, but I never really knew what "Heikki Lunta" was. Being 50% Finnish I thought I should know. I asked our Finnish News Director, Walt Lindala, and this is what he said. Heikki Lunta was a made-up Finnish version of a country Artists. "Hank Snow" is the English translation. Songs were made up and recorded here in the Upper Peninsula. The "Heikki Lunta Snowdance Song" came out asking for snow because there wasn't any. The U.P. got so much snow that year "Heikki Lunta Go Away" came out. With a little bit of superstition, the "snow god" became even more popular! Now there are festivals, CD's and a bunch of Heikki Lunta activities around the U.P. Tickets to the Heikki Lunta Dinner are available in advance only and must be purchased by Friday, January 11th at the Senior Center. Tickets are $15 for adults and $12 for senior citizens. Dinner will be completed in time for diners to attend the Heikki Lunta fireworks over Teal Lake at 7 p.m. For more information, call 475-6266. Now, I feel even more Finnish and you know the story too! For more calendar links go to broadcast-everywhere.net/category/calendar/! Watch "Da Yoopers" version of the "Heikki Lunta Snowdance Song" below!

Morning Show: Oh Good- 595 Not Going To Happen According to SAVE The Wild UP

Coverage:

Ishpeming - January 9, 2012 - Margaret Comfort, President of Save the Wild UP, sent in this Note of Victory for Save The Wild U.P. Wow. I'm so relieved. The plans to build Rio Tinto's haul road, CR 595, were dropped Friday. This $82 million 21.5 mile "road to nowhere" would have included at least 22 stream crossings, destroyed 25.81 acres of wetlands, and would need to be plowed and maintained by taxpayers indefinitely. This is a huge victory for taxpayers (and wilderness). Read more on our website. And it's all because of people like you. Activists with Save the Wild UP and allied organizations united to call attention to this boondoggle. Adam Morhman went to his first EPA public hearing, while Northern students created stickers and signed-up up new people to get involved about the road. We at Save the Wild UP would like to especially thank Catherine Parker for her fearless and indefatigable work on this issue. We'd also like to thank Gabriel Caplett and the late Todd Warner of KBIC's Natural Resources Department. Our work isn't over. We must continue to raise our voices to ensure that the Wild UP is protected and we can't do it without you. Thank you for your continued support. Sincerely, Margaret Comfort, President Save the Wild UP So what do you think? Darn or Yeah?

Mid Day Show: Evidence of Obvious Double-Standard Concerning Gun Control!

Coverage:

For many years, we have subjected our children to a sign wielding advertisement that all schools throughout the U. S. are "Gun-Free" areas as our federal government's attempt to abolish school shootings. SO - you would think that if this line of thinking was so EFFECTIVE at address , gun control residents would want to make themselves just as safe by placing signs on their property. A group of individuals from Project Veritas conducted a video investigation with the journalists including staffers of the West Nyack, N.Y.-based Journal News, which last month published the names and addresses of thousands of pistol permit holders licensed in the Westchester and Rockland counties area north of New York City. The saying goes that "a picture is worth a thousand words", well, here is the video recorded by the journalists for you to view yourself. It is difficult for me to fathom the hypocrisy of these individuals - why wouldn't you be willing to subject yourself to the same set of circumstances that they have subjected your children to in their school environment? Here is the link to the website for Project Veritas

Morning Show: They Want My Gun

Coverage:

Republic - January 18, 2013 - Really... more gun control from the PRESIDENT? It feels like "The red coats are coming", "The black coats are coming", "The guys with badges are coming." What did Obama announce Wednesday or Thursday some 37 presidential demands? As the song says, "Warning - you might need a spare gun... so get two... because they might take your gun." I just saw this on YouTube and thought I would share it with you! Worried about losing your firearms?

Mid Day Show: Governor's Comments on Marquette's Tribal Gas Station Disappointing

Coverage:

Governor Snyder released comments from Lansing Thursday voicing his disapproval to the proposed Keweenaw Bay Indian Community gas station in Marquette Township may be "unlawful" and offer an "unfair advantage over surrounding competitors. The Governor's comments also touched of the tribe's processing the land purchase into a trust, rendering the all retail sales exempt from state sales tax. Snyder made reference to a (State of) Washington vs. Confederated Tribes U.S. Supreme Court case which he feels renders the land trust movement both "unlawful" and "unfair". (To read up on the court case, see this link to Justia.com) I will read up on this court case myself later but I take issue with the Governor's comments on this new business being unfair to to surrounding competitors. Maybe the Governor is unaware of the "unfair" price gouging U.P. Residents have been experiencing for quite some time. I haven't (nor will I) forget how Bart Stupak vowed to investigate price gouging in the U.P. NOT!!!!!! He took his government pension and said, Bye-bye!!! The gas stations in Marquette County will not give customers a straight answer as to why their prices have been consistently higher than other areas. We need this tribal station to drive down the price of these area gougers!!!

Afternoon Show: Michigan Legislature Introduces Gun Owner Protection Legislation

Coverage:

Saturday, January 19, 2013 - Michigan Legislators Have A Brain. As the Michigan state Senate finishes its second week of the new legislative session, pro-gun legislators have already begun to advocate for the rights of law-abiding gun owners. State Senator Thomas Casperson (R-38) filed a bill that would keep the personal information of permit-to-purchase applicants confidential and exempt from Freedom of Information Act requests. This bill, Senate Bill 49, has been scheduled for a hearing on Wednesday January 23 in the Senate Judiciary Committee at 8:30 am. In other parts of the country, anti-gun media outlets abused their privileges under the Freedom of Information Act and have jeopardized the safety of law-abiding citizens by publishing the names and addresses of registered gun owners. Contrary to their claims, these media elites have not increased public safety. Rather they have simply provided a map for criminals to use on their next burglary. SB 49 would make sure that never happens in Michigan by exempting permit-to-purchase applications from Freedom of Information Act requests. Please contact your state senator and the members of the Senate Judiciary Committee and urge them not to endanger the rights of people that have applied for a permit to purchase and those that have registered the pistol as required by Michigan law. It has been reported that some of the gun owners in New York who had their names and addresses published have already had their houses burglarized and their guns stolen. Your help is needed TODAY to make sure that never happens in Michigan. Contact information for your state legislators can be found by clicking here. Mid Day Show: Regardless of the Governor's Opinion, the Law of the Land Remains

Coverage:

Governor Snyder (or the Office of Deputy legal counsel Dave Murley) expressed his dislike toward the impending new Keweenaw Bay Indian Community gas station in Marquette County. The Governor's comments reflected his concern for an "an unfair commercial advantage over surrounding competitors." Murley in his January 19 comments to the Mining Journal stated with relation to KBIC paying a state tax, "after all, legitimate competition will only benefit consumers." I am sure the Bureau of Indian Affairs are quite savvy on the laws concerning land trust and we will find that Lansing is grasping at straws when they try to call this land purchase "unfair " and "unlawful". I wouldn't call how gas prices are adjusted in Marquette County beneficial to area consumers nor competitive. Marquette County retailers currently adjust their prices when key gas companies receive their new fuel shipment, call down state to find out any price change and jack up their price. The remaining stations call around to find out what so - and- so's price is and they price change accordingly. Where's the competition??? How about ONE station keeping their price unchanged until they receive a new shipment of fuel then possibly change their price!!! There are numerous consumers that have wondered the same thing. Station X received a new shipment of gas under the price of $3.25 per gallon. Two days later, Station A raised their price to $3.35 so Station X follows suit. Here is the results of The Mining Journal's resent poll question - the result show that consumers know they are getting fleeced and are tired of it. Marquette County "fleecers" won't go out of business when the KBIC station is opened, there aren't any businesses that have closed since The Pines opened.KBIC Gas is a good thing for Marquette County - they will get all my business!!!!

Afternoon Show: The Kickoff of the 11th Annual U.P. Predator Challenge - Sponsored by Midway Rentals and Sales

Coverage:

Skandia - January 24, 2013 - Pulling up to the Skandia Township Hall last night you would've had to find a place to park alongside the road because the U.P. Predator Challenge, the U.P.'s Original 11th Annual Predator Hunt, kicked off and the parking lot was full! Inside wasn't much different. Teams of hunters showed up between 4-7 p.m. for a mandatory registration. They got a ticket for door prizes and a ticket for a Pasty meal! They were also able to buy tickets to sign-up for bigger prizes along the wall..which included all kinds of knives and three different caliber guns, provided by the West Branch Sportsmen's Club. The club members set the whole thing up every year and they work with sponsors, like Midway Rentals and Sales, to get the prizes for the winning hunters. Mike Crawford, a member of the Sportsmen's Club said, "This would not happen if it wasn't for Midway Rentals and Sales. They've been really really good to us. I can't say enough about Joe and the family. They (sponsors) put up the money that pays the hunters, the prize money." First place takes home $800, second is $400, third is $200 and fourth is $100! Mike went on to say, one year, he was "just about floored" when Midway Rentals and Sales paid for all of the prizes! "I preach to them at our meetings and to everybody here, 'Please go in there (Midway Rentals and Sales) and say 'Thank you' or patronize their business,' because they're helping us out," Mike said. "I appreciate what they do and I definitely try to go back there myself!" Mike explained to the hunters that they needed to use a newspaper with Thursday the 24th's date of this year on it, fold it up, and zip-tie it into the predator's mouth. That way no one can use older animals. The hunt started out in 2003 when rabbit hunting was the only thing to do in the winter for sportsmen. A club member was bored and the rabbit population was dwindling, so he came up with the idea of hunting predators. It was legal and bobcats could be hunted until the end of February. Now, 11 hunts later, the challenge continues to grow with the help of Midway Rentals and Sales. After the Pasty meals were gone and the prizes were handed out, Mike sent the hunters on their way into the woods for a long weekend of hunting. Come Sunday, he'll see them at the West Branch Sportsmen's Club with bags under their eyes and predators in their trucks, hoping this year the 800 bucks will be theirs! The "Pasty Guys" were two of everyone's favorite people! Visit MidwayRents.com for all your building and construction needs! Go to uppredatorchallenge.com to learn all about the U.P. Predator Challenge and to sign up for next year! Take a look at all of the posts for the 2013 U.P. Predator Challenge. There will be updates after the hunt has completed. Thanks to everyone who helped make this event possible and especially Michigan Rentals and Sales! All the hunters bought tickets to win specialty knives and guns! Bill Zintman, President of the West Branch Sportsmen's Club, he said he was going to win this year!

Bob Englund, Treasurer of the West Branch Sportsmen's Club Almost everyone left with a prize! The Skandai Township Hall was packed! Bob and his daughter A special raffle! Pastys, raffle tickets and zip-ties for the hunt were all the hunters needed! Another winner! The U.P. Predator Challenge knife was a much wanted prize! The proud winner of the U.P. Predator Challenge customized knife! Gene Harmon, of the West Branch Sportsmen's Club, was in charge of the 50/50 Thanks to the West Branch Sportsmen's Club, three guns of different calibers were given away! Three generation of Norman's have been hunting in the Predator Challenge for years! It was a family event! Hunters and their prizes! When Mike release the hunters they ran for the door! They were very excited to get into the woods! Goodluck hunters!

Even though I did not shoot a coyote myself, I was very happy to see my boyfriend and his uncle get 3rd place at the 2013 U.P. Predator Challenge! Starting at 7:30 p.m. last Thursday evening they went out and hunted almost straight through until Sunday at 2 p.m. My boyfriend only got 7 hours of sleep total for the long weekend! But it sure paid off! He won two knives and his uncle won one. They also won $200 dollars for 3rd place and they were 2 pounds away from having the heaviest coyote! The second place team also got a fox and two bobcats. Mid Day Show: How Do We Attack Second Amendment Rights

Coverage:

That's what we should do. Let our congressman know. February 1, 2013 - Washington -Senate Holds First Hearings of 2013 on Gun RightsThe way I see it from my La-z-boy recliner at my home in Republic is on January 30, the U.S. Senate Judiciary committee held a hearing entitled, "What Should America Do About Gun Violence?"But it should have been called, "How Do We Attack Second Amendment Rights?" That's my take on it, that's my story, or my name ain't Toivo Etelamaki. The hearing (which can be viewed here) consisted of a single panel that included NRA Executive Vice President Wayne LaPierre, Second Amendment scholar David Kopel, attorney Gayle Trotter, Baltimore County, Md. police chief James Johnson, and Mark Kelly, the husband of former Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords. (Rep. Giffords made a brief opening statement to the committee before the other witnesses took their seats.) Anti-gun politicians such as Dianne Feinstein (D-Calif.), Dick Durbin (D-Ill.), and Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.) all made the same emotion-laden arguments they have made for decades on why government should infringe the Second Amendment rights of the American people. As always, they failed to provide any rational evidence that the so-called solutions they are proposing—a massive new gun and magazine ban and banning the private transfers of firearms—would reduce ordinary street crime, let alone stop the kind of tragedies that have recently shocked our nation. The NRA's Wayne LaPierre stood firm in the face of repeated calls for more gun laws. In his testimony, he made clear that the NRA would not go along with any new restrictions of the rights of law-abiding Americans. "Law-abiding gun owners will not accept blame for the acts of violent or deranged criminals," he said, "nor do we believe that government should dictate what we can lawfully own and use to protect our families." In particular, LaPierre made the point that the new restrictions being proposed would not affect criminals or madmen. While the law-abiding would submit to the laws, criminals simply would not. In response to a question, he pointed out that "even if you turn up someone on an instant check that's a mentally ill person, or a felon, as long as you let them go, you're not keeping them from getting a gun." Do you think about more gun control? Is more control going to deter the criminal element?

Morning Show: Protecting Our Younger Kids

Coverage:

Marquette - Easter 2013 - As the father of three children I consider myself to be quite protective. Over the years this has led to some heated discussions between my wife and I, particularly when our kids have been invited to "sleepovers" by their friends. To be clear my wife has a healthy level of protectionism when it comes to her children, too! Inevitably my input comes down to how well (if at all) do we know that family at whose home the "sleepover" will take place? If I don't know the family I am reluctant, unwilling and yes, even immovable on the issue. The bottom line is that we want to protect our children. You can never be too careful these days! Recently, our youngest was able to save up enough money to purchase an electronic tablet device. He was so excited when it arrived! About a week or two into the whole experience my wife was doing some maintenance on his device when pop-ups began to appear in rapid succession. Each pop-up was an advertisement for pornography sites. My wife let out a gasp. Immediately I asked about her response. When she told me what had just happened I was overwhelmed with concern. Have we been unknowing accomplices in shattering the innocence of our young son through our own ignorance? All those conversations about sleepovers and now I may have allowed something to come into our home that can bring harm to our son. After doing some investigating we feel at peace that he was not exposed to the pop-ups and we have taken appropriate measures to ensure that it cannot happen in the future. Pastor Kevin Taylor Loves Families and Loves Kids As I step back and look at the big picture I realize that our desire to protect our children has affected many of the decisions that we make and the activities that we participate in. One of those activities is prayer. Most every night at bedtime I go into the bedroom of our youngest (as I did with the others) and kneel down beside his bed to pray with him. Often I will make reference to Psalm 91:11 in my prayer where the psalmist writes, "For he will command his angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways" (New International Version). I have prayed those words over my children for the past 25 years. Being a parent is such a significant responsibility! Now that our older ones have left the "nest" I continue to pray the same prayer over the lives. Maybe prayer has not been a big part of your life up to this point. I have some good news for you . . . you can start now! Prayer is simply conversation between you and God. If you would like to know more about a relationship with God or how better to pray for your family, I would invite to bring your family and come as you are to any of our 3 Easter services at Silver Creek Church in Harvey (Saturday at 6 pm and Sunday at 9 and 11am). Mid Day Show: Obama's Transparent Administration Won't Answer Ammo Questions!

Coverage:

Now in his second term of Presidency, Mr. Obama nor his agency departments are very forthcoming to questions concerning the Department of Homeland Security purchasing 1.6 Billion rounds of ammo. At a time when the federal government is operating under a sequestered budget, how can such enormous purchase be justified. Inquires by news agencies to the DHS disclose that the agency purchased this quantity A) to buy in bulk to save money and B) this quantity will be used for agent training. Interesting! A) Since when is ANY federal agency interested in saving taxpayer money when procuring any department purchases? Citizens have been after the feds for years to save money; this reason is highly unlikely; B) DHS NORMALLY average 15 Million rounds agency wide per year for training - 1.6 Billion will cover firearms training for 100 years! Sounds like stockpiling to me - and D.C. have been lobbying against citizens' so-called stockpiling. Rep. Timothy Huelskamp, R-Kansas has made inquires into this issue but has gotten no agency response. Hmmm!
