Faith & Family	Closer Look	Sep 25	7:15	15 minutes	'Call-In' Bible Studies Connect To Faith And Friendship (K-LOVE Closer Look) - When COVID-19 forced churches to close and halted even small social gatherings, Christians continued to crave interaction with fellow believers. Soldiers For Faith Ministries launched 'call-in' bible studies back in 2012, but stay-at-home orders in 2020 crystalized the ministry purpose and mission. "When the pandemic hit," says founder Kelly McAndrew, "all of a sudden we understood what God had prepared us for."

Families Adoption	Closer Look	Sep 4	7:00 pm	28 minutes	Real Talk On Adoption - Thoughts On Trauma, Dignity and Birth Parents Children separated from their biological mothers will inevitably grieve that loss. “That’s trauma, when we lose our first family,” says Jenn Hook co-founder of Replanted Ministry . Hook spent years counseling foster children as a mental health professional. “We’re not always looking at it from the adoptee’s side,” she warns, for example, repeatedly calling one’s adoption a ‘gift’ can unintentionally hurt your child. Vanessa Joy Walker is an author and lifecoach who was herself adopted as a baby. “The issues of identity and abandonment are interwoven into who I am, they are part of what I call my emotional DNA.” Billie Branham reports.

Families – Foster Care Adoption	K-LOVE’s Positive People	Aug-Sep	Monthly Feature	60 second weekly promo Podcast	Lauren & Tony Dungy - Using Your Influence To Bless Others; One Example Is Foster Care, Adoption Tony Dungy is well-known in the world of football, but you may not be aware that Tony and wife Lauren have been setting an impressive example for foster care and adoption. “It’s been a rewarding experience,” shares Lauren, “we’ve been fostering for over 30 years and currently we have three children in our care. And, along with the fostering, we have adopted children as well. We have eight kids under-our-roof that are adopted – ages 21 to 6 – (she smiles), so it’s been a busy household, but we enjoy it. It’s a blessing, and we believe that we’re being obedient to God’s calling on our lives.” The Dungys believe it’s critically important to say ‘yes’ to God, when you’re convinced it’s God calling you. Their life experiences with fostering and adoption, as well as marriage and serving God, are detailed in their new jointly-written book “Uncommon Influence: Saying Yes to a Purposeful Life.” Tony explains, “We just think that Christianity – people can say ‘it’s weird,’ people can say it’s different, but Jesus said, ‘We go down a narrow road,’ and the path is not the broad path that the whole world is on. So, we choose to look at that as not weird or different...but, uncommon. That’s the first word in the book title. As for the second word: influence, “We wanted to let people know that they can have an influence in their world in a lot of different ways.” Learn some

Special Needs	K-LOVE's Positive People	Aug - Sep	Monthly Feature	60 second weekly promo Podcast 13:58	Iowa Mom Helps Kids With Special Needs Play Sports, Have Fun Melissa Clarke-Wharff wanted her son Jack who is disabled to have fun like other kids his age. So, Melissa began Can Play, an organization that lets kids with health and special needs issues play sports and have lots of fun. Jack suffered six strokes when he was just 8 years old, which left his left him with cognitive delays, partial paralysis and 'limited ability to play.' Can Play gives kids like Jack "a place that they can come, be themselves, learn about their bodies and what their bodies can do." Melissa says families are often told how their kids will not be able to do certain things. But with Can Play, they show kids they 'can do it,' no matter what. Melissa says it has been "awe inspiring" to see Jack work to overcome his challenges. She admits getting her strength from Jack, looking at the confidence and inspiration he conveys despite his physical setbacks. "You can do this, stay strong," says Jack. He reminds others even he had bad days, but to keep working hard at what they do and to "never give up."

Hurricane Ian	Local News Break	Sep 27	8:30 pm	60 seconds	Ian is currently just over one hundred miles southwest of Naples, it's eye above the Dry Tortugas. And moving at about ten miles per hour. The strongest wind the storm has been able to produce held at one hundred and twenty miles per hour but could rise as high as one-thirty or a Category Four hurricane. Storm trackers are suggesting Ian may make landfall at full power rather than weakening as initially predicted. If you have been given advice or warnings by local authorities its strongly recommended that you follow it. Hurricane Ian may end up being very dangerous. Storm surge warnings are in effect from naples to Sarasota. And that surge could reach as high as twelve feet. Florida Power and Light have already deployed sixteen thousand crew members at staging areas throughout the state, and they say they are ready to make repairs and respond to all outages as long as it remains safe for their people to do so. They may have to take shelter for a few hours during the worst of the storm though. Much of the state is expected to deal with at least tropical storm winds and the possibility of flooding as well as tornadoes spawned by ian at least until Thursday if the storm retains its strength.

Hurricane Ian	Local News Break	Sep 28	5:10 am	1:12	First of all, conditions are deteriorating quickly along the Southwest Florida Coast. This is an extremely dangerous hurricane. The National Hurricane Center says Ian is 65 miles WSW of Naples with maximum sustained winds of 155 MPH, very near a Category 5 storm. The storm is moving NNE at 9 MPH. A hurricane warning is in effect. Landfall is expected this afternoon between Tampa and Ft. Myers. While the National Hurricane Center is warning that Hurricane Ian's winds will be catastrophic, it is also concerned about the storm's rainfall and storm surge. Forecasters now project a storm surge of 12 to 16 feet will strike the coast from Englewood to Bonita Beach. The National Hurricane Center also projects that 12 to 18 inches of rain could fall in a swath along Interstate 4. Here's a reminder of available shelters: Dunbar High School, East Lee County High School, Estero Recreation Center, Gateway High School, Hertz Arena, Island Coast High School, Oak Hammock Middle School, South Fort Myers High School, Varsity Lakes Middle School and Veterans Park Recreation Center. Please be safe and take the necessary precautions to do so.
Hurricane Ian	Local News Break	Sep 28	9:30 am	40 seconds	Hurricane Ian is just west/northwest of Naples. Maximum sustained winds are at 155 miles an hour making this nearly a Category 5 storm. Tidal surge hitting in Lee County is more than 5 feet. Waves are washing over the roads. This could continue for the next 15 hours. Inland areas will see the surge hit in a couple hours. Cape Coral's mayor says this could be catastrophic to the area. Rainfall could also be anywhere between 12-24 inches. Airports in the area are closed. Stay safe.

Hurricane Ian	Local News Break	Sep 28	10:40 am	40 seconds	Winds at Naples Grand Beach are hitting 112 miles an hour. Hurricane Ian is just west of Fort Myers. We're being warned to stay inside even during the eye of the storm. Hundreds of thousands are without power. Over 100 portable cell towers are ready to be deployed once the area is safe to enter. Lee County's sheriff says storm surge can reach 18 feet. Naples has issued a citywide curfew today to shelter in place until further notice. Stay inside and stay safe.
Hurricane Ian	Local News Break	Sep 28	11:20 am	40 seconds	Hurricane Ian is about 20 miles west northwest of Fort Myers. Maximum sustained winds remain at 155 miles an hour making it nearly a Category 5 storm. Collier County is seeing major storm surge. Multiple parking garages on the coast are flooded with water over the roofs of cars. Those of us in Naples are under an emergency citywide curfew to protect ourselves and first responders. The curfew to shelter-in-place is effective until further notice. So far nearly half a million of us are without power. Stay inside and stay safe.
Hurricane Ian	Local News Break	Sep 28	12:20 pm	30 seconds	An extreme wind warning is in effect for Cape Coral, Lehigh Acres and Fort Myers. Please treat these extreme wind conditions as if a tornado is approaching and move immediately to an interior room or shelter now. Again, an extreme wind warning is in effect for Cape Coral, Lehigh Acres and Fort Myers. Please act as if a tornado is approaching and move immediately to an interior room or shelter now. Hurricane Ian has made landfall in Cayo Costa.
