

KEUB SUMMARY OF QUARTERLY PROGRAMMING

THIRD QUARTER 2017

RJ Marx editor of The Cannon Beach Gazette/Seaside Signal is the narrator for KEUB Public Affairs interviews. In the spring, he suffered several broken bones in a bicycle accident, and was incapacitated some of the time, and was undergoing a rather lengthy recovery. Thus, he did not do a Public discussion every week, but managed to do one most weeks.

The format is the same as used in prior quarters. The presentation was done as a discussion, and presented in short form format, rotating several times per week as in the past quarters.

Week Of July 10-16

An aggressive mother elk has been terrorizing tourists and surfers in Gearhart. Wildlife officials tranquilized the mom and calf to move them out of the area. Calving season is upon us and the word of warning is to not confront the elk in any way. Simply walk away.

BALANCING NATURAL RESOURCES WHILE ENHANCING ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS AND QUALITY OF LIFE.

Week Of July 17 through 24

Arts in the community. Students at Seaside High School have taken it upon themselves to enrich the area with visual arts and other events to bring together teachers and students.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Week of August 6 through 12

Sea turtles returned to the wild after rehabilitation at Sea World, they were rescued on the Oregon Coast, a long way from home. A discussion of the rescue and process of returning the animals to a safe environment.

BALANCE OF NATURAL RESOURCES AND ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS

Week of August 13 through 19

Housing and the lack of it. A discussion of how several North Coast towns agree to put their heads together to find a solution .

AFFORDABLE HOUSING

Week of August 27 through Sept 2

The craft beer craze hits the south county and reflections on the Astoria role in the industry.

RETAINING FLAVOR OF LOCAL HERITAGE, CULTURE AND ATTRACTIONS

Week of September 10 through 16

RV park slated for a parcel in Cannon Beach, environmentalists disagree. Both sides issues discussed.

PROTECTING COAST AND AS WELL AS INCREASING TOURISM AND BALLANCING ECONOMIC BENEFITS OF NATURAL RESOURCES, WHILE ENHANCING ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS.

Week of September 17 through 23

Local firefighters fight fires across the state, and a discussion of some of their stories.

PUBLIC SAFETY and COMMUNITY PREPARATION FOR PUJBLC EMERGENCY