ECONOMY	Edicion Digital	01/31/2024	12:00 PM	0:55	Let's start with the basics...you must include in this year's taxes, all transactions for the sale of goods or services, as long as the total amount is more than 600 dollars.... (led 2) at the end of the year, each application informs you of the total amount you received, and remember, the irs receives the same report. Now...what would be the exceptions? Those personal payments, i.e., if you lent money to your friend, paid for dinner and then he deposits you for an application... It also happens with gifts, as long as they do not exceed 17 thousand dollars... If an application does not send you a report about your income, that does not free you from responsibility... So you better keep a record of each payment you receive...

ECONOMY	Despierta America	03/28/2024	7:00 AM	1:30	Higher prices on the menu as fast-food chains brace for California's big minimum wage jump. Chipotle, McDonald's, Starbucks, Jack in the Box and Shake Shack are planning to raise menu prices. Fast-food franchises are laying off employees or cutting their hours. Smaller independent business owners, meanwhile, worry their workers will bolt unless they also increase wages. With California's mandatory minimum wage for fast-food workers set to jump to $20 an hour on Monday, major restaurant chains are scrutinizing every aspect of their businesses to find ways to offset the extra money they will soon be spending on labor. In many cases, customers will end up eating the cost.
