| DATE OF PROGRAM | TIME AND DURATION | TYPE OF PROGRAM ³ | ISSUE ADDRESSED BY PROGRAM ⁴ | NARRATIVE DESCRIBING HOW ISSUE WAS TREATED |
|-----------------|------------------------------------|------------------------------|---|--|
| January 1, 2019 | 5:00AM 24 Seconds | Eyewitness News 4 Today | Rio Grande Trail | A 500 mile path crossing state lines is expected to help boost outdoor tourism in New Mexico. The Rio Grande Trail plans to teach users about nature and New Mexico History. |
| January 2, 2019 | 10:00PM 23 Seconds | Eyewitness News 4 at 10 | Albuquerque shelter meals | Local shelters are helping people stay warm and safe during the cold and that takes a big effort. While many city services were closed today due to severe weather, Albuquerque Fire Rescue worked to make sure the West Side Emergency Housing Center had hot meals. They dispatched units to get all the food there safely while continuing efforts to help stranded drivers. |
| January 2, 2019 | 10:00PM 18 Seconds | Eyewitness News 4 at 10 | Albuquerque Shelter pick ups | The West Side Emergency Center is changing its pick up times to get people off the street due to the cold. They will offer rides from Coronado Park at 4 p.m. Emergency pick-ups can also be arranged by call the center. |
| January 2, 2019 | 10:00PM 1 Minute, 49 seconds | Eyewitness News 4 at 10 | Science of recent snowfall | Meteorologist Eddie Garcia is explaining the science of the recent snow and why it's been sticking around for so long. Snow is formed when temperatures are at or a few degrees above freezing and there is enough moisture in the atmosphere in the form of tiny ice crystals. Temperatures at the surface must also be around freezing or below in order for the snow to fall. Eddie answered question from a young viewer about how and why it snows. |
| January 4, 2019 | 5:00AM 53 Seconds | Eyewitness News 4 Today | Albuquerque Homeless Housing | This cold weather is nothing to take lightly and the recent winter storms were especially hard on our homeless. One non-profit claim there are dozens of places for our homeless to live but red tape is getting in the way. Officials at New Life Homes say a person only needs a referral to be placed in a home, but more than a dozen homes are still empty. The City Housing Authority says the process of issuing out the referrals is taking a lot of time. |
| January 4, 2019 | 5:00AM 52 Seconds | Eyewitness News 4 Today | Tijeras Animal Sanctuary | A non-profit animal sanctuary says resources are dwindling and workers say they had to dig some animals out of drifts due to heavy snowfall. With many roads still in dangerous conditions, the sanctuary is unable to get feed delivered for the animals and it's running out. The organization is a 100 percent donation volunteer and is asking for help from our viewers. |
