Manager's Memo

This time of year is, for many, one of the most joyful. Beloved holiday traditions and family gatherings can mean it is filled with our favorite people, food, and songs. For those who find themselves in need, however, this month can be one of the most difficult, stressful, and lonely. We are fortunate to live in one of the most charitable states in the nation, filled with people who truly wish to lift and serve those who may not have as much as themselves. One way you can help Utah families who may be struggling is by giving to the 2023 Eccles Broadcast Center Food & Clothing Drive. On Friday, December 8, you can bring frozen turkeys, hams, and other food or clothing items to the tent in the parking lot, and employees from PBS Utah, KUER, and UETN will unload your items. Your monetary donation is also welcome and tax deductible. These donations will go to the Crossroads Urban Center. You can find more details by going to pbsutah.org/events.

If you receive this guide, it means that you are one who has generously given to PBS Utah in support of the shows you love and our mission to provide enriching, entertaining, and informative programming that fosters a deeper understanding of the world. In 2023 your support has allowed us to bring you new seasons of All Creatures Great and Small,

James Davie
Station Manager PBS Utah

Doc Martin, and Finding Your Roots, and to continue producing great local content like This Is Utah, The Hinckley Report, and Roots, Race & Culture.

You've also enabled us to hold community conversations, screenings, and educational events like our Reading Marathon and Writers & Illustrators contest. Your support helps keep our programming, community engagement, and educational resources available for free for our entire community, regardless of one's ability to pay a subscription fee or admission price. I know from my conversations with viewers and participants that your gift has truly made an impact. We simply cannot do this work without you. And I'm humbled by and grateful to everyone holding this guide right now.

I offer you my deepest thanks and warmest wishes for a happy holiday season!
