1:46	SEGMENT 1: Solving crimes with new technology	12:10
	Synopsis: With new gadgets and programs being invented every day, the technologies used in solving crimes are changing constantly. We reached out to leading experts on the subject, including a programmer, a 3D printing specialist, and best-selling crime author Patricia Cornwell. Through these interviews, we got the inside scoop on how mobile devices, 3D models, and even “smart home” devices like a refrigerator can be used to crunch the data, solve crimes, and present cases in court. Host: Gary Price. Guests: Lee Reiber, COO for Oxygen Forensics Inc.; Jerry Ropelator, CEO of White Clouds; Patricia Cornwell, bestselling crime author, author of “Chaos.” Links for more info: www.oxygen-forensic.com, www.whiteclouds.com, http://www.patriciacornwell.com/ Compliancy Issues Covered: Forensics, Technology, Media, Law, Law Enforcement, Literature
15:59	SEGMENT 2: What we love about time travel	9:27
	Synopsis: We see it everywhere: time travel. The concept has dominated our books, movies, and television for decades. We even saw a time travel ethics question dominate our primary election coverage. So what is it about these stories that we find so irresistible? We talk to Dr. Travis Langley, a pop culture psychologist, to uncover what lies underneath the fantasy we’ve all indulged from time to time: traveling backwards and forwards through time. Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Dr. Travis Langley, author of a series of pop culture psychology books including, “Doctor Who Psychology: A Madman with a Box.” Links for more info: http://www.travislangley.info/ https://www.psychologytoday.com/experts/travis-langley-phd https://www.amazon.com/Travis-Langley/e/B006UXQOTC Compliancy Issues Covered: Psychology, Arts, History, Literature

1:46	SEGMENT 1: Uniquely Jazz: Sheila Jordan		12:00
	Synopsis: With “La La Land” tapping into theaters around the country and a strong contender for this year’s Oscars, we wanted to re-visit one of the quintessential American art forms: jazz. And nobody sings jazz better, or more distinctly, than Sheila Jordan. We talk to Jordan and her biographer about Jordan’s rise, the racism that jazz musicians – both black and white – experienced, and the need to preserve from poverty to her career singing with some of the most famous jazz musicians of the 20th century this music for future generations. Host: Gary Price. Guests: Sheila Jordan, jazz singer, teacher and composer. Ellen Johnson, singer, musician, author of Jazz Child: A portrait of Sheila Jordan Links for more info: www.sheilajordanjazz.com www.jazzchildthebook.com Compliancy Issues Covered: Art, History, Racism, America
