Issues/Program List – 4th Quarter 2012

Politics are big at the end of the year in this viewing area and with county offices up for grabs, two tax increases, and various school levies on the ballot, Q4 2012 was no different.

The Marion area has also become a must-stop for presidential candidates vying for Ohio in the last two elections.

Marion became the center of attention just before the November vote as republican Presidential candidate Mitt Romney and VP candidate Paul Ryan made a stop at the fairgrounds for one last push for support.

The Obama Campaign also made several stops, though now as big as the Romney stop in late October.

TV-22 allowed all available time and resources to cover such events due to the interest of the presidential race.

Locally Tax increases were the big issue and the voters expressed their support for an increase to the city income tax to help with police and fire manpower. As for the sales tax increase in Marion County, voters once again said no to such an increase.

After the elections leaders and various residents in the community began to focus on another growing problem in the area. Heroin use and deaths due to overdoses began to rise to a point that many residents were concerned about its effect on the community as a whole.

Time and resources were devoted to this issue as it began and as ideas about how to solve the problem came forward.

All Other public interest and public service announcement material was handled on a “per-case” basis and handled appropriately within in means of this TV station.

I attest to the accuracy of above statement regarding WMNO-CA
