

As a non-commercial broadcaster, Southern California Public Radio does not sell commercial time of any kind, including commercial time to candidates for political office.

SCPR has received no requests for political time.