

Radio Quarterly Issues Report
WNPR/WRLI/WEDW-FM/WPKT (Connecticut Public Broadcasting, Inc.)
July 1 - Sept 30, 2022

ARTS

How protest art aims to “comfort the disturbed and disturb the comfortable”

8/19/2022 49 minutes

On this episode of Audacious: Protest art including abortion pills as jewelry, word art amplifying messages of racial justice, and Disney characters in real-life situations.

POLITICS

A sit down with incumbent Governor Ned Lamont

9/8/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

In this hour, Governor Ned Lamont joins host Lucy Nalpathanchil in the studio to discuss his campaign for re-election and take listener questions.

ENVIRONMENT

Summers of extreme drought and floods pose challenges to local agriculture, fish and wildlife

8/26/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

This hour, we hear from Connecticut farmers about the challenge of preparing for unpredictable extremes. Long Island Soundkeeper Bill Lucey discusses the effects he's observed on local fish and wildlife. State Agriculture Commissioner Bryan Hurlburt also joins.

HEALTH

A look into the complicated organ transplant system in the U.S.

8/18/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

This hour, we discuss troubling new findings on the national transplant system known as UNOS.

BUSINESS

From recruiting to benefits: How some companies are responding post Roe

7/25/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

This hour on Where We Live, we explore the ways our workforce will change in coming years, and consider how companies will have to alter their employee benefits and health care plans in a post-Roe world.

HISTORY

Clint Smith traces U.S. history through sites of slavery in 'How the Word is Passed'

9/21/2022 2:00PM 49 minutes

On this week's episode of Disrupted, Dr. Clint Smith joins us to talk about his recent book, 'How the Word Is Passed: A Reckoning with the History of Slavery Across America.'

SCIENCE/TECH

Addressing digital privacy post-Roe v. Wade

7/15/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

How can you be more diligent about your digital footprint? And what role do tech platforms and the federal government play in protecting private information? This hour, we hear from legal experts about how personal data is at risk, and what can be done.

EDUCATION

Burnout: Who's looking out for teachers, paras' mental health?

9/14/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

This hour on Where We Live, we look at stress and burnout among teachers and paraeducators, and what's being done to support people who care for our children.

RACE

Middle Passage to New London: A significant stop on the city's Black Heritage Trail

9/12/2022 9:00AM 49 minutes

New London has been designated a "site of memory" by UNESCO, marking the arrival of the Speedwell schooner, and the city's role in the trans-Atlantic slave trade. Hear from local historians about their research, showing the Speedwell represents a small part of the city's links to slavery.

FOOD:

Garden Genomes: Can science produce a better tasting tomato? Plus, we visit a local tomato farm

8/11/2022 49 minutes

This hour on Seasoned: local organic tomato farmers and the chef at Tony D's. Plus, scientist Harry Klee breeds flavor back into tomatoes.