Wednesday’s Child: The goal of this project is to give difficult-to-adopt children a fighting chance. The Wednesday’s Child program is nationally known and nationally successful in placing children in need of homes. FOX5 News is now taking part in that success with a series of stories, benefiting the kids and the community.

Education

1/5 10pm 0:42

Governor Sonny Perdue has included a pay raise for teachers in his 2005 budget proposal. Under the governor's plan, Georgia teachers will receive a two percent raise in September 2005.

1/13 12pm 0:53

A federal judge has ruled that Cobb County schools must remove stickers calling evolution a theory from science textbooks. A group of parents went to court, claiming that the stickers amount to a government endorsement of religion.

1/18 5pm 2:38

The Cobb County school board has voted to appeal a federal judge's ruling ordering the removal of stickers that describe evolution as a theory from science textbooks. Because of the appeal, the stickers will remain in the textbooks for now.

1/18 6pm 1:46

State lawmakers are reviewing education spending as they prepare the new state budget. After two rounds of spending cuts, an improving economy means more money is available for schools. Plans call for increased spending on new school construction.

1/19 5pm 2:02

The DeKalb County school board has decided not to renew a contract with a charter school in Lithonia. The school has an enrollment of nearly five hundred. The board's decision means the school will no longer receive public funding, and may have to close.

1/19 6pm 0:47

The chancellor of Georgia's public university system says he is pleased with the governor's proposed budget for higher education. The spending plan includes fewer cuts than college and university leaders had feared.

1/25 5pm 0:21

Georgia education leaders say they are pleased with the performance of the state's students on advanced placement exams. The state is one percentage point behind the national average when it comes to the number of students who pass at least one of the AP exams. That is better than Georgia fares in many national education comparisons.

1/26 10pm 0:45

One Atlanta-area school has set a national standard when it comes to one measure of student performance. 26 of the 27 students at Southwest DeKalb High School who passed the advanced placement history exam were African-American. That is the highest percentage of any school in the nation.

1/27 10pm 2:14

Governor Sonny Perdue hosted a town hall meeting with educators, parents and students from across Georgia. He and other state education leaders were seeking input on how Georgia schools can be improved. The governor says he is tired of Georgia's education system getting poor marks in nationwide comparisons.

1/28 10pm 2:04

The Cherokee County school board has held an emergency meeting to discuss a controversy over the name selected for the county's new high school. The board plans to establish a committee of students and teachers to come up with a recommendation for a new name for the school.

2/9 12pm 1:58

Cobb County's school superintendent has proposed giving a laptop computer to every student in the county's school system. The idea has generated controversy among parents, in part because of its expense. But the school board has taken a step toward approving the plan.

2/15 5pm 2:15

A charter school building that burned two years ago has now reopened. Students at the Neighborhood Charter School in Atlanta had attended classes in portable buildings ever since the fire. Parents, teachers and other staff members worked to rebuild the school.

2/17 5pm 2:13

A new student club at White County High School is at the center of controversy. Organizers say the "Gay-Straight Alliance" is intended to promote diversity. Critics say it promotes an unacceptable lifestyle. School leaders say they do not want to spend public money to fight the club in court.

2/21 5pm 1:48

A Douglas County middle school has been recognized as a school of excellence. Chapel Hill Middle School will be one of eight schools nationwide featured in a video recognizing outstanding schools.

2/22 5pm 1:42

State lawmakers are considering new limitations on the state's popular HOPE scholarship program. Under the proposal, students in degree programs that take longer than most to complete may lose their scholarship money before they graduate.

3/10 5pm 2:25

The Pike County school superintendent has been arrested. The superintendent is accused of soliciting an underage girl for sex over the Internet. Peachtree City police made the arrest during what they describe as a sting operation.

3/17 5pm 1:55

Some Georgia elementary school students went to the State Capitol to exert some political influence. About fifty students met with lawmakers to oppose budget cuts in a program that provides foreign language instruction at their school.

Drugs and Alcohol

1/7 10pm 2:16

Clayton County investigators have made two major illegal drug seizures in two nights. In the latest operation, narcotics officers intercepted a shipment of marijuana worth more than a million dollars.

1/10 10pm 2:14

Police officers now have a new way to train for the dangerous assignment of raiding illegal labs where methamphetamines are produced. A computer simulator uses video to put officers in realistic situations, where they could be exposed to potentially harmful chemicals.

2/3 12pm 1:40

Federal drug agents say a successful operation has led to the seizure of large amounts of illegal drugs. Two people were arrested on conspiracy charges. Agents say they uncovered cocaine and twelve million dollars worth of a drug known as ice.

2/4 10pm 2:12

The University of Georgia has implemented a new policy to deal with drug and alcohol abuse involving students. School leaders will now contact parents of students who demonstrate a dangerous pattern of drug or alcohol abuse.

2/10 10pm 1:48

Three men have appeared in court after a raid at a Cobb County home where agents seized more than thirty pounds of a drug known as crystal meth.

2/11 5pm 1:38

State lawmakers are considering a proposal that supporters say would make it more difficult for people to produce illegal methamphetamine. A chemical used to manufacture meth is found in some over-the-counter cold medicines. Under the proposal, those medicines would be moved behind store counters.

2/14 5pm 1:12

Cobb County police have conducted an undercover operation to target businesses selling alcohol to people below the legal age. As a result of the operation, more than a dozen businesses have been charged with selling alcohol to minors.

2/14 6pm 2:12

Federal agents are revealing more information about the discovery of what they call a "super methamphetamine lab" inside a Smyrna home. Agents say the lab in the basement of the home was capable of producing more than ten pounds of meth every day.

2/17 6pm 1:23

State lawmakers are debating new measures to combat the problem of underage drinking. A bill being considered at the Capitol would penalize underage drinkers by revoking their drivers' licenses.

2/22 10pm 2:30

A small-town Georgia police department is using federal grant money to combat the flow of illegal drugs into the metro Atlanta area. Grantville police have seized thousands of dollars worth of illegal drugs in just a few days. Officers have made those seizures during patrols of a stretch of Interstate 85 in Coweta County.

2/23 12pm 1:46

Bartow County investigators have raided what they describe as a large methamphetamine lab. They made the discovery in a home on a busy road just off Interstate 75. Two suspects were arrested.

2/26 6pm 1:57

Angry residents met with federal and local authorities about the recent discovery of a meth lab in their neighborhood. They are concerned about the lasting environmental effects of the drug lab.

3/4 5pm 2:01

Walton County authorities have raided a home they describe as a marijuana factory. Inside the home, deputies found nearly four hundred plants, worth more than half-a-million dollars. Three people were arrested on manufacturing and drug trafficking charges.

3/9 10pm 0:26

The federal Drug Enforcement Administration says its agents have made the largest meth bust ever on the east coast in the metro Atlanta area. Agents searched two homes in the area, finding a million dollars in cash, and 16 million dollars of crystal meth.

3/15 5pm 2:03

Douglas County leaders are trying to help children who were living in homes that police have identified as meth labs. In many cases, those children are placed in foster care after their parents are arrested. All of their belongings have to be destroyed because of chemical contamination. The program provides the children with backpacks filled with new clothes, shoes, toys and coloring books, among other items.

3/23 6pm 2:37

Drug agents in metro Atlanta are searching for two fugitives, after an illegal drug shipment to a home owned by a professional basketball player. Former Atlanta Hawk Jason Terry has met with investigators several times. He is not facing charges.

Police in Monroe have arrested one man in an illegal prescription drug operation that they say has ties to other states. Officers say the suspect lied to doctors he found on-line to get prescriptions, then had them filled by on-line pharmacies. Police say they found thousands of pills when they arrested him.

Racial Tension/Prejudice/Discrimination

1/7 6pm 2:22

A forty-year-old murder case involving the deaths of three civil rights workers is now being re-tried in Mississippi. Georgia Congressman John Lewis led an effort to have the case re-opened. One man is now on trial for those killings, and there was a disturbance outside the courtroom.

1/14 5pm 2:14

Georgia's constitutional amendment defining marriage as a relationship between a man and a woman is being challenged in court. Gay rights advocates claim the amendment was drawn illegally, and should be overturned. Critics say the amendment discriminates against homosexuals.

1/15 10pm 2:46

Civil rights leaders in Atlanta are celebrating the holiday honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Former Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young was a close associate of Dr. King. Young describes him as an ordinary man who did extraordinary things.

1/16 6pm 2:29

Two nationally known civil rights leaders are using the King Holiday weekend to issue a new call for social justice. Joseph Lowery and Jesse Jackson say people must resist the temptation to become complacent, and instead continue the struggle for equality.

1/17 5pm 2:45

Atlanta played host to a number of celebrations connected to the Martin Luther King holiday. Ebenezer Baptist Church was the site of the annual commemorative service honoring Dr. King. The theme of the celebration, "Remember, Celebrate, Act", challenged Americans to serve others as Dr. King did.

1/18 10pm 0:45

A restaurant chain based in the Atlanta area is the target of a racial discrimination lawsuit. Plaintiffs in several states claim that Waffle House workers refused to serve black customers. The restaurant says it trains employees to treat all customers equally.

1/21 5pm 0:26

Atlanta's city solicitor says he will not enforce a fine against a golf club penalized for refusing to grant spousal benefits to the partners of homosexual members. The solicitor says he cannot proceed with the fine, because he is named as a defendant in a lawsuit the club filed challenging the fine.

1/31 6pm 1:35

State lawmakers are planning an effort to repeal a number of laws still on the books in Georgia remaining from the era of segregation. The measures, known as Jim Crow law, are no longer enforced, but have not been overturned. Legislative leaders are planning an unusual Saturday session to repeal those laws, so families who are at work or school during the week can witness the General Assembly in action.

2/7 5pm 1:54

The Georgia House has approved legislation that would prevent local governments from penalizing private clubs that refuse to extend spousal benefits to the partners of homosexual members. The proposal comes following a dispute between the city of Atlanta and a private golf club.

2/10 10pm 1:57

A new display at the University of Georgia is intended to honor the students who desegregated the school 44 years ago. But some critics are calling the display racist, and they want it to be changed.

2/18 6pm 5:46

A Georgia congressman is talking about the efforts to find justice in the murders of three civil rights activists forty years ago in Mississippi. John Lewis says three decades went by after the killings, before he could return to Mississippi himself. But he says now, Mississippi has more black elected officials than any other state.

3/7 5pm 2:15

More than three dozen demonstrators protested outside a north Georgia high school, where students have formed a club known as the "Gay-Straight Alliance". Some demonstrators came from Kansas to show their opposition to the club. But a group of counter-demonstrators say those protestors promote hatred and discrimination.

3/28 5pm 2:31

Protestors say the organizers of Atlanta's Dogwood Festival are discriminating against African-American vendors. But organizers say the festival accepts applications from vendors of all races and cultures. They say the charges of racism are coming from a vendor who has a history of violating festival rules.

3/28 10pm 2:13

Riverdale city leaders have rejected a proposal to extend anti-discrimination protections to transgendered city employees.

The Economy

1/1 10pm 0:25

Atlanta-based Delta Air Lines has begun making job cuts that could affect up to 6,900 employees. The job cuts were announced a few months ago, and will be made over the next year and a half. The cutbacks are part of an effort by the airline to cut costs and return to profitability.

1/2 10pm 0:24
