Tonight on Praise: Erick Stakelbeck is joined by Rabbi Aryeh Lightstone, who served as Senior Advisor to America's Ambassador to Israel, David M. Friedman, and Senior Advisor for Economic Normalization with the Abraham Accords. Rabbi Aryeh shares the genesis and historical significance of the Abraham Accords and its importance to America as the Former Special Envoy for Economic Normalization with the Abraham Accords. These events are recounted in his new book, "Let My People Know."

The Supreme Court has overturned cases that include issues of abortion (Roe v. Wade) and gender confusion (same sex marriage). Rabbi Jonathan Cahn's new book, "The Return of the God's," speaks about the issues of abortion, the education system, the sexual revolution, and other cultural issues- where they come from and how we should respond to them. It is important for individuals to pray, share the Gospel with others, and stand up for their freedom.

Destined to Win with Frank Santora #2316	27:30	27:30	LCL	PA/O	4/16/2023	7:00 AM
					4/17/2023	6:30 AM

It is challenging to follow Jesus in today's world. Through the eyes of unbelievers, Christians are being seen as narrow minded and even hateful. Scripture states that as the End Times draws near there will be a prominent rise in floating ethics and relative truth to suit Satan's agendas through humans' actions. Politicians and society have adopted the mindset to do whatever needs to be done to further their personal agenda regardless of whether it clashes with their conscience, spiritual conviction, or biblical truth. Society's moral ethics are on a situational basis, Frank Santora shares that, "Situational ethics, it's not wrong all the time, it's not right all the time, it depends on the circumstances. And if it advances my agenda and my cause, I flip it. I flip it so that it suits me. I flip it depending upon the audience of which I'm in." To combat this, it is important for the church to stand strong during these turbulent times and be the voice of truth, a light in the darkness, and be the standard-bearers for society by preaching the gospel more than ever before.

Dr. A.R. Bernard #2316	27:30	27:30	LCL	PA/O	4/16/2023	5:00 PM

Since the days of Nebuchadnezzar, God's divine providence has proven that He has been in full control of which individual(s) are in power within society. God is and has been guiding, sustaining, and providing for human history. According to Daniel 2:21, "He [God] removes kings and establishes kings." Pastor AR Bernard encourages believers to be consistent in what they believe and ask what God's purpose for the individual(s) is being in power.

Dr. A.R. Bernard #2317	27:30	27:30	LCL	PA/O	4/23/2023	5:00 PM

After the murder of Tyre Nichols in Memphis, Dr. AR Bernard got together with other pastors and leaders to pray over what is happening in our nation. Each citizen has a role and a function that they are responsible for, not just for this generation, but for the generations to come. There was a time when black people were not allowed to be police officers. For five civil servants to beat a colored citizen to death, discourages people of color from trusting police officers and even joining the police force themselves. The hope that getting individuals of color into the Police Department would help to change the negative narrative within society about police officers which has been tainted by the incident. It seems that the officers from Memphis adopted a culture that requires dismantling. Competent credible individuals who could go into law enforcement don't want to, because of negative public sentiment about being a law enforcement officer. Some people of color want to, but don't take on the job because in context of their color, they feel they are betraying their community. AR Bernard relates Daniel from the bible to people of color today, he says, "Daniel and his men were 10x better than the others in that same position in the King's court, so is it when you are a minority coming into the dominant culture, you must work harder. You must be 10x better because you are being judged by a different standard. The bar is higher when you are a minority in any context."

Eschatology is defined as the study of last or final things, the end of history, this age. A person can subscribe to either a Historical Eschatology or a Mystic Eschatology. Those who subscribe to a Historical Eschatology are the Christians, Jewish, and Islam believers that believe they are moving in a definite direction. They believe that history is not just random events happening and repeating with no end. Instead, they believe that history is moving in a specific direction. The other study is a Mystic Eschatology which are those that believe in Hinduism and Buddhism, where history has no end with a continuous cycle of life, death, and rebirth. Repeatedly they try to reach a point where they can escape reality and view history as the arena of the horrors of chaos and redo it all over again. One's Eschatological beliefs about the end time can influence their involvement in the world. If a person subscribes to an eschatology that's individual, this simply means that when they die, they believe that they'll be judged by God for the life that they lived. If that's all that they have as an eschatology, then they will tend to be Apolitical, or moderately, or cautiously political. This person will not get involved in what's happening within the culture and society. This person tends to be more politically conservative. If one has an eschatology that is collective, which includes the impact on the whole body, this person could be more socially and politically engaged, because they believe they have a responsibility to manifest God's justice in the earth.

According to A.R. Bernard, government was created by God, and politics was created by people. Politics is essentially the art of winning and holding onto power. Individuals could study political science in school because we have made it an art. There are different types of divisions in American society today including: the marginalized vs those who are in power; those who are oppressed vs the oppressors; the left and the right. Jesus dealt with power structure in society, he healed the oppressed and loved the oppressor. We are called to be like Jesus representing unity instead of division today.

According to Eric Metaxas, American schools have welcomed cultural Marxism. Critical race theory, sexual orientation, and other issues are being used by the government to influence the American people. It is important for individuals, especially the American church, to speak up about these issues. If we don't, God will hold us responsible for our silence.

Jonathan Cahn discusses his book, The Return of the Gods. Evil is taking place in the world and in America. No longer is the spiritual enemy a sinister hidden force, they are a ruling power that is taking over, dominating, dividing, desecrating, diseasing, and destroying. Demonic influence is rampant in the United States and around the world and the invisible realm is controlling what happens in the visible realm. Jonathan Cahn uses Ancient Israel's turning away from God as a reference to what is happening in America's turning away from God due to 3 gods: Baal, Ishtar, and Androgyny. In Ancient Israel, the god named Baal, the Possessor, drove God out. Now in the United States of America, this same God has returned to push God out. In the 1960's in America, God was driven out by removing prayers from the schools and prayer from the homes. In Ancient Israel, they had the god named Ishtar, the Enchantress, the goddess of sexual immorality. In America the sexual revolution came in the 1960's bringing the rise of pornography into the culture. In Ancient Israel, they had the Goddess of Androgyny, the Destroyer, which is the god that caused people to offer up their own children to death and the ability to turn a man into a woman and a woman into a man. In the United States during the 1970's this god re-entered making abortion legal within modern day culture and bringing the rise of gender changes as well. Supreme Court decisions have even been influenced by these principalities. The lings in the Supreme court in the last 20 years have affected altering sexuality and ultimately changing the mindset of biblical marriage.

According to James Robison, our freedom as a free country is being threaten. America has turned away from God and has changed His truths. The Godly concept of family, life, and marriage are being twisted and enforced into law. It is important for individuals to stand up for God's truths and principals to prevent the destruction of America because of its rebellious ways against God.

In his new book, "Sweet Land of Liberty," E.W. Jackson encourages individuals to come together to protect America's founding principles. This country's identity was enunciated in the Declaration of Independence when Thomas Jefferson and the founding fathers wrote that all rights come from Almighty God. We are endowed by our Creator with certain inalienable rights. This has set a legal foundation for our independence and a cultural and spiritual foundation for our liberty as well.

MLB player, Darryl Strawberry, grew up with an abusive and alcoholic father. This behavior from his father led Darryl to brokenness and the abuse of substances. Being addicted to drugs caused Darryl to go to prison, get cancer twice, and lose his left kidney. It took him 7 years of studying the word of God to be free and find God's plan for his life. Darryl's foundation, Finding Your Way, was created to make a difference in the lives of young people who are addicted to drugs. After 16 years of recovering from substance abuse, Darryl now goes into high schools and middle schools bringing awareness to the youth about not using drugs. Darryl says "In order to make a difference in young people's lives that are addicted, we have to be real about it. We can't sit here and sugarcoat it. And that's why we're at where we're at today. The epidemic we're at today. New Jersey's already had 300 deaths of overdoses from opiate."

Benny Tate was raised by his mother and stepfather. During his mother's pregnancy, his stepfather insisted on aborting him. His mother, however, chose otherwise and kept Benny. During his childhood, both Benny and his mother were physically abused by his stepfather. After running away from Benny's stepfather, Benny and his mother became involved in selling whiskey illegally and living in nightclubs. At the age of 15, Benny found his mother, who was planning to commit suicide. That weekend his mother found hope in God, decided not to commit suicide, and prayed that God would touch Benny's life also. At the age of 16, Benny also found God and his life was radically changed.

At the age of 9 years old, Jodie Ballenger started to smoke pot and get into fights. When she was 14 years old, she was sent to juvenile and later was placed in a reform school called White's Residential and Family Services. Billy Ballenger was given up for adoption and struggled to fit in causing him to run away from home at an early age. He too was sent to White's Residential and Family Services where he met Jodie. After being released from reform school, Billy moved in with Jodie and they became pregnant, so they decided to get married at the age of 17 & 18. By the time they were 18 & 19, Billy and Jodie had a flow of known felons in and out of their home (known as the party house). One day a SWAT team raided their house and took away their baby girl because of the violent atmosphere. At this time, they were arrested and faced many trials. Throughout this process, Billy and Jodie found God and were able to restore their family.

In 2015, 3 men were on a crime spree in the city of Indianapolis. They broke into the home 3 doors down from the Blackburn's house. After seeing Davey Blackburn leave the house, the 3 men took this opportunity to continue their spree, but now in Davey's home. Davey came back home to his wife, Amanda, lying in a pool of blood on their living room floor laboriously breathing, unconscious, and unresponsive. Amanda, at the time, was pregnant with their second child and Davey originally thought that there was an issue with her pregnancy until he realized that his wife had suffered 3 gunshot wounds. Four years to the day of Amanda's murder, they moved to Indianapolis in hope to continue their ministerial passions in a new city. After the murder of his wife, Davey's faith was tested, and he was unsure of how he could move himself to forgive and started to become numb and suppress the pain that he was enduring. Davey's redemption story begins when he receives a text from Pastor Levi Lusko who lost his daughter only a few years earlier. Levi spoke to Davey about running towards the roar. Levi encouraged Davey to rather than suppress his emotions, to instead lean into his emotions and see them as something that was given to him from God as well as an invitation from God into deeper healing and forgiveness. An urgency kindled inside Davey's heart after receiving this advice and he was moved to intercept kids and teenagers in the inner-city Indianapolis area before they could step into a life of crime and drug-related activity. During this time Davey began to heal and forgive. Davey receives a sign from God that all is working for good when he meets a woman at his gym who eventually begins to attend and serve at the church he is pastoring. She shares that she knows his story and that her stepfather is assigned as the Chaplain for the prison where his wife's murderers are serving their sentence and preaches the gospel to them every week. Davey eventually remarries to this woman. Together they have acquired a deep purpose to help people heal and seek an even deeper redemption through unforgiveness towards their enemies. Their ministry is called Nothing is Wasted Ministries.

Tammy Trent speaks with Life Outreach International Missionary Partner, Carol Hart, who Co-Founded Zoe International. Carol and her husband, Mike, moved from Hollywood to begin doing missionary work in Southeast Asia and have been doing it for 20 years. Her heart was broken when hearing from a missionary that in Southeast Asia a person can rent a little boy or a little girl from a menu on the street corners to do anything they want, even sexual acts. Research shows that a child who is trafficked by the age of 12 has been raped at least 5000 times. Even though they were unqualified, Carol and her husband, Mike, heard the call from God to help the trafficked children in Southeast Asia and obeyed wholeheartedly. Not knowing how they were going to combat the evils of human trafficking; they came across an opportunity to partner with Life Outreach International. Carol and Life Outreach came together to purchase a house in Southeast Asia where they now house the rescued children and provide them with the restoration they need. Within this house they serve many who are in need, from orphans who are in danger to children who have been trafficked. If the trafficked survivors do not have a family to go back to, they are then raised long-term in this facility until they are age appropriate to live on their own safely and freely. Once rescued the inner work of healing and freedom begins. Zoe International works with children who have experienced severe trauma repeatedly causing them to become angry, frustrated, and sometimes violent. They help to heal the children from complex trauma and patiently wait until the child is ready and willing to move on in a positive direction. The short-term solution is getting the children out of the trafficking system. The children will first arrive at their safehouse, Child Rescue Center, until their perpetrators' trial or until they can safely go home. If the child does not have a safe place to go home, the child will then move into long-term housing. Once they are age appropriate, they are free to leave (when they feel they are ready to survive on their own). Zoe International will assist the survivor with whatever they may need for a smooth transition outside of the Outreach Housing. To ensure a successful transition, Zoe International makes sure that the child survivor is truly free from the trauma and brokenness they encountered. The long-term solution is teaching the survivors the gospel to help them open their hearts to Jesus.

After years of drug use and running from God, TikTok Star & Author, Cristina Baker, found herself facing a long time in prison for drug possession. Cristina had been drinking and using drugs since the age of 14. By the time she was a young adult she was cutting herself, using 10 different kinds of pills and was addicted to heavy drugs. However, Cristina had an encounter with God that drastically changed the direction of her life on the day she had just been released from jail and contemplating suicide. A co-worker taps her on the shoulder and tells her that he had a word from the Lord for her "that this is a matter of life or death, would you like to receive Jesus in your heart?" She accepted Christ that day and was never the same. With nothing else to lose and despite her attorney's advice to not do this, at her arraignment she was moved by the Holy Spirit to speak to the DA about her case. She confessed to the DA that the drugs were hers, but that she was changed, and Jesus Christ had changed her life. The moment she surrendered control of the outcome to God, she was told that she received an Order of Dismissal, and all charges were dropped.

Every night in America, over 500,000 people sleep on the streets without a roof over their head. Millions more are homeless without a place to call their own. While homelessness is caused by many factors, in a nation where home ownership should be attainable by any citizen, this is not the case. Many people have given up on the American dream of owning a home. The reasons are many and complicated. Taking Care of Business examines our nation's housing dilemma.

TBN Special Report The Great Reset #TBNSPL7120	57:30	57:30	LCL	PA/O	6/4/2023 6/10/2023	5:00 AM 5:00 AM 12:00 PM

What is the Great Reset with Erick Stakelbeck: Welcome to the Great Reset. What would you say if I told you that by the year 2030, you'll own nothing, have no privacy, and be happy, that you'll live in a cashless society where all currency is digital, that everyone on earth will require a digital ID to travel freely, that maintaining a decent job, using the bank of your choice, or running a thriving business will depend upon your approach to climate change? The end game is a one world government all supposedly in the name of diversity, equity, inclusion, and the environment. Today, some very powerful global players, led by the World Economic Forum and with the enthusiastic backing of western leaders, major corporations, and the U.N., are promoting this radical transformation of society. They call it the great reset, which would see power wielded by an elite few that would dictate to the rest of us. So what would this great reset mean for Christians? What role does the United States play? How far along is the plan and does the Bible have anything to say about it? Over the next hour I'll be joined by a group of experts who studied this disturbing movement in depth. They say it's all too real and that it's not a conspiracy theory if the people behind it are saying out loud what they intend to do. Imagine a world with no paper money or coinage where all currency is digital and transactions can be made with the wave of a hand. That's the vision of the great reset. It all sounds very convenient, but what happens if you oppose the policies of the powers that be, whether on say climate change, human sexuality, or abortion? In a world of digital currency, could your ability to buy and sell be cut off if you don't fall in line? From Pharaoh to Rome, from Napoleon to Hitler. Many empires have tried to impose their will on the world, but none of them had the advanced technology that we have today. With everything from the internet to A.I. it's technology that in many cases can be used for good but can easily be misused by those who have an obsession with control. For supporters of the great reset, China serves as a model. The communist regime in Beijing has imposed a surveillance state where every move is tracked. Every citizen is given a social credit score based on their loyalty to the regime and its agenda. Reggie Littlejohn is an expert on China's one child policy of forced abortions. She's seen the tyranny of China's government up close and she's sounding the alarm that it could come here courtesy of the great reset. Amid all the sweeping changes that the World Economic Forum and other proponents of the great reset have put forward, one name is never mentioned God. How should Christians view this great reset and does it seek to place man above the Almighty? A one world government and uniting mankind under one all powerful regime is an idea that's as old as time itself. The Bible tells the story of the tower of Babel of Nimrod and his attempts to subjugate the world under his rule and build a tower that would reach to heaven. God had other plans. Yet that still hasn't stopped a long line of tyrants throughout history from driving towards the same goal. Could the great reset be laying the groundwork for a future tyranny where technology enables a group of global elites to wield the kind of power and control that tyrants of the past could only dream of? The Bible says the one final leader will arise to rule the world. At least for a short time until God directly intervenes, just as He did in the time of Nimrod. Because while earthly kingdoms come and go, God still sits on the throne. The architects of the great reset would be wise to remember that and as followers of Jesus that fact should give us encouragement and the strength to face whatever the future may bring. Guests include Marc Morano, Author & Founder of ClimateDepot.com, The Kwak Brothers: Daniel Kwak and Sam Kwak, Authors & Entrepreneurs, Victor Davis Hanson, Senior Fellow at Hoover Institution, Reggie Littlejohn, Founder & President of Women's Rights Without Frontiers, and Jack Hibbs, Senior Pastor of Calvary Chapel Chino Hills.

TBN Special Report The Gathering Storm Against America #TBNSPL7065	57:30	57:30	LCL	PA/O	6/11/2023 6/17/2023	5:00 AM 5:00 AM 12:00 PM

Welcome to a TBN Special The Gathering Storm Against America with Erick Stakelbeck. Over the next hour we'll break down what may be the most perilous time this nation has faced since World War II. Are we on the verge of a new world war? Could some rogue regime even do the unthinkable and use nuclear weapons? If the rhetoric coming out of Moscow these days is any indication, nothing is off the table. Ever since Russia launched a massive ground invasion of Ukraine back in February, Vladimir Putin and other top Russian officials have been threatening to use nuclear weapons, and not only against Ukraine. Putin has threatened to use them against NATO as well. And a member of the Russian Parliament warned recently that just four high powered nuclear missiles could destroy the United States. With tensions between Russia and the U.S. increasing daily, and Russian wielding close to 6,000 nuclear warheads, these statements must be taken seriously. At the same time, Russia's ally, China, has also threatened war with the United States. The communist regime in Beijing has undertaken a massive military and nuclear weapons build up and is vowing to conquer Taiwan by any means necessary. China's growing alliance with Russia poses a major problem for America. Its alliance with North Korea poses yet another. Kim Jong-un's forces have already test fired dozens of ballistic missiles this year and are working on intercontinental missiles; ICBMs that could one day reach the United States. Meanwhile in the Middle East, the hour is late to stop Iran's nuclear program. At this point, perhaps, only Israel will prevent Iran's Ayatollahs from acquiring the world's deadliest weapons. Russia, China, North Korea, and Iran. Four governments with serious ideological differences that are nonetheless united by their hostility toward the U.S. and their desire to see America toppled as the world's superpower. How should we respond to these unprecedented challenges? These wars and rumors of wars. Is our leadership up to the task? And how can Christians be a voice of truth and shine a light in the growing darkness? Over the next hour, you'll hear from Colonel Oliver North, Senator Joni Ernst, Colonel Allen West, Pastor Jack Hibbs, and others as we break down the gathering storm against America; addressing economic, environmental, public safety, substance abuse, youth, and spiritual issues facing our nation.

According to Frank Santora, God wants all His children to be blessed including with economic means. To determine whether one's heart is on money, and not on God, individuals must analyze where their biggest amount of money is going towards. The bible speaks about there being a time where individuals will have an unhealthy fixation, preoccupation with money, where everything they do is driven by the acquisition of stuff. God, however, wants individuals to have a continual heart of remembering that the wealth they obtain is because Him alone. Remembering this will allow individuals the ability to use their wealth towards building the Kingdom of God.

According to Frank Santora, the blessing of the Lord should not be reduced to describe only the good things we obtain like money, houses, cars, etc. God's blessing goes beyond the material things in our lives. Frank Santora teaches individuals how God's promise to bless Abraham and his descendants continues to remain today. After the Jews were scattered throughout the world because of persecution, there were laws that prevented them from obtaining wealth. Any time a society prevents a race of people from owning land and buildings their ability to create wealth is destroyed on purpose. However, God kept His promise to Abraham and now, Jewish people own about 70% of the world's diamond market (valued at $82 billion dollars with are no diamonds in Israel at all). It is important for individuals to remember that Jesus is the reason why God's blessing is on our life. When God speaks a blessing over us, every good thing that He has intended for our life belongs to us and comes on us.

Through his book, "The Blessed Life," Robert Morris teaches individuals God's principles for living a blessed life both financially and spiritually. The principle behind tithing is to put God first. Robert Morris states, "If you'll put (God) first, watch what happens in every area of your life." Putting God first in our finances allows Him to work in our hearts and trust Him to provide the resources we need for our everyday life.

We are living in an epidemic of anger in our culture where many in society are extremely angry about something. Psychologists offer solutions such as taking a walk or deep breathing; however, the topic of forgiveness is rarely spoken about. Brant Hansen shares through his book, Unoffendable, that forgiveness is the way out of the epidemic of anger occurring within our communities. The bible encourages us to not hold onto anger as it could take a heavy toll on our spiritual lives. Being that angry is a flight or fight response, it can even take a physiological effect on the body according to scientific studies through stress. Role models like Dietrich Bonhoeffer and Martin Luther King Jr. are examples of people utilizing anger towards injustices as a tool to act and make things right from a heart of love and forgiveness. It is understandable that there will be incidents that make one angry, but the goal is to not hold on to it by understanding that God has forgiven us for our personal wrongdoing, therefore we can extend this same grace towards others whether they deserve it or not. This type of forgiveness can release freedom and peace into our communities.

Jordan Rubin's book "Natural Remedies," is an A-Z guide on how to use God-given foods, supplements, essential oils, herbs, and spices to combat disease and injuries. According to Jordan Rubin, sometimes the best first aid is a natural remedy that one can still use alongside medical care. The first step to being proactive with one's health including major health challenges like eczema, psoriasis, arthritis, autoimmune disease is to use the natural remedies God created for us to boost our health and that work no matter what circumstance one is in. There are natural remedies for every single health condition (injury, gut disorder, Crohn disease, ulcerative colitis, IBS) that don't provide "side effects, but side benefits" (instead of hurting other organs, it may heal them).

Living a pure life could prove to provide a healthy life and body. It is important to take care of our temple (body) because when it is taken care of and is healthy, it could then overflow into the lives of others. The concept of purity has always been a very sexualized thing in culture; however, it is important to understand purity as a holistic experience. Purity is more than sexual purity. Licensed Professional Counselor, Debra Fileta, says, "As I look at scripture, I see that purity is almost equivalent to the word healthy and in counseling I use the word healthy a lot. And to me, being pure means, we are pursuing a life of health." Scripture states that the greatest commandment is to love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength. Heart represents one's emotional strength, Soul represents one's spiritual strength, Mind represents one's mental health, and Strength represents one's physical health. Purity in these four different areas of loving God encompasses how one could live a pure life of health. From how a person honors their body to the thoughts they think, affects the body and how it functions. Our health is a product of the things that we are absorbing, the things that we are taking in, listening to, seeing, hearing, feeling, and noticing. It is crucial that we live in such a way that we absorb pure and healthy things. Taking inventory of the things we fill our ears with or watch on television could assist one in being and living a healthy pure lifestyle. Protecting our purity/health starts with God's word. It's important to make the time to spend in God's word daily as it will provide pure healthy thoughts that nourishes the spirit, body, and mind. Renewing our minds of how we look at the word of God as a love story written personally to us as opposed to an obligation could help encourage us to want to read more often. Having a community of believers could help one live a pure/healthy lifestyle as well.

In Counseling and Psychology, the first step to healing is acknowledging that there is a problem. This is why God's word encourages us to confess our sins to one another because in that confession, we acknowledge there is a problem and acknowledge that there is something that needs to be healed. God's unconditional love and mercy makes us whole and confession of wrongdoing to God can help one to regain their purity/healthy lifestyle. Owning up to one's wrongdoing is required to humble oneself. God resists the proud but is very close to the humble. Through this humility one can allow God to heal their spirit as to prevent any disease from occurring within their body due to regret or shame.

Utilizing the bible can be a great way to combat depression. The word of God can be used as a refuge for those seeking peace during troubling times. Psalms 46:1-3 states, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." Being willing to want to become better is important. Taya Gaukrodger wrote down scriptures and kept them next to her bed to remind herself daily of the promises that are found in God's word. A specific scripture that helped her during her time of depression after the ending of a relationship is Job 11:16-19 (MSG), which states, "You'll forget your trouble; they'll be like old, faded photographs. Your world will be washed in sunshine, every shadow dispersed by dayspring. Full of hope, you'll relax, confident again; you'll look around, sit back, and take it easy. Expansive, without a care in the world, you'll be hunted out by many for your blessings." There is a freedom in the boundary lines that God has set for us to do, God has not called us to do everything, but called us for something. Trusting that God will give us the grace to do what He has called us to do provides us refuge from stress, depression, and becoming overwhelmed.

#1043	The Better Together Team discusses how to find beauty in the waiting for what you're believing in from God. Waiting can expose the deep truth of who you are when experiencing it but knowing that God is worthy in the wait can ease any concern. Cece Winans's Brother-In-Law had an emergency quadruple bypass surgery and her family had to wait while in the waiting room praying that the outcome of the procedure went well. One of the things that she and her family did was speak the word of God over their preferred outcome. They also found time to enjoy the waiting by laughing and communing with one another, ensuring that everyone in the waiting room had faith that it would go well. Beth Redman had to find the beauty of waiting for the 15-minute updates from the doctors while her son had a 7-hour surgery, she says, "We were so grateful to get these updates every 15 minutes, and so it sustained us in the waiting. It was like we couldn't wait for the next one. This is why waiting is so important, while we are waiting for Jesus, there is light, there's a bright and Morningstar in revelation, there's a bright and Morningstar in the gospels, there's a bright and Morningstar in Isaiah 22. There's a bright and morning star in Psalms 22."

Few choices have as many dramatically positive outcomes as adoption. It increases the emotional, physical, and cognitive capacities of the children who are adopted. It improves the life chances of the biological mother. It saves vast amounts of money for the public. It brings much happiness, both to the adopting parents and to the adopted child. It is good for all involved and families are strengthened. Almost 25% of American households have adopted, and 135,000 children are adopted each year. But despite these impressive numbers, there's still a pressing need for greater awareness. Join us for this episode of Taking Care of Business and hear about how adoption changes lives for the better.

Trent Shelton, a global social media influencer and former NFL wide receiver, founded REHAB TIME for the sole purpose of helping youth who experience depression, loss of a loved one, guilt, and/or regret. One mayor event that changed Trent's life was when his college roommate/best friend committed suicide. After undergoing this dark moment in his life, Trent realized his mind, body, and spirit needed rehab. He started focusing on the things that he could control. REHAB TIME stands for "Renewing Every Heart And Body," Trent also defines it as "putting strength back into a weakness." Now having over 11 million followers on social media, he encourages the youth by letting them know that although they can't change their past, they can change their now. Trent states, "Your current situation is not your final destination, so you have to forward-think and look forward in your life. And say 'okay, this is a storm. This is a season. This is a chapter...' but just because you have some bad chapters, you can still turn the page...what you're going through... qualifies you to help other people get through it."

The bible states that, during the end times culture, children will be disobedient to their parents. In 2 Timothy 3, one of the big signs in end times culture that will precede the coming of Christ is that children will become disobedient to their parents because they will be trained and empowered by culture, instead of by God-fearing parents whose parental rights will be limited by law. Anti-Biblical values are now being taught to children within schools and universities beginning as early as elementary schools. This use of the schools and universities was predicted and prophesied by many of the early founders of today's most prestigious universities. Timothy Dwight, the President of Yale from 1795-1817, said. "To commit our children to the care of irreligious people is to commit lambs to the superintendency of wolves." In 1823, A. Hodge, The Principal of Princeton Seminary and Professor, predicted the U.S. school system would be the most efficient and widespread instrument for the propagation of atheism, which the world has ever known. Since then, the banning of prayer has been removed (1962) and now even the mention of God has been forbidden. There has even been an addition to the last amendment of Title Nine, which strips parents of their God-given parental authority, making it legal for schools to not seek parental permission for children to participate in lessons on choosing and changing one's sex. The rules also grant children an absolute right to use school facilities and participate in activities consistent with their gender identity regardless of whether their parents agree or are even aware of their child's choices. In Brookfield, Connecticut schools, there is an uproar because kids are freely able to walk into any facility and bathroom that they want to without the parents being aware that this is occurring. Schools are claiming legal authority to socially transition children without parental consent or knowledge. Schools in Alaska & California changed a child's name and pronouns without the parent's permission. If parents were to disagree, the schools then have the legal authority to prove that they are endangering the child and can file a report with Child Protective Services and have the child removed from the parent's home. A daughter was removed from her parents' home several years ago because the teacher thought that the reason the daughter was so respectful to all the teachers and students in school was because she must have been abused at home. DCF eventually removed the child from the home and prohibited the parents from being able to see her. It took 2 years for the parents to convince the judge that she was respectful because they raised her to be a Christ follower. Pastor Santora encourages parents to train their children in the Lord.

According to A.R. Bernard, the book of Timothy (in the bible) indicates 19 characteristics of people and culture. These characteristics are broken down into literary forms including a literary form called alpha privative (the absence/lack of something). Today, youth are being disobedient, an absence of respect for parental authority. Parental authority is being removed in terms of what's happening in the culture. This removal of parental authority is causing children to make decisions about their sexual identity even though they are too young to comprehend it.

Founder and President of Mercy Multiplied, Nancy Alcorn, helps desperately broken young women ages 13 -32 suffering from addiction, eating disorders, physical and sexual abuse, depression, suicide, crime, and self-harm find real transformation. While working as an Athletic Director for a Female Juvenile Center, Nancy discovered that there was less than a 3% success rate for young girls surviving after they entered the prison system. Nancy was eager to help the young women by introducing Christ to them, however due to separation of church and state, she was unable to share the gospel with them. Nancy was so inspired to help them that she created the ministry, Mercy Multiplied, which has helped over 3000 girls find lasting freedom and hope in Christ. The average stay for an attendant is about 6 months, but for those who have dealt with severe situations like being sex trafficked, stay for 9-12 months. During their time at Mercy Multiplied, the young women are equipped to succeed in the world mentally and spiritually, dealing with any traumas that could prevent them from moving forward in life. Attendees have left the program and become doctors, college graduates, missionaries, and even employees for Mercy Multiplied.

By the age of 13, Caitlin Hawk, a young girl that grew up in the church, nationally ranked in the top 100 in sports, began experimenting with sexual immorality and alcohol. By the age of 15 she was a heavy alcoholic drinker experiencing blackouts to escape the pain of rejection and abandonment that she was feeling inside. Looking to men for validation and a sense of worth, she stopped going to school, sold drugs, got arrested, and began a vicious cycle of rebellion and shame that led her to overdosing on pain pills when she was 17 years old. At 19, Caitlin became pregnant with twins, but the birth father was not involved. This abandonment only strengthened her feelings of shame and rejection, putting her on the verge of suicide. She didn't know how to get help, but she knew she needed to seek help somehow. While being 5 months pregnant at 5am, after a night of partying at a local college, she finally cried out to the Lord and gave her life over to Christ. After seeing the transformation of a friend of hers who attended Mercy Multiplied, a ministry that helps struggling young women, Caitlin decided to attend the same program and seek help. It was at Mercy Multiplied that she received the tools to overcome the destructive thinking that led to her life spiraling out of control. She realized her identity in Christ and replaced the lies that she had been bound by for many years with the truth of God's word. Caitlin stayed at Mercy Multiplied for about 8 months and was able to find a family to place her twins for adoption. She graduated from Mercy Multiplied in 2008. She is now delivered from alcohol and drug abuse, married with 2 children, an entrepreneur, and has helped free many other young women who experienced similar hardships that she faced.

James Robison shares the tragic circumstances of his childhood. James grew up in a fatherless, poverty-stricken home. He was raised by his mother, who at the age of 40, worked as a Hospice Home Nurse. While working and caring for an elderly man in his home, she was raped by the alcoholic son of the elderly man and conceived James Robison. She was going to have an abortion in Houston Texas, but the doctor refused to give her the abortion. With no other choice, she gave birth and put an ad in the newspaper for a loving Christian Couple to raise a newborn boy. A Pastor and his wife named H.D Hale at Memorial Baptist Church in Pasadena responded and adopted James until he was 5 years old. During that time, his biological mother would keep in touch with James and take him away for a few days to spend time with him. At 5 years old, his biological mother came and took him to live with her permanently. Mr. Hale attempted to offer his mother money, but she refused. With only enough money for the bus across town, they hitchhiked from Houston to Austin, Texas. Within 10 years, James had moved 17 times. He had difficulty making friends because he would never stay in a place long enough to establish relationships. When James was 14 years old, the alcoholic man, his biological father, who raped his mother moved into their home. The alcoholic man began to beat his mother and did it so badly that he thought he had killed her. A few days later he came into James's room and told James that he was going to kill him. James was angry towards the man, armed himself, and called the police to arrest his biological father who went to jail for 7 years. After this event, James decided that he had to leave his mother and moved back to Pasadena with his adopted family, the Hale's, where he would eventually become the God-loving man that he is today.

Karl Clauson struggled with alcohol and drugs at a young age. Even after having an experience with God and being saved, Karl continued to face these challenges until God set him free. According to Karl, it is important for individuals to understand that God saves and sanctifies us; therefore, we cannot do anything in our own strength. If individuals keep sin hidden, it will affect all areas of their lives. To find freedom, we must be willing to confess our sins and let God help us. With the help of the Holy Spirit and His guidance, we can be strengthened to combat our daily struggles.

E.W. Jackson grew up in a broken home and was taken to foster care by his father. As a delinquent child at the age of 10, E.W. Jackson didn't go to school much. He also became a gang member, was involved in gang fights, and committed petty crimes. He was on his way to either jail or death because of the crowd that surrounded him. This was a concern for E.W. Jackson's father, so his father decided to rescue E.W. Jackson. His father's wisdom and teachings of self-accountability and discipline led E.W. Jackson to have a better lifestyle that later led E.W. Jackson to know Christ, serve his country, and value the freedom he found in America.
