Topic: Abortion, anger, child abuse, gang violence, rape, sickness/disease, substance abuse, suicide.

Synopsis: 1) Gang-banging on the streets, watching his father beat his mom, and running from the law was the only life he knew. He was far into drugs, and even went as far as helping his father do drugs with him. He never grew up with affection of a husband and father. Getting kicked out of the house, he joined a gang at just 16 years old called, Black Disciple. He ends up in Harris county jail, with anger built up, he didn't care at all. He was ready to fight. After serving his time he went back to returning to his old life. With drugs and alcohol getting the best of him, he found himself in the sight of cops once again, and back in prison it was. One day, a poster caught his eye. The poster was of a Christian rapper. A man approached him asking this simple question, why are you so angry? This question stuck, he started praying and turned from his brokenness. 2) A gathering of old friends leads to a lifetime of pain, regret, and degradation. Alyssa, a popular and involved student in high school. She went with her boyfriend to a beach house and with a spiked drink in her hand, she blacked out. Waking up the next morning in the passenger seat of her car, she felt awful. She drove over her friend's house when she realized she was raped. With shame and regret breaking her, she felt discouraged and lost. At rehab doing a 90-day program she still felt lost, she was invited to a church retreat.
