In this episode, Pastor Frank Santora speaks about the importance of loving our neighbors as ourselves. We cannot let hate, racial, or religious differences overtake our hearts. Pastor Frank Santora explains that we must learn to see people by their content of character rather than their outside appearance. Our nation must be healed of division and hatred because of racial hostility.

In this episode, Pastor Erwin McManus and Aaron McManus focus on the topic of immigration. Erwin McManus explains that as Christians we should focus on "the person" rather than judge them by what the law says. It is important for us to understand immigration not only from a political view, but a personal view. We must learn to love our neighbors as Jesus taught, even though they may be different from us.

In this episode of "McManus", Aaron McManus bring his friends together to engage his well-known pastor and father, Erwin McManus, in a conversation about politics, conflict and unity. Erwin listened and empathized with his son's friends before sharing his position to focus more on his mission as a pastor and citizen of a politically charged nation. "I made a decision a long time ago that I would not use my platform for political leverage," Erwin says. "But as a citizen, I think you should do everything you can to advance the world through government that you hope will exist." Instead of isolating any Democratic or Republican policies, he speaks about how much Jesus can influence the world of politics. "I actually think it's Jesus that can change the world, not Democrats or Republicans," he says.

In this episode, Pastor Frank Santora gives people encouragement that can help them remain mentally healthy. He speaks to the viewers about the daily grind, what the "grind" is, and what one could do to not let the grind stop them from accomplishing the will of God in their lives. The grind could be any tough situation that one is facing in their life, from maintaining the perfect weight to making it through a difficult health season. Pastor Frank Santora reminds viewers that there is grace for their grind during the difficult seasons in their lives. He highlights scriptures like 1 Corinthians 15:10 and 2 Corinthians 11:22 to explain how we are equipped to overcome moments of grinding.
"The grind is sent to stop you from being everything that God is calling you to be," he says. "We can either allow the grind to make us great or grumpy. The grind can cause us to pray more and keep us closer to God."

On this emotional episode of Taking Care of Business we explore the difficult subject of youth suicide. Youth Suicides are now a pandemic in our country. The suicide rate for young people between the ages of 14 and 19 has jumped 70% in the past 10 years. 157,000 young people are hospitalized each year for self-harm. Many feel that this coincides with the launch and popularity of many of the social media apps and platforms. Most young people don't realize that social media sites are not accurate representations of the authentic lives of those using them. Meet young people who tell their stories of how they attempted to end their lives but lived to tell about it!

In this episode of "Southpaw" millennials are challenged with responding to the concept of happiness. It is important for us to clearly define "happiness." They discuss that the fulfillment of happiness is not based on our circumstances, but rather on our relationship with Christ. The viewers learn how to separate identity and aspiration and the importance of doing so. If we do not separate the two, we may become depressed or struggle with mental issues because we place our "happiness" on what we have "accomplished" rather than on our identity- in Christ.

Life Today with James and Betty Robison	27:30	27:30	REC	PA/O	3/6/2020	9:00 AM
#200306

In this episode, James and Betty Robison speak with Pastor Jentezen Franklin about living a life full of contentment. Viewers learn about the true story of "Acres of Diamonds" and how it relates to us as children of God. We must learn to enjoy what we have because as children of God, we have "Acres of Diamonds" all around us. Pastor Jentezen Franklin also gives his testimony of recovering from depression when he was covered in boils at the age of 17. Even though our circumstances may be painful, Pastor Jentezen Franklin reminds us that God has a purpose within these situations.
