In 2007, Rachelle Starr started going to strip clubs to share Christ's love with the dancers. Her goal with her ministry, Scarlett Hope, is to bring hope and share the gospel to women in the adult entertainment industry. Rachelle and her ministry pray, provide food, and spiritually support the women working in the adult entertainment industry. Some of the women working in the adult entertainment industry are either forced into the business through human trafficking and/or are just attempting to make money to feed their family. While serving a huge buffet of food inside of the strip club, they encountered a woman who was working for the first time as a stripper attempting to make money to feed her 5 children at home. They fed her, prayed with for her and offered a pan of food for her to bring home to her children. After meeting with Rachelle and her ministry, the woman left the club without dancing and was filled with faith in God. Rachelle and her ministry do not try to change the women but work to introduce them to the one who can truly change them, God.

Rene Martinez was the former Leader of ruthless Miami gang, Latin Syndicate. Rene didn't have a father-figure growing up and was raised by his mother who was into drugs as well as a dark religion called Santeria. As a child his mother sacrificed chickens and goats and poured the blood of the sacrificed animals on him and other children in the family. When they finally poured the blood onto Rene, he stated that a spiritual door was immediately opened to him, and he began to see demons. Dealing with this sort of childhood led Rene to seek another family in the streets at the early age of nine. They would steal cars, break into houses, and spray paint walls. At the age of fourteen, Rene found himself waking up in the hospital with all his bones broken, unable to walk, as well as having manslaughter charges after stealing a car with his friends during a high-speed chase. Rene and his mother eventually became homeless, and Rene's mother fell into a deep depression. After Rene's mother second failed attempt to commit suicide, she eventually found Christ, however her involvement with Santeria pushed Rene away from any religion his mother offered. At the age of sixteen, Rene was charged with attempted murder, went into a facility, and was later released. It was at the age of seventeen, that Rene became the leader of the gang, Latin Syndicate. As the leader, Rene found himself fighting all the time, dodging bullets, and attending many funerals. It wasn't until his friend invited him to church that he had his first encounter with God, however three days later he was back on the streets because he did not know how to let go of the street image he lived with and was used to. After that he began bare-knuckle fighting, becoming an MMA fighter, and owned a gangster rap music label. Lost in the world of sin, Rene felt the demon of death calling him and he began to think about hell. It was at this point that Rene heard God say that He would remove His hedge of protection over his life if Rene didn't change his ways and submit to Christ. Rene was baptized and began his ministry, Jesus Christ Street Ministry, preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ in prisons and building projects across the country.

Carol Hart speaks about rescuing children from human trafficking. Life Outreach built a home where they house orphan children, those who are in danger of being trafficked, and those who have been trafficked. In the rescue center, children are provided with housing and education, all while undergoing a healing process to restore them. Once they are restored, the children are given the opportunity to access their freedom and continue their journey of life knowing the truth about God and His love for them.

Uwe & Hannelore Romeike are devout evangelical Christians that had to flee Germany in 2008 to escape persecution for the crime of homeschooling their 5 children. They believed that it was not the government's responsibility to educate their children but theirs and sought asylum in the United States to do just that. They now face deportation back to Germany and are asking the Biden Administration for sanctuary and a chance to continue living in the United States. If the Romeike family returns to Germany, they face having their children taken away from them and being imprisoned. German law states that the German Government has the right to take children from their families without a court hearing. Efforts have been taken to assist the Romeike family such as a nationwide petition and a private bill that was filed to the House Judiciary Committee by Representative Harshbarger. According to updated policy from ICE, a private bill filed and a request from the committee for an investigative report from ICE will provide an effective stay of any removal action. God opened all the doors for the Romeike family when they first arrived to the United States, and they are believing for God to continue to remain faithful and help them now.

Harvard Law Professor Emeritus, Alan Dershowitz, speaks about what is happening to Donald Trump. The impeachment was based on unconstitutional criteria. Now they have four criminal charges and one civil charge against him. Not a single warrant has being brought for these charges. There is no evidence and no law being used in these charges. According to Alan Dershowitz, "We never want to live in a country where prosecutors target people first and then get the evidence."

Brandon Straka, Founder of "The Walkaway" campaign, encourages a people to leave the Democratic party and embrace a more diversity of thought. Brandon Straka was accused and arrested for the riot at the capitol on January 6th of 2021. After voluntarily uploading a video to Twitter to document what was happening in the Capitol, he was FBI raided and arrested. He was convicted on a misdemeanor charge for disorderly conduct. He was accused of encouraging the crowd by using words. Although, he committed no acts of violence whatsoever, he was forced to wear an ankle monitor and was on the "No Fly" list. Till this day, the media is putting out articles constantly indicating that Brandon is a domestic terrorist and a violent anarchist. Now, he's fighting for justice for some of the J6 protesters.

The Israel-Hamas War has caused a lot of commotion around the world, even on college campuses. Students on college campuses are supporting the horrific crimes of Hamas towards the Israeli people. Morton Klein, President of Zionist Organization of America, states that the students do not know the truth of the Arab Islamic War against Israel, the Jews, and the West. Students believe that Israel stole their land from Palestine, however Palestine was never a country, it was a region named by the Romans. Morton Klein shares that the Co-Founder of Hamas, Mahmoud Al-Zahar, does not plan to end their criminal attack with the Jews, but will continue with an attack against all Christians to impose Sharia Law onto the whole world. Al Azhar University, the most distinguished place of learning from Islam, issued a religious edict that it is legitimate to kill every Jew in Israel. The goal is to ultimately establish an Islamic Caliphate throughout the world.

Since the global warming topic first arose, the terms "go green" and "carbon footprint" have been thrown around so often that they now are bland and empty, lacking the fiery inspiration they were coined with. But the fact remains that we all make an impact on the world we live in. The systems that we employ and the choices that we make today do have an enduring effect. Join us for this episode of Taking Care of Business and learn how personal environmental responsibility is more than taking care of the earth - it is taking care of those we love.

Against America
#TBNSPL7065						12:00 PM

Welcome to a TBN Special The Gathering Storm Against America with Erick Stakelbeck. Over the next hour we'll break down what may be the most perilous time this nation has faced since World War II. Are we on the verge of a new world war? Could some rogue regime even do the unthinkable and use nuclear weapons? If the rhetoric coming out of Moscow these days is any indication, nothing is off the table. Ever since Russia launched a massive ground invasion of Ukraine back in February, Vladimir Putin and other top Russian officials have been threatening to use nuclear weapons, and not only against Ukraine. Putin has threatened to use them against NATO as well. And a member of the Russian Parliament warned recently that just four high powered nuclear missiles could destroy the United States. With tensions between Russia and the U.S. increasing daily, and Russian wielding close to 6,000 nuclear warheads, these statements must be taken seriously. At the same time, Russia's ally, China, has also threatened war with the United States. The communist regime in Beijing has undertaken a massive military and nuclear weapons build up and is vowing to conquer Taiwan by any means necessary. China's growing alliance with Russia poses a major problem for America. Its alliance with North Korea poses yet another. Kim Jong-un's forces have already test fired dozens of ballistic missiles this year and are working on intercontinental missiles; ICBMs that could one day reach the United States. Meanwhile in the Middle East, the hour is late to stop Iran's nuclear program. At this point, perhaps, only Israel will prevent Iran's Ayatollahs from acquiring the world's deadliest weapons. Russia, China, North Korea, and Iran. Four governments with serious ideological differences that are nonetheless united by their hostility toward the U.S. and their desire to see America toppled as the world's superpower. How should we respond to these unprecedented challenges? These wars and rumors of wars. Is our leadership up to the task? And how can Christians be a voice of truth and shine a light in the growing darkness? Over the next hour, you'll hear from Colonel Oliver North, Senator Joni Ernst, Colonel Allen West, Pastor Jack Hibbs, and others as we break down the gathering storm against America; addressing economic, environmental, public safety, substance abuse, youth, and spiritual issues facing our nation.

TBN Special Report The Great Reset #TBNSPL7120	57:30	57:30	LCL	PA/O	11/26/2023	5:00 AM
					12/2/2023	5:00 AM

What is the Great Reset with Erick Stakelbeck: Welcome to the Great Reset. What would you say if I told you that by the year 2030, you'll own nothing, have no privacy, and be happy, that you'll live in a cashless society where all currency is digital, that everyone on earth will require a digital ID to travel freely, that maintaining a decent job, using the bank of your choice, or running a thriving business will depend upon your approach to climate change? The end game is a one world government all supposedly in the name of diversity, equity, inclusion, and the environment. Today, some very powerful global players, led by the World Economic Forum and with the enthusiastic backing of western leaders, major corporations, and the U.N., are promoting this radical transformation of society. They call it the great reset, which would see power wielded by an elite few that would dictate to the rest of us. So what would this great reset mean for Christians? What role does the United States play? How far along is the plan and does the Bible have anything to say about it? Over the next hour I'll be joined by a group of experts who studied this disturbing movement in depth. They say it's all too real and that it's not a conspiracy theory if the people behind it are saying out loud what they intend to do. Imagine a world with no paper money or coinage where all currency is digital and transactions can be made with the wave of a hand. That's the vision of the great reset. It all sounds very convenient, but what happens if you oppose the policies of the powers that be, whether on say climate change, human sexuality, or abortion? In a world of digital currency, could your ability to buy and sell be cut off if you don't fall in line? From Pharoah to Rome, from Napoleon to Hitler. Many empires have tried to impose their will on the world, but none of them had the advanced technology that we have today. With everything from the internet to A.I. it's technology that in many cases can be used for good but can easily be misused by those who have an obsession with control. For supporters of the great reset, China serves as a model. The communist regime in Beijing has imposed a surveillance state where every move is tracked. Every citizen is given a social credit score based on their loyalty to the regime and its agenda. Reggie Littlejohn is an expert on China's one child policy of forced abortions. She's seen the tyranny of China's government up close and she's sounding the alarm that it could come here courtesy of the great reset. Amid all the sweeping changes that the World Economic Forum and other proponents of the great reset have put forward, one name is never mentioned God. How should Christians view this great reset and does it seek to place man above the Almighty? A one world government and uniting mankind under one all powerful regime is an idea that's as old as time itself. The Bible tells the story of the tower of Babel of Nimrod and his attempts to subjugate the world under his rule and build a tower that would reach to heaven. God had other plans. Yet that still hasn't stopped a long line of tyrants throughout history from driving towards the same goal. Could the great reset be laying the groundwork for a future tyranny where technology enables a group of global elites to wield the kind of power and control that tyrants of the past could only dream of? The Bible says the one final leader will arise to rule the world. At least for a short time until God directly intervenes, just as He did in the time of Nimrod. Because while earthly kingdoms come and go, God still sits on the throne. The architects of the great reset would be wise to remember that and as followers of Jesus that fact should give us encouragement and the strength to face whatever the future may bring. Guests include Marc Morano, Author & Founder of ClimateDepot.com, The Kwak Brothers: Daniel Kwak and Sam Kwak, Authors & Entrepreneurs, Victor Davis Hanson, Senior Fellow at Hoover Institution, Reggie Littlejohn, Founder & President of Women's Rights Without Frontiers, and Jack Hibbs, Senior Pastor of Calvary Chapel Chino Hills.

TBN Special Report with TBN News Correspondent Erick Stakelbeck: The Rise of China. From the Museum of the Bible in Washington, D.C. and New York studio Erick Stakelbeck Reports. You'll hear why China's communist regime poses a unique threat to the United States and the world. From a massive military and nuclear arms buildup, to cyberattacks against sensitive American targets, China is directly challenging the United States. Its goal is clear; to replace the U.S. as the world's next superpower. Despite this and despite the Chinese government's continued evasiveness on the true origins of COVID-19, American companies are lining up to do business with Beijing. For some, the so-called social credit system that China uses to suppress and monitor its own citizens does not seem to affect their bottom line, but there is light in the darkness. While Christians in China suffer severe persecution, the Church is growing by leaps and bounds in the world's most populous nation. We're joined today by Former Secretary of State, Mike Pompeo; courageous Chinese dissidents, and leading experts to get the inside story on the rise of China and why it matters to you.

Dr. A.R. Bernard #2342	27:30	27:30	LCL	PA/O	10/15/2023	5:00 PM

According to A.R. Bernard, a slave mentality can affect individuals economically, physically, psychologically, emotionally, educationally, and generationally. It doesn't matter what one is slave to unless one is a slave to God. Jesus talked about slavery to sin, slavery to fear, slavery to unbelief. These conditions of slavery are the worse because one can be physically free and yet mentally enslaved, which will affect an individual across the board. A.R. Bernard teaches about the importance of renewing one's mind because the quality of one's thinking determines the quality of one's life.

Dr. A.R. Bernard #2343	27:30	27:30	LCL	PA/O	10/22/2023	5:00 PM

God gives us treasury through opportunities. Life gives individuals time, talents, relationships, and opportunities to translate all of this into value in the marketplace. An individual's gifts, talents, and abilities have value. One's time also has value. In the 1960s, Dr. AR Bernard was working in the government district pushing racks and packing boxes. He was making $2.00 an hour in the government district in New York City. Years later, he did a speaking engagement for an hour at a conference and was paid $15,000 (there was a change in value). God elevates an individual and moves them from one level of life to another to increase one's value to oneself, to one's family, to society, and to the Kingdom.

According to A.R. Bernard, life is a process of exchange. The whole economic system is based upon exchange, exchanging one's value for another value. To do business means to make maximum use of one's God-given gifts, talents, abilities, and opportunities. Individuals must take the gifts, talents and abilities God has given them, develop their skills, and translate these skills into value in the marketplace.

Restoring America with Erick Stakelbeck: Ronald Reagan once compared the United States to a shining city on a hill. During his inaugural address, George Washington said, "The preservation of the secret fire of liberty, may be staked," on what he called "the experiment entrusted to the hands, of the American people." They knew, instinctively, that the United States was unlike any nation in the history of the world. A beacon of freedom blessed by God above, but to whom much is given much is required. The United States today is more divided than at any time since the civil war, and the divide goes far beyond politics to the very essence of who we are. Will America continue to carry the banner for freedom and Judeo-Christian civilization, of liberty and equality for all? Or will we choose socialism, secularism, and squabbling factions that are obsessed with race, gender, sexual identity, and tearing down the very foundations on which this nation was created. And what happens if we choose the latter? Over the next hour, you'll hear from leaders in every field. From Florida Governor, Ron DeSantis, to Former Secretary of State, Mike Pompeo, Michele Bachmann, Greg Abbott, Governor of Texas, and Rev. Franklin Graham, plus top leaders in education, business, media, and faith, as they lay out the blueprint for restoring America.

During the 1960s, an assault started on Christianity public displays. In 1962, prayer in schools was eliminated. In 1963, bible reading was also removed. In 1980, the Supreme Court said it was unconstitutional to display the 10 commandments in the halls of Kentucky schools (Stone versus Graham). The Supreme Court stated that if copies of the commandments were displayed, it would motivate students to read and obey the commandments, which was not acceptable under the Establishment Clause. Years after this decision was made, during one school day, students were praying before school and a young 14-year-old boy walked into the school and opened fire. According to Robert Jeffress, we are responsible for the chaos occurring in our nation. It is important for individuals to return to God and share His love to others.

Jonathan Cahn discusses his book, The Return of the Gods. Evil is taking place in the world and in America. No longer is the spiritual enemy a sinister hidden force, they are a ruling power that is taking over, dominating, dividing, desecrating, diseasing, and destroying. Demonic influence is rampant in the United States and around the world and the invisible realm is controlling what happens in the visible realm. Jonathan Cahn uses Ancient Israel's turning away from God as a reference to what is happening in America's turning away from God due to 3 gods: Baal, Ishtar, and Androgyny. In Ancient Israel, the god named Baal, the Possessor, drove God out. Now in the United States of America, this same God has returned to push God out. In the 1960's in America, God was driven out by removing prayers from the schools and prayer from the homes. In Ancient Israel, they had the god named Ishtar, the Enchantress, the goddess of sexual immorality. In America the sexual revolution came in the 1960's bringing the rise of pornography into the culture. In Ancient Israel, they had the Goddess of Androgyny, the Destroyer, which is the god that caused people to offer up their own children to death (abortion) and the ability to turn a man into a woman and a woman into a man. In the United States during the 1970's this god re-entered making abortion legal within modern day culture and bringing the rise of gender changes as well. Supreme Court decisions have even been influenced by these principalities. In the last 20 years, there have been 3 major rulings in the Supreme court altering sexuality and ultimately changing the mindset of biblical marriage.

Vietnam Veteran, Gordon Logan, decided early on that he wanted to give back to those who served in the Military, so in 2013 he started the Help a Hero Scholarship that works with the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) to send Veterans back to school. Gordon saw that there was a need for Veterans who were transitioning from a military to a civilian career. To date they have raised almost $13 million and awarded over 2700 scholarships which provides $5000 a semester. Veterans who have benefited from the Help a Hero program have earned degrees to become Nurses, Doctors, and even Lawyers.

According to Harvard Law Professor Emeritus, Alan Dershowitz, Judeo-Christian values are being attacked. Many of the high dollar donors to schools like Harvard and Penn and others are saying they will not be giving any more money to these institutions unless they stand against the attacks on innocent people in the current war (Israel-Hamas). Individuals have given their money Harvard and Yale and other schools, that are supporting these horrific events in this war including the support of rapists. When George Floyd was killed, a man filled with drugs, there was a major reckoning in America. Universities, media companies, corporations, admissions, standards, and curriculum were changed. According to Alan Dershowitz, "We need a reckoning by universities about their attitude toward Jews, toward Judeo-Christian values, toward America, toward patriotism. We need a reckoning and until that reckoning comes, we must stop supporting those schools financially."

Samaritan's Purse provides relief to areas hit by natural disasters. Samaritan's Purse assisted the Bahamas 2 days after Hurricane Dorian devastated their area. They utilize their own helicopters and aircraft to transport goods and equipment needed to do the job. Samaritan's Purse also carries 2 to 3 fueled hospitals. They use and set up their mobile hospitals the exact way a real MASH (Mobile Army Surgical Hospital) hospital sets up their medical facilities. They also provide tarps for blown off roofs, water purification systems, and generators to those in need. In addition, they have over 2000 federally certified chaplains available to help the families that are victims of the natural disasters to talk and pray with them as well as helping them get through the tough time they are facing.

According to Frank Santora, the enemy tries to steal our days by stealing our rest. Statistic shows that 70 million people in the world suffer from insomnia. It is also credited with 30,000 deaths. Insomnia costs the US 70 billion worth of productivity because people are tired when they're not supposed to be tired. Statistics also shows that 64% of teenagers suffer from insomnia, the most severe cases are between ages 30 and 40; 50% of senior citizens over the age of 65 battle with it as well. According to Frank Santora, many individuals don't start off attacking the day and leveraging their time with the Lord because they haven't rested well the night before. If individuals are not resting, they're not trusting in the Savior. It is important for individuals to understand that we all need rest to function in our everyday activities.

Changing one's mental habits could be a difficult process. Frank Santora states, "You don't need stronger willpower, you just need to literally change your mind. Every thought, every action, and every reaction we have creates ruts in the brain and it creates a tract that we unconsciously follow. Whether we intend to or not." Frank Santora shares how individuals can retrain their minds. God provides us with promises through His word and provides a plan to receive it. It is essential to believe and receive His plan to receive the promise of God for one's life. The devil wants individuals to feel stuck, Frank Santora states, "If you follow the plan of God, He will turn your situation around." When an individual gets a promise and then a plan from God, the plan will usually tell one where to put their physical and emotional resources. There are some fights, however, that we should just let go of as Frank Santora states, "You're messing up the plan because you only have so much energy to put into so many things. But some of you want to be right more than you want to just move on with God." If one is going to win the day and renew one's mind, being relentlessly persistent, consistent, and having intrinsic motivation about the promises of God is necessary.

Bianca Juarez Olthoff is a daughter of immigrants, was illiterate until the age of 12, morbidly obese, and had the highest probability of failure for her life. At the age of 10 years old, Bianca decided and promised God if He gave her words, she would give Him her voice. She is now a Podcaster, Writer, Preacher, Pastor, and Bible Teacher. Resilience has allowed her to become the person she is today. Even with all the experience she has had of being resilient, she still feels like giving up and quitting. However, her decision of being rooted in the understanding of who God is allows her to get up every time. She reminds herself that the strength to get up during trying times, is not her own, but God's. The neuroplasticity of the human brain allows humans to be able to retrain their brain, just as Bianca retrained hers when she was 10 years old. According to scientific research it is easy to believe and accept negative thoughts, but hard to believe the positive thoughts. Bianca encourages viewers to choose to train their brains with positive thoughts about themselves and the bible; this can equip individuals with the strength they need to get through the toughest trials in their lives. The most powerful thing that one can do for themselves is to choose to retrain their brain. Being resilient calls for having a perspective, the ability to pivot easily, and identify a purpose amid the pain.

Licensed trauma therapist, Dr. Anita Phillips, explains the importance of emotional wellbeing. Emotional pain gives individuals information about what they need. When individuals ignore those needs, individuals become unwell. Emotions are not to be considered problematic. Mental illness is when something in one's body is broken, and it is overthrowing one's volitional mind. According to Dr. Anita Phillips, some practical ways to deal with mental illness include going to therapy and taking medication. Above all, individuals struggling with mental illness should always remember that they are loved by God.

According to Jordan Rubin, it is important for individuals to focus on their gut health because everything from physical beauty to one's joints to their immune system and mental health is governed by what happens in one's digestive tract. Modern science has shown that the bacteria in one's gut govern everything from the body fat one stores to the brain chemicals one produces, to how effective one's immune system is at fighting germs. Scientists have concluded that the body reflects what happens in one's gut. Probiotics are good germs that keep the bad germs at bay. Probiotics make sure that one's body functions properly. They help reduce gas bloating, indigestion constipation, and diarrhea. Probiotics are also great for health conditions such as Crohn's disease, ulcerative colitis, IBS, celiac disease, and Gerd. In his new book, "The Probiotic Diet," Jordan Rubin explains practical ways to improve one's digestion, brain health, and immune system.

Hope is a position of confident expectation that God will deliver His promises. A lot of individuals including youths that are dealing with health issues are tempted to lose their hope because it is so difficult to overcome and see any way out. Toni Collier lost her hope for a happy childhood at the age of eight when her mother had a massive stroke and became paralyzed on her left side. Toni then became the caregiver for her mother. Toni would give her mother medicine and go to doctor appointments with her as a little girl. The promise of having a happy childhood was taken away because she not only dealt with her mother's consistent illnesses, but Toni also lost her virginity at thirteen, started alcohol and drugs at fourteen, and rebelled against her parents. At the age of twenty-four, Toni prayed for joy and woke up feeling hopeful and God began restoring her life. The Better Together Team encourages the youth and any person dealing with illness to continue to believe in the promises of God, even if they aren't seeing them come to pass. Know that any challenges, mistakes, rejections, or circumstances cannot get in the way of what God has promised us.

Gratitude as a natural God-given remedy for anxiety. God promises to turn around ever difficult circumstance we deal with for our good and His glory. God has already provided all the resources we need to live a good life, we only need to ask, believe, and surrender it to God. As a mother, Donna Pisani found it difficult to see her daughter struggling with anxiety and be unable to directly assist her. Her daughter's anxiety became so egregious that it resulted in a panic attack causing her to become catatonic and almost stop breathing. Donna supported her daughter through these panic attacks by connecting her with a therapist. Through her own research, she also discovered natural remedies like exercise, meeting with other people, and being in a community helped alleviate anxiety, but one natural remedy that really surprised her was gratitude. Gratitude causes the brain to produce serotonin and dopamine which provides a sense of well-being, Donna says, "How amazing is God that in the middle of whatever we're walking through, gratefulness is actually a natural healing portion for the pressure and difficult things that we face." Her daughter began a gratitude journal and realized that therapy helped her identify what she was feeling, and Jesus helped her identify what to surrender. According to Philippians 4:6-7 (NIV), it says, "Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ."

Bioharvest Science has a unique technology used identify the cells inside each of the plants that have the important critical phytonutrients. They then take the cells and grow them in massive industrial scale bioreactors and grow the phytonutrients at great solubility. When Rick Heil was 11 years old, he was diagnosed with an illness and as a result had a lot of his intestines removed leaving him with only 3 feet of intestines. Trent Shelton, a global social media influencer and former NFL wide receiver, founded REHAB TIME for the sole purpose of helping youth who experience depression, loss of a loved one, guilt, and/or regret. One mayor event that changed Trent's life was when his college roommate/best friend committed suicide. After undergoing this dark moment in his life, Trent realized his mind, body, and spirit needed rehab. He started focusing on the things that he could control. REHAB TIME stands for "Renewing Every Heart And Body," Trent also defines it as "putting strength back into a weakness." Now having over 11 million followers on social media, he encourages the youth by letting them know that although they can't change their past, they can change their now. Trent states, "Your current situation is not your final destination, so you have to forward-think and look forward in your life. And say 'okay, this is a storm. This is a season. This is a chapter...' but just because you have some bad chapters, you can still turn the page...what you're going through... qualifies you to help other people get through it."

Clifton Davis sits with CEO and President of Samaritan's Purse and Billy Graham Evangelical Association, Franklin Graham, as he shares some of the work that he's doing through his organizations. Since 1970 Samaritan's Purse, a relief agency, has worked in over 170 countries. Since 1993, Samaritan's Purse has also collected shoe boxes filled with gifts for children in need through their program, Operation Christmas Child. Operation Christmas Child is the world's largest Christmas program of its kind, doing all their work in the name of Jesus Christ and sharing God's salvation as they work around the world. Franklin Graham aims to use Evangelism, Discipleship, and Multiplication through Samaritan's Purse' endeavors. Samaritan's Purse asks people to take a shoe box and fill it with items for a child and personalize it for either a boy or girl by adding toy dolls, hair products, toy cars, and soccer balls. Samaritan's Purse also provides a discipleship program for the children called, The Greatest Journey. The Greatest Journey is composed of 12 lessons where they study, test, and memorize scripture. When children complete The Greatest Journey program, they receive a certificate, a bible, and a graduation ceremony with a cap and gown. Around 4.5 million young individuals have graduated and participated in The Greatest Journey program. The hope is that through The Greatest Journey program, children could then share their newly gained biblical understanding to other children and/or their parents, leading them to Christ as well.

Ben Fuller was born and raised born in New Hampshire, Vermont. His father leaned heavily on Ben since he was an only son. At a young age, Ben was taught that men are tough, strong and can't show emotion. Ben just wanted to hear an "I love you" from his father. At the age of 16 years old, Ben came close to committing suicide as he struggled with the thought that nobody loved him. From the outside, Ben appeared to have everything together, but inside he was falling apart. When he was 18 years old, Ben was introduced to cocaine, alcohol and sex trying to fill all the voids he felt inside. In 2017, Ben lost his best friend, Ryan, to heroin overdose. Now, Ben Fuller shares his story of redemption and restoration as he found hope and love in God.

Ike Miller grew up with an alcoholic father. This led to lots of brokenness in Ike's family ultimately leading his parents to get divorced. Ike also experienced abuse as a young boy. Through this chaos, Ike became a people pleaser. An individual who is around an alcoholic can develop codependency; psychologists describe this as a trauma related loss of self (becoming someone else to survive emotionally, mentally, and physically). In his book, "Good Baggage," Ike explains practical ways individuals can find healing from their trauma and past pain.

Jackie Hill Perry shares what it means to be pure for all ages including the youth. Jackie Hill Perry was sexually abused, struggling with sexually confusion, gender confusion, addiction, fatherlessness, rejection, and abandonment. All these seemingly negative things could have potentially made her irredeemable, but God is so faithful that none of those experiences can keep His love from her. Jackie considers herself to be an example of what God does with the church, how He loves us, saves us, creates us, and makes us new people so that we can boast about Him more than we can boast about ourselves.

As a young highschooler, Jamie Ivey wanted to be moral as she strived to obtain approval from God. At 16, Jamie lost her virginity and then continued down that path of sexual immorality. During this time, she believed there was no turning back. It wasn't until she found God, at the age of 21, that Jamie found true freedom and restoration from this sin. It is important for individuals to understand that God loves us and with His help we can overcome any temptation that comes our way.

Donna Pisani was sexually abused as a child by the landlord in her apartment building. When her parents suspected anything, they immediately moved out of the house. This experience began to create a shame narrative in Donna. She was told she was too beautiful to resist and to told not to tell anyone because nobody would believe her. This created in her two lies: 1) she believed beauty was ugly and painful and 2) she believed she didn't have a voice. It wasn't until Donna found God that she learned how to get free from her past and overcome these lies.

Statistics show the rise of depression, anxiety, and loneliness in the youth. To combat this, schools have counselors that can speak with the youth for 6 sessions without having to inform the parent. However, many parents don't trust counselors having social conversations with their children without being consulted. According to Dr. Phil, it is important and necessary for parents to get involved and ask to know about the policy of the schools. In this way, both parents and counselors can work together to help the youth get the help they require.
