During the 4th Quarter of 2023, Millennium Media stations presented public affairs programs addressing the critical needs and problems of this area. Our Public Affairs Features on KYVA AM, KYVA FM, KYAT FM and on KXXI FM, were addressed on two public affairs programs. One is a half hour show hosted by Bob Gourley and is called "Issues Today" broadcast every Sunday morning on stations KYVA AM, KYVA FM, KYAT FM and KXXI FM. The other is a locally produced program called "Impact", covering a wide variety of issues and matters of interest to people of this area, hosted by Sammy C. Chioda, President of Millennium Media.

On KYVA AM, we also air at 7am on Sundays, "Inside New Mexico", formerly "Hello New Mexico" with host, Former Member of Congress Steve Pearce, Derek Lloyd and guests, a conservative viewpoint covering topical issues and policies pertaining to New Mexico, which affect our citizens, providing listeners with a better understanding of the topics including legislative topics and decisions, by breaking down the issues and policies in layman's terms. At 7:30am on Sundays on KYVA AM, we air Tipping Point New Mexico with Paul Gessing, President of the Rio Grande Foundation, a research institute dedicated to increasing liberty and prosperity for all of New Mexico's citizens,...Wally Drangmeister and guests, addressing public policy issues facing New Mexico.

On Navajo language station KYAT, there are a variety of public affairs programs that address issues of significance, and often of unique importance, to Navajos and the Navajo Nation, beyond what we regularly have scheduled. One such program is locally produced and hosted by Navajo Female Announcer Juliana Livingston on KYAT. She interviews public figures mostly in the Navajo language. The variety of public affairs programs on KYAT include national news, and local information. Weather is of considerable importance to the people of this area as commute distances are much longer than in most parts of the United States, and road conditions are important to know about. Local sports and especially rodeos are of high interest amongst Navajo People and are featured in news and special reports daily on KYAT. In addition, KYAT broadcasts information of special importance to its listeners such as Traditional announcements, Chapter House Meetings, funeral announcements, revival announcements, matters of importance to school children and their parents, and also information on Navajo Social Song & Dance events and Pow Wow and Gourd Dance announcements.

A summary of each Issues Today program aired on all stations, is included in this report, and includes the name of the guest, the date aired and length of the show, the issues covered, and a brief description of the subject matter discussed. Summaries of each of Impact and Ms. Livingston's added interviews (KYAT FM) are also attached.

The subjects generally discussed with newsmakers include health issues with spokespersons from Rehoboth McKinley Christian Hospital; education and youth issues with the Gallup-McKinley County School Board, Superintendent and School Principals, as well as the UNM-Gallup Campus and Middle College; public safety and local government issues with the Gallup City Council and the McKinley County Commission; and law enforcement and prosecutorial issues in McKinley County with New Mexico State Police representatives. Reports and interviews on public safety issues are conducted with representatives of the Gallup Police and Fire Departments as well as the Sheriff's and New Mexico State Police as they pertain to breaking news.

Weather is a major factor in the Gallup area, as are road conditions. All Millennium Media stations broadcast weather reports twice per hour, every hour of the day, and road conditions are either reported as well or listeners are referred to the State of Arizona and New Mexico Department of Transportation information services.

Interviews with U.S. Senators, Members of Congress, the State Legislature and the Navajo Nation and Zuni Leadership are featured from time to time, on Millennium Media's public affairs programming.

KYVA, KYVA FM, KYAT FM and KXXI FM broadcast "The Chamber Minute" hosted by the Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce of Gallup-McKinley County. This one-minute public affairs program is broadcast multiple times every day on each station. It gives news of legislation the Chamber is supporting, viewpoints on local issues, matters of importance to local business, and information on what is taking place in Gallup-McKinley County and its business community, in addition to including information regarding Gallup MainStreet and its position in revitalizing Downtown, Gallup.

Millennium Media also airs an ongoing campaign on 'Safety', covering all aspects of the topic. The daily aired messages, called "The Millennium Media Safety Minute" on KYVA FM, KXXI FM, KYAT FM and KYVA AM features Jon Pairett, Gallup Fire Department Fire Chief. This one-minute public affairs program is broadcast multiple times every day on each station. It covers safety at home and how to deal with fire, fire alarms, smoke alarms, preventative maintenance around the home and office, obtaining complimentary smoke alarms from the Gallup Fire Department, firework safety during special times of the year, dealing with propane and how it could affect outdoor grilling, fireplace safety during cold months, awareness of going on the roof to do repair work during nice months of the year and taking safety precautions with a ladder, fire safety in general, how to deal with emergencies and so on,...subtle and basic information making area people aware of 'Safety First', at all times for Family, home, work and while driving.

Millennium Media also has an ongoing campaign pertaining to the Octavia Fellin Public Library, "The Millennium Media Library Minute" featuring lead personnel of the Library. The Library is utilized by 30,000 citizens from Gallup and our Area. Technology plays a major part of the Library reaching out, while providing local citizens Library services. These messages share vital information with local citizens pertaining to all aspects of the Library. The one-minute public affairs program is broadcast multiple times every day on each station, providing messages to all citizens, all ages and, all cultures. Constant information is provided to our stations by the Library in getting information out to the listening audience.

Millennium Media also initiated a campaign pertaining to the McKinley County Extension Office,....with the "County Extension Minute", with Kathy Landers, McKinley County Extension Agent and Tribal Agriculture Agent, Bud Lopez. Ms. Lander's and Mr. Lopez's segments focuses on farming, ranching, livestock, New Mexico State University Tribal Extension Programs, 4-H Programs, home economics, master gardening and more. The one-minute public affairs program is broadcast multiple times every day on each station, providing general information, upcoming events and more.

For Sixty Four Years, KYVA AM has broadcast church services every Sunday morning from First Baptist Church. The regular program has been a half hour in length, and expanded to one-hour on October, 2020, going forward.

KYVA AM broadcasts once a month a half hour program entitled "Money and You" hosted by Sammy C. Chioda and Tommy Haws, Officer of Pinnacle Bank in Gallup. This program gives information on lending, economic issues, budgeting and consumer issues, and financial planning amongst other topics.
