The listed programs aired on the station during the reporting period on the days and times indicated. Each program regularly provides information or addresses current local issues of concern to viewers in the area where the station is located.

LOCAL ISSUES ADDRESSED DURING THE QUARTER

The following are local issues of concern to the community. Programs that addressed these issues during this reporting period are listed on the following pages.

Local Issue/Concern and Brief Description

Section 8 Vouchers

Housing vouchers, formerly called "Section 8 vouchers," are one of the most common ways tax dollars help lower-income Americans avoid homelessness. Here in DC, the Housing Authority (DCHA) says more than 10,000 families take advantage of that program. Rents vary throughout the city. In neighborhoods like Georgetown, a housing voucher recipient can rent a one-bedroom apartment for about $2,600, according to DCHA. But, too often advocates say doors that should be open are slammed shut by landlords who won't accept the vouchers. WUSA 9 investigates and brings attention to the "Section 8 voucher" problems and issues.

Stop and Frisk

Washington, DC is a city that is changing. The city's African-American population is down from 71% in the 1970's to just 47% in the most recent U.S. Census.

Despite changing numbers in DC, African-Americans still make up a huge majority of those stopped by DC Police. This is an issue DC Police leaders do not dispute.

In our past reporting, DC Police acknowledge they sometimes stop and frisk innocent people, many of them African-Americans, in an effort to get criminals off the street.

The WUSA 9 Special Assignment Unit began researching this topic in August 2017 and continue to report on various facets of this important issue today.

Hurricane Preparedness

As Hurricane Florence approached the Atlantic Coast of the United States in mid-September 2018, WUSA 9 began creating content that would prepare our viewers for the potential coastal storm surge, inland flooding, and strong winds. Some of the topics covered to educate viewers included: How to buy and operate a generator in the event power went out for an extended period of time, what can happen to a vehicle that drives through a flooded road, who was under evacuation orders in Virginia, how homeowners insurance policies don't cover flooding and you go about buying it, ways to help Florence refugees from the Carolinas and how to adopt pets rescued from the floods.

WUSA 9 also held a Hurricane Florence Help Desk Phone Bank for our viewers over a 3-day period. Viewers could call our volunteers to get answers to their questions about the storm's path, possible damage, shelter information and how to reach loved ones in Florence's path.

Neighborhood Heroes

Starting in July 2018, each week WUSA 9 tells the story of someone doing something positive in their community. Many times, these people go above and beyond to make their neighborhoods a better place, while never getting any recognition for it. The people who are featured in this segment are dedicated to their communities and helping those who may not be able to help themselves. Every Tuesday morning, WUSA 9 reporter Marcella Robertson tells the stories of these people and their mission.

Section 8 Vouchers

September 18, 2018 (11pm/5:26 length)

Advocates to DC Landlords: Stop Telling Section 8 Voucher Holders, 'No.'

In this story WUSA 9 explains DC law lists "Source of Income" with other protected classes such as race, gender identity and disability. This means landlords can never advertise or say they don't accept vouchers.

We spoke with one woman who ran into landlords throughout the District who told her to look elsewhere to rent when she mentioned she would be using a housing voucher. Landlords told her the process to rent to voucher holders was too onerous, including the certification and inspection process. Others asked her to prove an income so high she wouldn't need a voucher.

Kate Scott, who oversees the fair housing unit at a non-profit called the Equal Rights Center, told us that the voucher holder should have only been asked to prove she could pay for whatever her voucher wouldn't cover, rather than the entire rent.

In this story WUSA 9 reached out to the contacts of some rental ads who refused to take people with vouchers. Three people called us back and indicated they were unaware of the law. Two people offered to change their ads, and did. Another said he didn't know it was illegal and apologized.

HUD Secretary Ben Carson Talks About Landlords Refusing Housing Vouchers

"You know, I knew it was happening, but I didn't realize to that extent," US Department of Housing and Urban Development Secretary Ben Carson told WUSA 9 about landlords refusing to accept housing vouchers. "My first reaction was we have to do something about this."

In this story WUSA 9 reported on a first-of-its-kind study being done by HUD on the subject. The study shows landlords often say no to renters with a housing voucher.

The agency sponsored the report conducted by the Urban Institute in which researchers collected data from areas around Los Angeles, Fort Worth, Philadelphia, Newark and metro-DC.

Researchers found landlords in the Fort Worth area denied vouchers 78% of the time, while Washington, DC and Montgomery County landlords denied vouchers about 15% of the time-the best performance in the study. But not good enough, as WUSA 9 reported. That number should be zero.

To get that number to zero here in the DC area, and across the country, Secretary Carson told WUSA 9 adding changes to the system could help. Such as relaxing some regulations for landlords, such as home inspections, to make it easier and faster for landlords to utilize vouchers.

September 20, 2018 (5pm/4:10 length)

DC Woman Takes On Landlords Who Discriminated Against Her

In this story WUSA 9 profiled Erica Leathers. She was accepted into DC's housing voucher program this past spring. She is a single mother with a 10-year-old daughter. All she wanted was a home for her little girl.

But 13 landlords throughout the District told her they wouldn't accept her voucher. Leathers turned from heartbroken to angry when she learned in the District the emails she got, turning her down, were illegal. That's because source of income is a protected class in DC, just like race or disability. Landlords can never advertise or say they won't accept a voucher, for any reason. DC law doesn't demand landlords with three or fewer properties, nor landlords who live in the home, rent to voucher holders, but even they can't use discriminatory language.

Now Erica is filing multiple complaints with DC's Office of Human Rights against the landlords who shunned her.

HUD Voucher Study Released Publicly

In this report the US Department of Housing and Urban Development formally released their study on which cities did best and worst when it came to accepting housing vouchers.

Researchers for the Urban Institute, who conducted the study, revealed data from a nearly 5-year study showing landlords are denying vouchers regularly. In a lengthy report, researchers described site surveys in five areas surrounding Los Angeles, Fort Worth, Philadelphia, Newark and Washington, DC. The data showed the denial rate for the Fort Worth-area was the highest at 78 percent. Los Angeles-area landlords denied 76 percent of testers; Philadelphia-area landlords denied 67 percent of testers; Newark-area landlords denied 30 percent of testers, and Washington DC and Montgomery County landlords denied 15 percent of testers.

The report showed landlords in low-poverty areas were less likely to accept vouchers. However, in Washington DC and Montgomery County, the difference between voucher denials in low-poverty and high-poverty areas was minimal.

She pointed out the low denial rates in metro-D.C. are likely due to two factors: rental rates vary by neighborhood in DC and both areas have laws banning discrimination based on vouchers.

We also announced in our reporting, HUD is launching a nationwide task force to speak directly with landlords. Over the next several weeks, federal officials will collect anecdotal data from landlords they're seeking to bring or keep in the housing voucher program.

HUD Secretary Ben Carson is already considering rolling back regulations to open up the market. "I think if we relax a lot of those regulations at the local level, it's going to make a huge difference," he told WUSA 9.

Stop and Frisk

July 12, 2018 (12noon/3:12 length)
DC Council Hearing

On this day the DC City Council was holding 2 hearings. At noon the hearing was in their council chambers talking with leaders in DC law enforcement about their stop and frisk policies. Especially when it came to 2 incidents in the Deanwood community that WUSA 9 reported on extensively in months past. One incident is when a man claimed he was illegally and intrusively searched in 2017. The other where a group of men claimed they were illegally harassed by police and then illegally searched while sitting outside of a DC barber shop earlier in 2018. WUSA 9 carried this hearing live during the noon show and reported from it.

In this noon hearing the DC Police Chief said for the very first time the 2017 search was not acceptable, the officer had been removed from the particular unit he was serving in at the time, and that he, the Chief, had taken action against the officer; but would not say what kind of action.

July 12, 2018 (5pm & 7pm shows/4:12 at 5pm/3:47 at 7pm)
Deanwood Town Hall

On this day, in the afternoon, the DC City Council held a town hall hearing in the community of Deanwood-where residents were concerned about police stop and frisk activities in their community. We reported live from the town hall and talked with residents and council members about their concerns.

In our reporting this day, we reported about the Police Chief admitting earlier in the day that one of his officers was wrong in the stop and frisk incident he did in 2017. That the officer had been removed from the unit he was in at the time and action was taken against the officer. During our 5pm report, we were able to talk with the man who was stopped and frisked in this incident.

We also reported that the DC Police Department has failed to follow a critical part of a two year old law known as the NEAR Act, designed to better track stop and frisk in the District to protect against racial bias by officers.

July 12, 2018 (11pm/4:28 length)
Deanwood Town Hall

We summarized and reported on the town hall hearings held earlier in the day at the DC City Council with DC law enforcement about stop and frisk procedures. Plus the town hall with residents later in the afternoon in the Deanwood community who are upset about police practices.

In the morning DC Police Chief Peter Newsham was grilled by DC Council members over his officer's treatment of young African-American men and women in Wards 7 and 8.

Newsham was specifically pressed on cell phone video of an incident we first brought to light months ago, as part of our year-long series "DC Police: Stop and Frisk."

And for the first time, the Chief says the officer in that video was wrong.

The video which we first reported on back in May was recorded in 2017 on Atlantic Street in Southwest D.C. In it a DC police officer can be seen searching the subject so intrusively.

As we first reported, that police officer claimed in an incident report that he was searching the man for drugs. But did not find any.

In our past reporting, Police Chief Peter Newsham has refused to answer our questions about whether that search was appropriate and by the book.

But on this morning, under pressure from DC Council member Trayon White, the Chief finally admitted the search not acceptable. And that the Chief had taken action against the officer.

We tried to ask the Chief after the hearing what kind of discipline the officer faced for what we saw on camera.

Newsham refused to answer the question.

ACLU Lawsuit

Following WUSA 9's reporting on the incident of a DC police officer intrusively searching a man back in 2017-where there is video of the search-the ACLU filed a lawsuit against the Metropolitan Police Department Officer Sean Lojacono, the officer who did the search. The suit claims the search was unconstitutional and exceedingly invasive without a warrant, reasonable suspicion or probable cause. We reported on this suit - that came to light because of our reporting. We also did the first sit down one-on-one interview with the man searched, MB Cottingham.

August 17, 2018 (5pm/3:57 length)
Police Body Cam Video

For months WUSA 9 has been asking for the police body cam video from 2 controversial stop and frisk incidents in Northeast DC. So has the ACLU. On this night we reported we may be one step closer to finally seeing the body cam footage. Those incidents led to accusations DC police officers violated resident's constitutional rights and provoked angry clashes with people in the Deanwood Community.

The ACLU District of Columbia received a ruling from the city, overturning the police department's decision not to release that body cam footage. All this came just weeks after the Mayor said she would not release that body cam video...despite calls from a number of civil rights organizations to do so.

What will we see on the other side of these cameras? It's the question the DC Police Department has been unwilling to answer. Now, they may be forced to.

September 17, 2018 (5pm/3:32 length)
Firing of Officer

After months of reporting by WUSA 9 about a DC Police officer's invasive search of a man in Northeast DC, the DC Police Department is trying to fire the officer at the center of a controversial stop and frisk we first brought to light back in February. And now that officer, Sean Lojacono, has asked for an appeal hearing to try and keep his job.

Markette Sheppard and Kristen Berset-Harris interview Seth Kaplan of Airline Weekly about how air travel is impacted from hurricanes or other weather-related disasters. Not just from flights getting cancelled that are headed to the affected area, but how does weather affect those that may be flying through or around a storm. What questions to ask regarding air travel during a natural disaster, and what your rights are as a flyer if your travel is impacted.

September 14, 2018 (9am/4:00 length)

Markette Sheppard and Kristen Berset-Harris interview Kris Kiser from the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute about the right equipment to have to protect your home and family from the aftermath of a natural disaster. These items include an electric chainsaw, a water pump and a generator. Another important topic is safety when it comes to generators. Generators are more portable now which also means they are easier to steal. It's important to keep the generator outside, a good distance from the house, and use a chain to protect it from theft.

Haircuts for the Homeless

Marcella Robertson told the story of Laura Reed, a hair stylist who dedicates all of her free time to helping the homeless. On her days off, Reed goes out in different areas in DC, Maryland and Virginia to give free haircuts to the homeless. She has been doing this for five years and has received great feedback and support from the community and those she helps. Along with the free haircuts, she also brings along supplies for the homeless.

Alternative Baseball

Taylor Duncan was just 18 months when doctors diagnosed him with autism. He loved baseball and played for years. It wasn't until a coach discovered he had autism and no longer allowed him to play on the team. Determined to play, Duncan created his own team. It grew from a small team, to more than 20 teams across the country, dedicated to kids with autism. The latest team just started over the summer in Loudon County, Virginia.

Surfers Healing

Each year, dozens of surfers from all around the world come to Ocean City, Maryland to help create a special day. They teach kids with autism to surf. The surfers claim the water is healing and calming and that is the reason they are able to teach the kids so easily. Within minutes, many of the kids are on the water surfing with little to no help. The event is for the kids, but also for the parents who are surrounded by people in similar situations.

Buddy the Boxer

Marcella Robertson interviewed a local man who owns a popular boxing gym. He helps kids who otherwise may not have the funds to afford boxing, learn how to fight. That dedication sparked the attention of the community. Every day bags of clothes are donated for the students and whoever needs them. With too much clothes to hand out to just his students, every week he heads down to a park in DC and gives clothes and shoes to the homeless.

Guns Down DC

A group of teens tired of all the gun violence in their community, decided to make a change. They produced a song that has been spread throughout their neighborhoods, asking people to put the guns down. In the song, they ask their peers to find peaceful ways to settle disagreements. The teens felt compelled to write the song after a 10-year old girl, Makiyah Wilson, was shot and killed in July on the playground by a stray bullet. Many of the teens have also been impacted by gun violence in one way or another.

48 HOURS

07/07/18

48 HOURS: “Red Notice For Murder” - a report on the international search conducted by Nadia Ford and private detective Herman Weisberg for Viktoria Nasyrova, a Russian woman suspected of the 2014 murder of Ford’s mother, Alla Aleksenko, in her Russian hometown and of stealing her money and other valuables. Nasyrova was believed to be the last person to see her alive. When Aleksenko vanished, Ford went to Russia where she spent several months unraveling the mystery of what happened to her mother. Her investigation led to the discovery of a traffic cam video of Nasyrova driving with Aleksenko’s body in the front seat of the rental car. Nasyrova fled the country when she found herself with a Red Notice on Interpol’s list of most wanted fugitives. Later, to Ford’s disbelief, she discovered Nasyrova was living in Brooklyn, NY, just blocks away from her own home. After the NYPD could not locate her, Ford enlisted former police officer and private detective Herman Weisberg to continue the search. He hit paydirt - discovering Nasyrova was continuing her life of crime with several other victims, from a man who met her on a dating site, to a woman with similar looks who believes she was out to kill her and steal her identity. He closely examined her online life and was able to track the alleged killer down. Police arrested her. She remains in custody. Original on-screen text graphic: Viktoria Nasyrova has been in jail for 7 months. She will stand trial in New York for her alleged crimes. Russia will then formally request Viktoria Nasyrova be sent back to stand trial for the murder of Nadia’s mother. On-screen text graphic for the 07/07/18 rebroadcast: Viktoria Nasyrova has been in jail since March 2017. 48 HOURS: “The Widow on Solway Road” – an investigation into the murder case against Raynella Leath for the death of her second husband, David Leath, who was found shot dead in his marital bed, the trial, and the mysterious death of the widow’s first husband, Ed Dossett, originally classified as an agricultural accident. Raynella and Ed Dossett were a power couple in Knoxville, Tennessee, where Dossett was the Knox County District Attorney General. Tragedy befell them, when Ed was diagnosed with terminal cancer; he then died in a freak accident on the family farm. Six months later, Raynella married David Leath, the local barber. After Leath’s death, the wheels of justice moved slowly, and Leath’s daughter, Cindy Wilkerson, filed a civil suit against Raynella. Prosecutors took notice and interest was revived in Dossett’s death. One theory was that Dossett’s unusual death was more about insurance money than cancer. His medical records were reviewed and the cause of death was ruled to be a morphine overdose. In 2009, Raynella went on trial for David Leath’s death but the jury deadlocked. In the second trial, she was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life in prison. After six years, the conviction was tossed out, because the judge was revealed to have been impaired by drug addiction. In 2017, fourteen years after Leath’s death, a third trial begins, but before the jury has a chance to deliberate, Judge Paul Summers (soon to be retiring), grants an acquittal (not guilty), dismissing the case; saying that prosecution had not met its case. Under Tennessee law, there is no appeal. Prosecutors are stunned. Jurors believe that, had they deliberated, they would have convicted her. Information also came to light about her trying to murder another man, Steve Walker, who had found out that his wife had given birth to Ed Dossett’s biological child. Raynella Leath is a free woman. On-screen text graphic for the original broadcast and the 07/14/18 rebroadcast: Prosecutors intend to file a petition to exhume the body of Raynella’s first husband, Ed Dossett, to gather more evidence. They will decide whether to review charges against her for his death. Raynella has moved back to the farm outside Knoxville on Solway Road. Interviewed: Diane Fanning (author); Cindy Wilderson (Leath’s daughter); Beth Roberts (Leath’s cousin); Steve Crump (prosecutor); Rebecca LeGrand and Josh Hedrick (defense attorneys); Dr. Greg Davis (Kentucky state medical examiner/defense consulting doctor); Steve Walker (intended victim); Paul Summers (trial judge, now retired); Michael Persicano, Jesse Caps, William McMichael (jurors) (C: Erin Moriarty – P: Josh Gaynor, Lisa Freed) (OAD: 09/30/17)

48 HOURS: "Moment of Truth" – an investigation into the death of Patrick Gilhuley, a retired NYPD officer and former bodyguard to stars Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt. Gilhuley died at the Mount Olive, NJ home of his on-again, off-again girlfriend, schoolteacher Virginia Vertetis. On the night of March 3, 2014, Gilhuley placed a series of frantic calls to his daughter; she heard shots, and within minutes of those calls, he was dead. When police arrived, Vertetis at first lied about an intruder, then said she shot Gilhuley in self-defense. What got Gilhuley and Vertetis to this point is at the center of this complicated case. She claimed he was going to kill her and she shot him in self-defense, but lied about an intruder in the house to police. The prosecution maintains Gilhuley was murdered because her life was falling apart and he was leaving her for another woman. A broken storm door takes center stage during the trial – she claimed the glass broke as Gilhuley slammed it shut. Forensic tests disprove this – bullets from the gun shattered the glass. One of his daughters testified that the murder weapon was Gilhuley's police revolver that was last seen at his house in Staten Island. The prosecution believes Vertetis stole the gun from the house. Vertetis takes the stand to tell her side of the story. After seven hours of deliberation the verdict is guilty of first degree murder. On-screen text graphic for the original broadcast and the 07/21/18 rebroadcast: Virginia's daughter and son did not attend the trial or sentencing. Her mother says Virginia did not want them to see her that way. Interviewed: Ed Bilinkas and Sara McArdle (defense attorneys); Jim Faulkner (third husband); Matt Troiano (prosecutor); Jim Molinaro (forensics expert); Jennifer Gilhuley (daughter); Patti Meudt, John Hoover, Gina Samara (jurors). 07/28/18

48 HOURS: "Death and the Dentist" (9:00 – 10:00p) – an updated rebroadcast of "Death and the Dentist" (OAD: 09/17/16), which includes an exclusive interview with Kingston, New York dentist Gilberto Nunez, who faces second-degree murder charges for the death of his lover's husband, Thomas Kolman, the case against him, and the secrets exposed during the homicide investigation. In 2011, Thomas Kolman was found dead by his wife, Linda, in his car outside of a gym he frequented. At first, no foul play was suspected; Kolman suffered from sleep apnea and was slightly obese. However, the medical examiner found an unusual drug in Tom's system -- midazolam -- a sedative sometimes used by those in the dental profession, and the death was ruled a homicide. Further investigation revealed that his best friend, Dr. Gilberto Nunez, was having an affair with his wife, Linda Kolman. Nunez told police Kolman knew about it and was fine with it. There were hundreds of text messages between all the parties, including some where Nunez impersonated other people. Even the name of the CIA was dragged into the case through a fake ID. It took four years for prosecutors to charge Nunez with second-degree murder and forgery. Nunez hired two top New York City defense attorneys who presented a very different scenario, saying Tom Kolman died of natural causes, insisting this was a murder case without a murder. The verdict: Nunez was acquitted of the murder charges and found guilty on the forgery charges. The Kolman family was unhappy with the verdict. Some former jurors were interviewed and were adamant that there were too many unanswered questions to prove the murder charges. Update for the 04/08/17 rebroadcast: In 2017, Nunez was sentenced for the forgery, insurance fraud and perjury convictions. He will spend the next two to seven years in prison. The Kolman family finds some comfort in knowing that he is behind bars. Original on-screen text graphic: Gilberto Nunez is expected to be sentenced on his forgery related charges later this year. On-screen text graphic for the 04/08/17 rebroadcast: As part of Gilberto Nunez's sentence, he was ordered to have no communication with Linda Kolman. A New York State review board is deciding if Nunez's dental license will be revoked. On-screen text graphic for the 07/28/18 rebroadcast: As part of Gilberto Nunez's sentence, he was ordered to have no communication with Linda Kolman. In May 2018, Gilberto Nunez was granted parole. His earliest release date is September 10, 2018. The New York State review board revoked Nunez's license to practice dentistry. 07/28/18

48 HOURS: "Murder In Pinyon Pines" (10:00 - 11:00p) – an updated rebroadcast on the investigation into the triple murders and the long quest for justice for Vicki Friedli, her boyfriend Jon Hayward, and Vicki's daughter Becky Friedli. In 2006, in Pinyon Pines, California, Friedli and her boyfriend were shot dead and their house set on fire. Outside the home, investigators found the charred remains of Becky Friedli, in a wheelbarrow. She was burned so badly, they could not determine how she died. Retired policeman Ron Friedli, Vicki's ex-husband and Becky's father, had a theory about what happened: Becky was deathly afraid of fire and he suspected she knew her killer. Police searched for clues but the case went cold. Years later, Luis Bolanos, a private investigator and a former colleague of Ron's, asked if he could get involved; he said he could get the case back in the news. He did just that. Seven years after the murders, police arrested Becky's ex-boyfriend Robert Pape and his best friend Christian Smith and charged them with murder. Their families say they are innocent. But an unexpected courtroom twist turned the case upside down. The District Attorney said there was an "issue" in the grand jury proceedings against Pape, and dropped the charges against them both. However, it may not be completely over; the investigation continues. Original on-screen text graphic: A new DA was sworn in last week. He says he will review the case "with an open mind". Christian Smith has been honorably discharged from the Army. On-screen text graphic for the 08/01/15 rebroadcast: A new DA was sworn in in January. He said he will review the case "with an open mind." Christin Smith has been honorably discharged from the Army. Epilogue for the 07/28/18 updated rebroadcast: In June 2016, stating new evidence, the police re-arrested Robert Pape and Christian Smith. In January 2018, they said they had a fingerprint match. In April 2018, almost twelve years after the murders, the trial began. After one month of testimony and ten days of deliberation, the jury reached a verdict: Robert Pape and Christian Smith were found guilty of the first-degree murders of Vicki Friedli and John Hayward. Pape was also found guilty of the second degree murder of Becky Friedli. On-screen text graphic for the 07/28/18 updated rebroadcast: Robert Pape, 30, and Christian Smith, 29, face life without parole. Their sentencing is next month. Robert and Sara Pape were divorced at the end of 2015. Interviewed: Tanya Friedli, Drew Friedli, Ron Friedli (Becky's sisters and father); Katie Hayward (Hayward's daughter); Daniela Zermeno (Becky's cousin); Luis Bolanos (private investigator); Kathleen Pape and Christy Pape (mother and sister of Robert Pape); John Conrad Smith (Smith's father); Brandon Kugler-Harrison (friend of Pape and Smith); Richard Blumenfeld (Pape attorney); Eduardo Roy (attorney for Becky's friend Javier Garcia Junior) (Correspondent: Troy Roberts; Correspondents for the 07/28/18 updated rebroadcast: Troy Roberts, Maureen Maher (Introduction & Epilogue) – Producers: Lourdes Aguiar, Peter Shaw) (OAD: 01/17/15; 1st Rebroadcast: 08/01/15)

CBS RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL SPECIAL

07/01/18

7/8/18

6-6:30am

"Reclaiming History: A Movement for Equality" - an interfaith special that looks at the role of faith in the lives of African-American women and the way it invigorates the fight for justice in black communities. African-American women are among the most deeply religious groups in America and it has been said that the black church is an institution of women. They lead Sunday school, sing in the church choir and run the local soup kitchen. This special focuses on how faith and spirituality sustain African-American women, as they confront systemic racism, sexism and oppression through the ballot box. Among those featured are: (1) Rev. Dr. Yolanda Pierce, dean of Howard University School of Divinity and professor of African-American religion and literature, discusses how faith has played a role in black women's lives since the days of slavery and why it is an important part of who they are today. (2) Rev. Traci Blackmon, executive minister of justice and local church ministries for the United Church of Christ (UCC) and senior pastor of Christ The King United Church of Christ in Florissant, MO. She shares her experiences as a national faith leader and as one of the local pastors who provided pastoral care in the wake of the death of Michael Brown in Ferguson, MO in 2014. (3) Tammy Fournier Alsaada is a community organizer and co-founder of the "People's Justice Project", a faith-based, grassroots community outreach organization, in Columbus, Ohio. It is spearheading a voter registration effort leading up to the 2018 midterm elections. Through political advocacy, the group wants to bring an end to excessive police violence and curb the disproportionate number of people of color who are incarcerated. Fournier Alsaada discusses the group's efforts and their work to educate minority populations about their rights as citizens. (Narrator: Rolland Smith. Producer & Writer: Elizabeth Kineke. Associate Producer: Jennie Kamin. Director & Senior Executive Producer: John P. Blessington. Produced in consultation with Interfaith organizations, clergy, and Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, Islamic, and Sikh scholars.)

Please note that WUSA aired the above religious special on Sunday, 7/8/18 from 6-6:30am on a 7 day DB.

08/04/18

48 HOURS: "The Evidence Room" (9:00-11:00p) – An exploration of the sometimes emotional and occasionally frustrating preparations that go on behind closed doors before a jury ever walks into a courtroom as detailed in two cases prepared by The Evidence Room, a company run by CBS News Consultant Scott Roder. The Evidence Room prepares visual representations, made by cutting-edge forensic animators for either the defense or the prosecution and they may play a significant part in the trial or they may not, depending on the legal strategies the teams choose to take. As detailed in two cases, Roder and his team prepare analysis as detailed: 1) the murder cases against Colleen McKernan, charged with shooting her husband, Robert McKernan ten times on New Year's Eve in 2014. Her attorneys claimed it was self-defense and hired Roder to create visual representations of her story. The Evidence Room staff re-created the crime scene to prove the defense theory. As the case went to trial and testimony progressed, the prosecution had the re-creation excluded from the trial. The defense focused on battered woman syndrome and Colleen took the stand to testify. The verdict: a mistrial. At the second trial, with a new defense team, Roder presented some of the animation to the jury, but the result was the same – a mistrial. On March 17, 2017, a resolution was reached in the case: in a plea offer, McKernan pleaded guilty to one count of voluntary manslaughter. 2) in a civil suit, The Cochran Firm client Emmanuel Bracy was left partially incapacitated and in a wheelchair, after being shot by Los Angeles Police detectives. Bracy was the suspect in a string of robberies and police used Vehicle Containment Technology to capture him. Three of the four detectives claimed he had a gun, and a shootout resulted. Bracy was severely injured. Bracy pled guilty to the crime, but that did not stop him from seeking justice. After the shootout, Bracy and the car suffered heavy damage, but there was no gun in plain sight, although one was found wrapped in a cloth, hidden inside an air conditioning vent in the dashboard. The Evidence Room was hired to prove that the gun that was found was not used by Bracy. They re-created the entire scene with cars, guns and ammunition. In the end, after all the time and effort, the jury never saw the presentation. The state's forensic expert was not able to testify, and Roder, as a rebuttal expert on the case was not able to either. After nine days of testimony, the jury returned a judgement in favor of the LAPD. On-screen text graphic: Colleen McKernan is currently serving her sentence at the Ohio Reformatory for Women. She could be released as early as September 2020, by a judge's decision based on her behavior in prison. Interviewed. 48 HOURS: "Death on Valentine's Day" – a retitled and updated rebroadcast of "What Did the Children See?" (OAD: 02/20/16), focusing on Curtis Lovelace, a former Quincy, Illinois prosecutor on trial for the second time, for the February 14, 2006 murder of his wife, Corey Lovelace. The main question in this case is the cause of Cory Lovelace's death -- alcohol abuse or murder. Lovelace was an All-American high school athlete who went on to become a prosecutor who seemed to have everything including a successful career and a loving family. On Valentine's Day 2006, Lovelace returned home after dropping his children off at school to find his wife dead. After an investigation, the cause of death was never determined and the case was closed. Eight years later, in 2014, a Quincy detective reopened the case. This investigation determined the cause of death as suffocation. Lovelace was arrested and charged with murder. The case hinged on two things – science and the testimony of the Lovelace children. The first trial resulted in a hung jury and a mistrial was declared. Lovelace has remarried twice since he wife's death. At the time of the second trial, the family was and still is deeply divided: daughter Lyndsey Lovelace has not spoken to her family since Lovelace's arrest and is moving on with her life. His first ex-wife Erika Gomez was a witness at the second trial. Following the second trial, more than ten years after his wife's death, Curtis Lovelace walked out a free man after being found not guilty. Original on-screen text graphic: Lovelace's new trial date is scheduled for May 31st. Curtis Lovelace's bail was set at five million dollars. He remains in jail. On-screen text graphic for the 03/18/17 Rebroadcast: Christine Lovelace adopted Curtis' three sons. Lyndsay was already 18 years old. Christine and Curtis are undecided if they will return to live in Quincy. On-screen text graphic for 08/11/18 Rebroadcast: Christine Lovelace adopted Curtis' three sons. Lyndsay was already eighteen years old. Christine Lovelace filed a federal civil rights lawsuit against Quincy police and Adams County officials. He claims he was denied due process and constitutional rights and was the subject of malicious prosecution. Interviewed: Bob Goush (journalist); Marty Didriksen (Cory Lovelace's mother); Steve Belko, Beth Dobrzynski (Cory Lovelace's friends); Lyndsay Lovelace (daughter); Cole Miller (EMT); James Keller (Deputy Coroner); Adam Gibson (Quincy detective); Dr. Jane Turner (Asst. 08/18/18

48 HOURS: "Death on the Hudson" (9:00 – 10:00p) – a revised and updated rebroadcast on the case against Angelika Graswald, who has been charged with killing her fiancé Vincent Viafore, during a kayaking trip on the Hudson River in April 2015. New information and evidence may prove there was no murder. Ten days after Viafore's death, Graswald was questioned by police for approximately 11 hours, then arrested for murder in the second degree. Investigators maintain Graswald killed Viafore for financial gain after their relationship soured. Her defense team argues his death was a boating accident. The case is examined through interviews with legal experts, friends of the couple and an examination of key evidence in the case. 07/29/17 Epilogue: After years of proclaiming her innocence, Graswald pleaded guilty to criminally negligent homicide. The Orange County District Attorney explained the decision to downgrade the charges, saying it would be difficult to prove intent, even though she did admit to pulling the plug from the kayak. Pulling the plug would only cause death when combined with a number of other factors. This plea spares her a possible twenty-five years to life prison term; with time served, she could be on parole by the end of the year. Epilogue for the 08/18/18 revised and updated rebroadcast: On December 21, 2017, Angelika Graswald was released on parole. She had served less than 32 months behind bars. Her future is uncertain; when her parole is completed, she could be deported back to Latvia. Original On-screen text graphic: Angelika has been in jail for more than four months. Her trial is expected in Spring 2016. 48 HOURS: "Grapes of Wrath" (10:00 – 11:00p) – a report about the 2015 showdown between two millionaires, Robert Dahl and Emad Tawfilis, whose bitter money dispute over a Napa Valley winery business ended in murder. Entrepreneur Robert Dahl was drawn from Minnesota to the Napa Valley wine scene, while wealthy Silicon Valley businessman Emad Tawfilis wanted to be an investor in the lucrative wine business. Dahl invested in two failed businesses -- the first with Dominic Foppoli; and the second with local business couple Greg and Francine Knittel. Dahl still always had money. Dahl eventually partnered with Emad Tawfilis, which also failed. After hiring a private investigator, Tawfilis filed a lawsuit, hoping to get his money back. Dahl and Tawfilis met at the vineyard where they consulted their attorneys via a conference call. They then decided to talk privately. Something went drastically wrong, resulting in Tawfilis running through the vineyard while being shot at by Dahl. Tawfilis managed to call 911. Police arrived at the scene to find him shot in the head. Dahl tried to escape, but after a chase, committed suicide. They found other articles in his truck that suggested he had other victims in mind. On-screen text graphic: Dahl's wife and kids still live in California wine country. The grapes on the old Dahl vineyard were harvested last fall. The property is for sale. Interviewed: Dominic Foppoli (Napa Valley businessman); Lew Perdue (tech entrepreneur/wine writer); Francine and Greg Knittel (Napa Valley business couple); Myles Davis (electrician who worked for Dahl); Jonathan Kesselman (film director/Tawfilis friend); Steve Burch (winemaker); Dawn King (private investigator); David Wiseblood (Tawfilis' attorney); Jasmin Duel and Kousha Berokim (Dahl's attorneys). 48 HOURS

09/01/18

48 HOURS: "Sins of the Father" (9:00 – 10:00p) – a followup to 48 HOURS: "The Last Confession" (OAD: 03/01/14; 1st rebroadcast: 07/26/14; 2nd Updated Rebroadcast: 04/16/16), which was a report on the investigation into the 1960 murder of Irena Garza, in McAllen, Texas, and the efforts that family members and police have taken to bring the suspect, a Roman Catholic priest, to trial for the crime. Nearly 60 years after Irene Garza disappeared after going to confession on Easter weekend, the priest accused of murdering her goes on trial. In 1960, Irene Garza told her family she was going to church for confession but never returned home. Five days later, her body was found in a drainage canal. Police say she was beaten, sexually assaulted and suffocated. The investigation kept leading to Father Feit, who admitted hearing her last confession in the church rectory. Information about another attack, also led to Father Feit. He pled no contest to aggravated assault and was fined, but the Irene Garza case went cold. Rumors swirled that there was a conspiracy between the church and the authorities. Feit was re-assigned. In 2002, the McAllen Police Department asked the Texas Rangers' cold case unit to re-examine the evidence. The investigation took a dramatic turn when a former monk, Dale Tacheney, told police that Feit admitted to killing a young woman while Tacheney was a counselor at a monastery. Despite the new finding, Hildago County District Attorney Rene Guerra did not believe the case was strong enough to take to court. In 2016, the new District Attorney said he had new facts and evidence and that a jury would get past the threshold of reasonable doubt in this case. John Feit was arrested, and flown back to Texas to stand trial. In December 2017, at trial, the latest details, including evidence and testimony from witnesses that the prosecution said was evidence of the long-suspected cover-up between authorities and the church lead to a guilty verdict in this case. Original on-screen text graphic: Former DA Rene Guerra says he has no regrets about how he handled the Irene Garza case. He plans to make another run for the DA's office this year. 48 HOURS (continued)

- 09/01/18 48 HOURS PRESENTS: LIVE TO TELL: “The Long Road Home” (10:00 – 11:00p) - a report on the recovery of Sebastien Bellin, an international basketball star-turned tech entrepreneur, who was nearly killed in the March 2015 Brussels airport terror attack. His recovery is detailed over the course of eight months as he recovered from the bomb attack that caused him to lose over fifty-percent of his blood and left him with shattered bones and torn muscles. Following his basketball career, Bellin moved to Battle Creek, Michigan with his family and began a new career as a tech entrepreneur. The job involved regular travel to Brussels, including during the tense time in Europe. On March 22, 2015, he arrived at the Brussels airport to fly home and that day ISIS terrorists set off bombs at the airport and at a nearby train station. Bellin was severely wounded. This report takes a look at what it takes to survive an attack and put a life back together -- including Bellin’s first-person account of the attack, his refusal to let the terrorists win, how his 15 years as a basketball player in Europe prepared him for the moment his life would change forever, his three months in the hospital, the quest to get back home to his family, hours of intense physical therapy and an inspirational return to the basketball court. Original on-screen text graphic: Sebastian is back flying to and from Europe. He even flies into Brussels airport. Sebastian is writing a book about his story of survival. On-screen text graphic for the 09/01/18 rebroadcast: Sebastien Bellin completed a ten-mile race in Antwerp last April. He plans to run a full marathon in Brussels next October. Interviewed: Sebastian Belli, Sara Belli (wife); Cecilia and Vanessa Belli (daughters); Ketevan Kardava (foreign correspondent); Dr. Dimitrios Koulalis (surgeon); Dr. Sean Smith (rehab doctor). - 09/08/18 48 HOURS: “Mystery at Eagle Creek” (9:00 – 10:00p) – a rebroadcast of an updated report on the 2009 death of Rhonda Casto, who went hiking in Oregon’s Columbia River Gorge with her boyfriend, Stephen Nichols, only to never return home, as detailed in 48 Hours: “Trail of Tears” (OAD: 03/05/16). In a new interview, Stephen Nichols, addresses what may or may not have happened that fateful day, giving bizarre answers and elusive clues. Before Casto headed out on her hike, she joked to a friend that Nichols was either - “going to propose or kill me”. Somewhere along the trail, she slipped or fell 150 feet to her death. An autopsy seemed to support Nichols’ version of events, but authorities declined to declare the death an accident, and Nichols was never charged. Investigation revealed several tawdry elements, including insurance policies, a potential love triangle involving Rhonda’s younger sister and theft of Social Security payments by Rhonda’s mother, Julia Simmons. Nichols moved to China, and began a new life with his daughter. In 2014, a secret grand jury heard evidence and indicted Nichols for murder. He was arrested during a trip home and pleaded not guilty. In 2016, while awaiting trial, Nichols pleaded guilty to two counts of sexual abuse of Rhonda’s younger sister, Melanie Casto. In 2017, the prosecution decided to agree to a plea deal of criminally negligent homicide and coercion. Nichols received credit for time served and will remain on parole for three years. He says the reason he took the deal was time was running out for him to regain custody of his daughter. Original on-screen text graphic: About half of Rhonda’s million dollar life insurance policy is being held in a court-controlled account for her daughter. The rest of the money has gone to attorneys’ fees and Julia Simmons. Stephen Nichols still awaits a decision regarding custody of his daughter, now nine years old. On-screen text graphic for the 09/08/18 rebroadcast: Since this broadcast last aired, Stephen Nichols publicly admitted to having sex with Rhonda’s younger sister, Melanie. An Oregon court terminated Nichols’ parental rights. He is appealing that decision. Interviewed: Stephen Nichols, Julia Simmons (Rhonda’s mother); Mike Arnold (defense attorney); and Jessica Coleburn (friend of Rhonda’s). 09/08/18

48 HOURS: “Who Killed Fabio?” (10:00 – 11:00p) - a report on the 2017 murder of famed hairstylist and beauty company executive Fabio Sementilli who was found stabbed to death by his pool in Los Angeles, California. At first, police believed he was the victim of the “knock-knock” burglars, a ring targeting Los Angeles celebrities. Sementilli grew up in Canada, and became a superstar in the world of hairdressing. He moved to Los Angeles with his second wife and seemed to live a charmed life. Police investigation revealed that even though the Sementilli house had video surveillance, the DVR was gone. His widow, Monica, was anxious – calling the police every day. Police soon ruled out the burglars – they had never killed anyone before, and an $8000 watch was still on Sementilli’s wrist. DNA from blood left at the scene led to Robert Baker, a man with a colorful past, and a member of Monica Sementilli’s racquetball league. Finally, clues led them to believe that he and Monica were responsible for the murder, motivated by Fabio’s life insurance policy. Monica had been quite unhappy in Los Angeles and wanted to return to her native Canada and had enlisted Robert Baker to help her. Fabio’s sister believes there is more to the story. Both are currently in custody in Los Angeles and will be tried together. There is still one loose end – a third person was involved. Original on-screen text graphic: The knock-knock burglars continue to hit homes in Los Angeles. The trial of Monica Sementilli and Robert Baker is expected to be later this year. On-screen text graphic for the 09/08/18 rebroadcast: The knock-knock burglars continue to hit homes in Los Angeles. 48 HOURS: “Killer Performance” (9:00 – 10:00p) - a report on the 2010 murder investigation of 23-year-old dancer Julie Kibuishi in Southern California, and how her friend, former U.S. Army soldier Sam Herr, became the prime suspect in the case until investigators encountered an aspiring actor with a horrific tale to tell. Kibuishi was found dead in Herr’s bedroom, shot twice in the head. Police immediately believed Herr was the prime suspect, but friends and family thought otherwise. While searching for Herr and tracing his ATM and credit card usage, police were led to Herr’s neighbor, actor Daniel Wozniak, who told police that Herr confessed to him and was on the run. Suspecting he was lying, detectives continued to question Wozniak, and he became their prime suspect. They also brought his fiancé, fellow actor Rachel Buffet, in as well, and she barely reacted to the news -- another red flag to investigators. Under further questioning, Wozniak confessed to killing both Julie and Sam. He told police he had lured Herr to the theater, where he killed and dismembered Herr, ultimately disposing of his body in a park. Herr then went back and performed in a play. The investigation eventually revealed that Daniel Wozniak planned and executed the murders in order to steal Sam Herr’s life savings, which he planned to use to pay for his honeymoon trip with Rachel Buffet. After murdering Sam, Wozniak set Sam up by texting Julie to come to Sam’s apartment, where he killed her. Wozniak then went back to the theater and performed with his fiancé in a play. Rachel Buffet and his brother Tim Wozniak were arrested as accessories after the fact. Five and a half years later, in a five day trial, the jury found him guilty in two and a half hours. During the penalty phase, Wozniak’s attorney tried to shift the blame Rachel Buffet. Family members addressed the court to speak about Sam and Julie and their friendship. No one spoke for Wozniak. The judge sentenced him to death. Original on-screen text graphic: Rachel Buffet and Tim Wozniak’s trial dates are pending. UPDATE for the 09/15/18 updated rebroadcast: Daniel Wozniak went on trial for the double murder of Julie Kibuishi and Sam Herr. After five days, his fate was in the hands of the jury and after five-and-a-half years, he was found guilty and sentenced to death. In September 2018, after a week-long trial, Rachel Mae Buffett was also found guilty. On-screen text graphic for the 09/15/18 updated rebroadcast: Rachel Buffet will be sentenced November 8. She faces almost four years in prison. Interviewed: Steve and Raquel Herr (Sam’s father and mother); Masa Kibuishi and June Kibuishi (Julie’s parents); Jose Morales, Ed Everett, and Mike Cohen (detectives); Miles Foltz (friend of Sam’s); Wesley Freilich (friend of Daniel Wozniak); Matt Murphy (prosecutor); Deborah Kennedy and Kara Kessener (Wozniak’s cast mates). 48 HOURS: “The Last Ride Home” (10:00 - 11:00p) – an examination of the 2016 case of wealthy lawyer Tex McIver, who shot his wife Diane McIver from the backseat of a car while their friend drove them home. Exactly what led to the gunshot that killed Diane McIver is at the heart of the case against her husband. During the drive home, traffic got bad and Diane told the driver Dani Jo Carter to take the back roads towards the Buckhead section of Atlanta. Tex McIver asked for his .38 caliber handgun, which he kept in the car because he was concerned about the neighborhood they were in at the time, and Diane handed it to him. He told police he fell asleep and the gun accidentally went off, shooting Diane, who was in the front passenger seat, in the back. Carter sped to a hospital four miles away at Tex’s insistence, even though there were closer hospitals. He never called 911. Diane died on the operating table, but not before telling doctors she thought the shooting was an accident. The Atlanta Police Department investigated and decided that it was not intentional. The Fulton County District Attorney charged McIver with involuntary manslaughter and reckless conduct. The District Attorney thought there was more than meets the eye and conducted their own investigation finding out that Tex was broke and even owed Diane money. He also started selling off her belongs with the money going to the estate, not to him, even though the couple kept their finances separate. They charged him with murder, thinking that he killed her because he was desperate for money. The defense says the shooting was nothing but an accident. In March 2018, the trial began in Atlanta and this week, Tex McIver was convicted of felony murder. Interviewed: Anne Schwall (friend of Diane); Linda and Rance Winkler (neighbors); Howard Sills (friend); Dani Jo Carter (friend/driver of vehicle); Bill Rankin (reporter); Vincent Hill (law enforcement analyst/former police officer); Bert Davis (Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent); Bruce Harvey (Tex McIver’s attorney); Paul Howard (Fulton County DA). 48 HOURS: “Death by Text” – an updated rebroadcast about the death of Conrad Roy III, and the groundbreaking case against Michelle Carter, who prosecutors say influenced Roy, via text messages, to kill himself. On July 12, 2014, Conrad Roy died of carbon monoxide poisoning after sitting in his truck with a gas-powered water pump running in the backseat. Prosecutors say Roy was driven to kill himself through hundreds of incessant messages from Carter, who was more than 30 minutes away at the time he died. Carter was later charged with involuntary manslaughter. Her defense team maintains Roy decided to kill himself on his own. As seen through his own videos, Conrad Roy talked about his own struggles with social anxiety, depression and thoughts of suicide. His mother Lynn Roy, also talks about the death of her son and the pain she lives with. Though they lived an hour apart in Massachusetts, the couple communicated almost exclusively via texts, online and by phone. The prosecution maintained Carter could have done something to stop Roy. The heart of the case is the question of whether Carter’s texts and messages pushed Roy to take his life, or would he have done it anyway. Prosecutors argued that Carter played on Roy’s mental health and her actions were reckless; she knew what she was doing and just wanted attention. The defense maintains Carter had her own psychological problems and that she was also involuntarily intoxicated by the antidepressant drug Celexa: she was enmeshed in the delusion that it was a good thing to help him die. The prosecution hoped the judge paid attention to the text Carter sent to her friend a week after his death, in which she admitted she could possibly go to jail. After three days of deliberation, the judge rendered his verdict, completely rejecting Carter’s defense and finding her guilty. At sentencing Michelle Carter could receive twenty years behind bars. The Roy family knows that words have power, and that they can forever change lives. UPDATE for the 08/05/17 updated rebroadcast: Nearly seven seeks after being convicted, Michelle Carter, arrives for sentencing. The prosecution asked that Carter serve 7-12 years in prison. Her attorney requests probation. Judge Lawrence Moniz sentences Michelle Carter to fifteen months behind bars – a sentence that does not please the defense, who will appeal the conviction. Her attorneys request to stay the jail sentence. The judge grants the stay, meaning Michelle will be out on probation until the appeal makes its way through the Massachusetts court system. Neither Michelle nor her family, have reached out to the Roy family. On-screen text graphic for the 08/05/17 updated rebroadcast: Lynn Roy has filed a 4.2 million wrongful death suit against Michelle Carter. The goal is to establish a memorial for Conrad. On-screen text graphic for the 09/22/18 rebroadcast: Lynn Roy has filed a 4.2-million-dollar wrongful death suit against Michelle Carter. 48 HOURS: “Murder on the Dark Web” (9:00 – 10:00p) and “Click For A Killer” (10:00 – 11:00p) - a two-part report on the alarming world of murder-for-hire on the mysterious “dark web”. The two-hour season premiere exposes an international criminal organization in a hunt for a self-described murder mastermind simply named Yura. The six-month investigation, which covered 30,000 miles, uncovered solid information that led law enforcement to arrest people in four separate cases, who were allegedly willing to pay to have someone killed. Includes: (1) “Murder on the Dark Web” - 48 HOURS learned first learned of Yura, the unknown person behind an alleged hit-man-for-hire organization, while investigating the shooting death of Amy Allwine in Minnesota. Police learned of a plot to murder Amy Allwine in 2016. The FBI investigated, but nothing was discovered. From that point on, Amy lived with the knowledge that someone wanted her dead. Another threat asked her to commit suicide. Soon after, Amy was shot dead. Police did not believe it was suicide and immediately suspected her husband Stephen Allwine. Investigation led to the conclusion that Stephen was unhappy in his marriage and divorce was not an option in his life. Stephen had hired Yura, but things did not work out and he finally took matters into his own hands – Stephen drugged and shot her to death himself. After an eight day trial, the jury convicted him of first-degree murder. He was sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole. (2) “Click For A Killer” – Anchor Peter Van Sant and the 48 HOURS team investigate deep into the “dark web”, discovering information which lead to arrests in four murder plots. They found that anyone with money, a computer and the right software can find websites advertising hitmen for hire with as much ease as online shopping. With the help of Chris Monteiro, a white-hat computer hacker; and writer Eileen Ormsby, they continue their search for Yura. At one point, Yura agrees to meet with Van Sant in London, but he backs out at the last minute. Then Yura begins to share the names of potential hit targets, turning on the customers who have paid him thousands of dollars in bitcoins. 48 HOURS shared the information with law enforcement. One of the targets identified by Yura was Sydney Minor, a 22-year-old single mother in Tennessee. Told of the plot, she realized her married boyfriend, Brandon States, had ordered the hit, because she refused to have an abortion. Another target includes Tina Jones, a woman allegedly involved in a wild love triangle, accused of trying to pay thousands in bitcoin to have her lover’s wife murdered. The team also notified authorities in India, Iran, Taiwan and Singapore about plots. Lastly, they contacted the authorities about the case of a woman named Laurie, in San Luis Obispo, California, who was the subject of a murder-for-hire plot meant to look like an accident. Ultimately, clues led to her step-son Beau Brigham, who was identified as the suspect. In yet another twist, Monteiro and Ormsby raise questions about whether Yura is running a real murder-for-hire site or just swindling people out of money. Authorities aren’t sure either. On-screen text graphic: Yura is still generating new customers. One inquiry, just last week, was trying to secure a hit man in New York City. Interviewed: Chris Monteiro (computer hacker); Eileen Ormsby (writer/ CBS News consultant); 1) Terry Raymond (Cottage Grove Detective); Gwen Martin (Cottage Grove Sergeant); Randy McAlister (Cottage Grove Police Captain); Jamie Kreuser (Washington County (MN), Prosecutor); Jane Sharpe (Amy Allwine’s friend); Kevin Devore (defense attorney for Allwine); 2) Sydney Minor (target); Justin Kmitch (journalist); Wong Pei Ting (journalist); Dan Dow (District Attorney, San Luis Obispo County); John Bledsoe, Suzie Welsh, Antony Peluso (San Luis Obispo law enforcement officers); John Lehr (Central Coast Cyber Forensics Laboratory); Beau Brigham (stepson of potential victim); Alexis Brigham (mother of Beau). (Correspondent: Peter Van Sant – No producers listed for either broadcast.)
