Issue Topic (Crime, Health, Senior Life, etc.) - COMMUNITY ISSUES

Describe The Issue Within The Community - Drug overdose deaths involving prescription opioids are on the rise.

Describe How The Program Addresses The Above Issue - We aired PSA's to educate our audience about prescription opioids and focusing on stories of individuals who have been in recovery, emphasizing the message that there is hope and that recovery is possible. The campaign seeks to increase awareness that prescription opioids can be addictive and dangerous, to reinforce that help is available for those suffering from opioid use disorder, and to encourage those struggling with prescription opioids to find treatment and recovery resources.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Public Health Service

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)
Atlanta GA 30329-4027

Dear Public Service Director,

I am writing to ask for your help with reducing and ultimately, preventing drug overdose. By airing a series of important PSAs from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) drug overdose prevention campaigns, you will contribute to our continued effort to triumph over this devastating public health issue.

Drug overdoses have claimed nearly 900,000 lives over the past 20 years in the United States. Recent studies show that drug overdose deaths accelerated during the COVID-19 pandemic, outpacing overdose death rates from any previous year. And, illegal drugs are more potent than ever before as many can be mixed or laced with fentanyl, without a person's knowledge. An extremely powerful synthetic opioid, illicitly manufactured fentanyl contributes to the majority of opioid-involved overdose deaths.

With drug overdose continuing to be a major public health issue, CDC developed four evidence-based campaigns to reduce and prevent overdose. The four campaigns listed below focus on reaching young adults ages 18 to 34 who use drugs. These campaigns provide critical information about:

- The risks and consequences of mixing drugs,
- The dangers of fentanyl,
- The life-saving power of naloxone, a medication that can help reverse the effects of an overdose, and
- The importance of reducing stigma to support treatment and recovery.

No matter who or where you are, drug use and drug overdoses are likely affecting you and your community. Everyone can take action to help end the drug overdose epidemic in the United States and take care of those in need of treatment. I hope you will help and consider airing these important PSAs. Please make sure to download the TV PSAs (in :60 and :30) and/or radio PSA (in :30 and :15) for each of these important campaigns.

Thank you in advance for your support. For more information about CDC's drug overdose prevention campaigns, visit cdc.gov/stopoverdose.
