Airdate: July 1

Duration: 30 sec.

Topic: OBAMA AND IMMIGRATION REFORM

Synopsis: President Barack Obama renewed his push for U.S. immigration reform Thursday, reaching out to Hispanic voters despite minimal chances that Congress will pass such legislation this year. In a broad speech that did not break new policy ground, Obama, a Democrat, called for Republican support to pass a law to address the 11 million illegal immigrants in the country without disrupting the economy or violating American values. Obama has been under pressure to keep his promise from the 2008 presidential campaign to overhaul U.S. immigration rules. A tough new law in Arizona has brought the issue to the forefront of public debate, galvanizing Hispanics, who are an important constituency for November's congressional elections.

Duration: 30 sec.

Topic: TRAINING POLICE IN ARIZONA

Synopsis: Arizona officials released a training program designed to teach police officers to enforce a tough new crackdown on illegal immigration without racially profiling. Gov. Jan Brewer ordered the Arizona Peace Officer Standards and Training Board to develop the training when she signed the law in April. The hour-long video and supporting paperwork will be sent to all 170 Arizona police agencies. Police bosses will decide the best way to teach their officers, but they're not required to watch the video before the law takes effect July 29.

Duration: 30 sec.

Topic: UNEMPLOYMENT

Synopsis: More than 1.3 million laid-off workers won't get their unemployment benefits reinstated before Congress goes on a weeklong vacation for Independence Day. An additional 200,000 people who have been without a job for at least six months stand to lose their benefits each week, unless Congress acts. For the third time in as many weeks, Republicans in the Senate successfully filibustered a bill Wednesday night to continue providing unemployment checks to people who been laid off for long stretches. The House is slated to vote on a similar measure Thursday, though the Senate's action renders the vote a futile gesture as Congress prepares to depart Washington for its holiday recess.

Topic: "DREAM ACT"

Synopsis: President Obama took the opportunity to argue for a comprehensive overhaul of our immigration laws, while addressing some leading questions from both skeptics and supporters of reform. Enforcement-only advocates want to know why we should entertain a conversation about immigration reform with an insecure border. For the border-first hawks, Obama pointed to his recent (and some say politically-motivated) increases in border security funding and personnel as evidence of his get-tough stance. He also highlighted a key fact often lost in the national obsession with securing the Southern border: a significant number of undocumented immigrants actually came here legally and then overstayed their visas-therefore, immigration reform can't simply be about sealing boundaries and building walls.

Topic: US UNEMPLOYMENT

Synopsis: The United States added just 83,000 private-sector jobs in June; a dishearteningly low number that could add to the growing number of economists who warn that the economic recovery is stalling. Over all, the nation lost 125,000 jobs, according to the monthly snapshot of the job market released by the Labor Department on Friday. Most of the lost jobs came as temporary workers hired by the federal government to help with the census exited their jobs. The unemployment rate, based on a different survey, declined to 9.5 percent in June from the previous 9.7 percent.

Topic: TOYOTA RECALL

Synopsis: Toyota Motor Corp. says it intends to recall 138,000 Lexus vehicles in the United States to fix faulty engines in the latest quality problem at the world's No. 1 automaker. The company says flaws in valve springs, a crucial engine component, could make the vehicle stall while in motion. Toyota said in a statement Friday it plans to file paperwork on the recall with the government next week. The recall affects certain GS, IS and LS vehicles from the 2006-2008 model years.

Topic: OBAMA NEW JOBS

Synopsis: The government is handing out nearly $2 billion for new solar plants that President Barack Obama says will create thousands of jobs and increase the use of renewable energy sources. Obama announced the initiative in his weekly radio and online address Saturday, saying the money is part of his plan to bring new industries to the U.S. The two companies that will receive the money from the president's $862 billion economic stimulus are Abengoa Solar, which will build one of the world's largest solar plants in Arizona, creating 1,600 construction jobs; and Abound Solar Manufacturing, which is building plants in Colorado and Indiana. The Obama administration says those projects will create more than 2,000 construction jobs and 1,500 permanent jobs.

Topic: CALIFORNIA BUDGET-MINIMUM WAGE

Synopsis: Some California state workers are preparing to tap into their savings while others already are cutting expenses as Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger's minimum wage order moved one step closer to reality. On Friday, the Schwarzenegger administration won an appellate court ruling saying it has the authority to impose the federal minimum wage of $7.25 an hour on more than 200,000 state workers as California wrestles with its latest budget crisis. It was not immediately clear if the state controller, who cuts state paychecks on a decades-old payroll system, will comply. The office says its computers are unable to make the change until an upgrade is completed in two years.

Topic: OIL SPILL

Synopsis: A low pressure area moving west across the Gulf of Mexico led to the suspension of oil skimming operations again this morning, officials with the response effort said. Skimming in areas near Alabama, Mississippi and the Florida Panhandle was basically suspended Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday because of high seas associated with Hurricane Alex. Operations resumed Friday morning as seas calmed, but the weather system moving west about 150 miles south of the coast kicked seas up again Saturday. The low pressure area could keep waters rough until Monday.

Topic: USA-SPILL SUPERTANKER LATEST

Synopsis: A supertanker retrofitted to scoop up oil began testing its capabilities in the Gulf of Mexico Saturday and could soon be a major asset in the effort to block millions of gallons of crude from reaching shore. The vessel dubbed A Whale and described by its owners as the largest oil skimmer in the world, began collecting oil just north of the site where the Deepwater Horizon rig exploded on April 20, killing 11 workers and touching off what is now the largest oil spill in Gulf history.

Topic: ARIZONA BOYCOTT, SALT LAKE CITY

Synopsis: The City of Angels' City Council sent Salt Lake City a letter this spring calling on Utah's capital to boycott the Grand Canyon State over its immigration law. Arguing the law was analogous to profiling, the Los Angeles City Council had voted 13-1 to approve sanctions that could cancel $8 million in contracts the Southern California city had with Arizona businesses. L.A. wanted others to send the same message. If Salt Lake City had gone along, the hit to Utah's southern neighbor would have been substantial. Documents show the city does nearly $21 million a year in business with Arizona firms.

Synopsis: Temporary Protected Status Designated Country - Honduras TPS Extension Re-Registration deadline is this coming July 6, 2010. The TPS expiration date is January 5, 2012. All of those who are legally in this country under the TPS should file the forms to register and re-register: B7Form I-821, Application for Temporary Protected Status. The Form I-765, Application for Employment Authorization. To register or re-register you must file both forms together, even if you do not want work authorization. Make sure to use the most current version of the Form I-821, dated 10/17/07. All previous versions of the I-821 will be rejected.

Topic: TOYOTA RECALL

Synopsis: Toyota started recalling more than 90-thousand luxury Lexus and Crown vehicles on Monday in Japan, over defective engines, the latest setback for the automaker beset with quality problems. Toyota Motor Corporation said recalls in overseas markets will follow soon, totaling about 270-thousand vehicles globally. That includes: 138-thousand vehicles in the U.S., 15-thousand in Europe, 10-thousand in the Middle East, 6-thousand in China, 4-thousand in Canada, and 8-thousand in other regions. Toyota told the Japanese government on Monday it was recalling 91,903 vehicles for flaws in the valve springs, a crucial engine component, that could make the automobile stall while in motion.

Topic: OBAMA IMMIGRATION LAWSUIT

Synopsis: The Obama administration Tuesday sued Arizona over the state's strict new immigration law in a move that drew fire from Republicans who said the border needed more security. The Arizona law requires state and local police to investigate the immigration status of anyone they reasonably suspect of being an illegal immigrant, provoking criticism that it is unconstitutional and would sap law enforcement resources. The lawsuit, filed while Congress was on a week-long break, is part of a broader approach by President Barack Obama to deal with the 10.8 million illegal immigrants believed to be in the country, arguing that immigration is the responsibility of the federal government not each state.

Topic: CHICAGO MARCH

Synopsis: Thousands of U.S. citizen children are sending letters to President Obama asking him to declare a moratorium on deportations that separate their families. They are asking him to meet with five hundred of their representatives in Washington D.C. on July 28th. Saulito Arellano, the eleven year old son of Elvira Arellano who spent one year in sanctuary with his mother before she was deported, has returned to Chicago to make the trip to Washington on July 28th. Saulito will march with dozens of U.S. citizen children at 11 A.M. Wednesday from Lincoln United Methodist Church, where he is staying, to the post office on Ashland and 19th street to send a letter to the President to invite him and his family to meet with them on July 28th - and to stop the deportation of their families.

Duration: 30 sec.

Topic: ARIZONA LAWSUIT FOLLOW UP

Synopsis: The federal lawsuit against Arizona's tough new immigration law focuses heavily on a question that has been in the spotlight repeatedly the past decade and dates to the Founding Fathers: The right of the government to keep states from enacting laws that usurp federal authority. The lawsuit filed in Phoenix federal court on Tuesday sidestepped concerns about the potential for racial profiling and civil rights violations most often raised by immigration advocates. Experts said those are weaker arguments that don't belong in a legal challenge brought by the White House to get the measure struck down.

Duration: 30 sec.

Topic: OIL SPILL

Synopsis: Lake Pontchartrain north of New Orleans is the latest site where oil from the ruptured well in the Gulf of Mexico has appeared. The lake was rescued from pollution in the 1990s and had once again become a bountiful fishing ground and a popular spot for boating and swimming. Cleanup crews used nets to collect tar balls from marinas and docks yesterday. Meanwhile, officials say they'll know soon whether a new containment vessel is properly connected to the gushing well head in the Gulf of Mexico.

Topic: GULF OIL SPILL COULD BE STOPPED THIS MONTH

Synopsis: Governor Charlie Crist has called for a special session of the Legislature to permanently ban offshore oil drilling in Florida waters. Crist on Thursday said the session is called for July 20th to the 23rd. Crist wants the legislature to put an amendment to the state constitution on the November ballot asking to permanently ban drilling in state waters. The amendment would require 60 percent approval from the voters.

Synopsis: A handful of Republican state senators said today they plan to introduce legislation they say will provide for greater enforcement of federal illegal immigration laws in Georgia. Nationally, illegal aliens cost taxpayers $113 billion per year, according to a new report from the Federation for American Immigration Reform (FAIR). Illegal aliens cost Georgians $1.6 billion - or more, depending on the estimate - every year, according to Mullis.

Topic: MORTGAGE RATES

Synopsis: Nearly two years after the credit crunch virtually froze mortgage markets, high-end borrowers are seeing some relief: Rates for "jumbo" mortgages on pricier homes are at their lowest since 2003. Just a year ago, the average rate on a 30-year jumbo mortgage-a loan of more than $729,750 not backed by government-sponsored agencies Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac was 6.86%, according to Greg McBride, a senior financial analyst at Bankrate.com. Now it is 5.48%-a rate that rivals those available during the height of the credit bonanza.

Topic: ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Synopsis: Crude oil futures fell Tuesday for the sixth straight session, as the market failed to sustain an early rally in light of worries about slowing economic growth. Light, sweet crude for August delivery settled down 16 cents, or 0.2%, at $71.98 a barrel on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Brent crude on the ICE futures exchange settled down 2 cents at $71.45 a barrel. The drop continued the longest stretch of declines since mid-May as traders dismissed an optimistic economic forecast made by Australia's central bank after the Institute for Supply Management reported that the U.S. nonmanufacturing sector grew more slowly in June than expected.

Topic: IMMIGRATION DONATIONS

Synopsis: Retirees and other residents from all over the country were among those who donated nearly $500,000 to help Arizona defend its immigration enforcement law.

The donations, 88 percent of which came through the Arizona defense fund's website, surged this week after the federal government sued Tuesday to challenge the law. A document from Gov. Jan Brewer's office showed that 7,008 of the 9,057 online contributions submitted by Thursday morning were made in the days following the government's filing.

This E. coli was found during routing sampling and there haven't been any illness reported from this recall yet. The spinach was distributed to retailers in California, Oregon and Arizona between June 21st and June 27th.

Topic: OIL SPILL LATEST

Synopsis: The federal official leading the Gulf oil spill cleanup says a new containment cap and an additional ship collecting oil could effectively contain the spill as early as Monday. National Incident Commander Thad Allen said Friday that the work to replace a leaky containment cap on the well head with a tighter one will begin Saturday. At the same time, a ship connecting to a different part of leak is expected to come online Sunday.

Topic: OIL SPILL

Synopsis: The delicate work of removing and replacing a cap over the gushing oil well on the floor of the Gulf of Mexico is under way. BP officials say undersea robots have taken off the existing cap and oil is now gushing freely into the Gulf. The hope is to fit a tighter dome that will funnel more oil to collection ships on the surface a mile above. The next steps will prepare the seal for the new cap. If all goes well, the oil could be contained sometime Monday. A permanent solution is still weeks off. That involves an attempt to plug the well far below the gushing well head.

stress disorder get the help they need. Veterans Affairs Secretary Eric Shinseki is to announce new regulations Monday intended to make it easier for veterans with PTSD to receive government benefits. The new rules will not only apply to veterans of the Iraq and Afghanistan wars, but also those who served in previous conflicts

Topic: PROTEST SB 1070

Synopsis: A document from Gov. Jan Brewer's office surged days after the U.S. government filed suit against the state's Immigration Law. Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer, who is under fire for her crackdown on illegal immigrants, is being met in Boston by immigrant advocates and their allies as she attends the annual National Governors Association meeting. A coalition of immigrant groups has bused in advocates from around the East Coast for a noon rally Saturday to protest Arizona's controversial immigration law, recently signed by Brewer. The law, which is facing a U.S. Justice Department challenge, requires police to question people about their immigration status while enforcing other laws if there's reason to suspect someone is in the country illegally.

Duration: 30 sec.

Topic: USA IMMIGRATION AUDITS

Synopsis: The U.S. government is taking a new approach in its effort to crack down on illegal workers by quietly auditing the employment records of thousands of companies suspected of hiring undocumented immigrants rather than staging high-profile worksite raids, the New York Times reported Saturday. The Times said the Obama administration had conducted such audits at more than 2,900 companies so far -- a number it said dwarfed the number of companies affected by the immigration raids at factories and farms during the eight-year administration of Obama's Republican predecessor, George W. Bush.

Topic: ANTI-IMMIGRANT LAW LATEST

Synopsis: Hundreds of thousands of gallons of oil are being allowed to spew into the fouled waters of the Gulf of Mexico while BP engineers prepare to install a new containment system they hope will catch it all in the coming days. Officials say there's Synopsis: U.S. President Barack Obama released a domestic AIDS strategy Monday that aims to cut the infection rate by 25 percent, test 90 percent of those infected and get 85 percent of patients treated right away. The new plan, to be formally released Tuesday, also has modest aims to get 20 percent more of the most at-risk groups such as gay and bisexual men and blacks treated with drugs to control their infections. "Unless we take bold actions, we face a new era of rising infections, greater challenges in serving people living with HIV, and higher health care costs," the report reads. The United States should be able to lower the annual number of new infections by 25 percent from 56,300 to 42,225 a year by 2015, the plan said.

Topic: BP PUTS WELL CAP IN PLACE; US ISSUES NEW DRILLING BAN

Synopsis: BP Plc said Monday it had installed and was ready to test a cap that, if successful, would for the first time stop the oil spewing from its ruptured well on the floor of the Gulf of Mexico. The breakthrough in efforts to curb the 84-day-old gusher was announced as the U.S. Interior Department unveiled a revised moratorium on deep-water oil drilling in the Gulf that it said would stand up to legal challenges. The prospect of protected court battles over the Obama administration's bid to limit offshore energy exploration already has had a chilling effect on drilling, putting tens of thousands of jobs at risk, industry officials and analysts said. But BP got a lift as its share price surged on news from sources that the British oil giant is in talks to sell assets worth up to $10 billion to U.S. energy company Apache Corp and other potential bidders.

Topic: US CANCER GROUP ENDORSES NEWER BREAST CANCER DRUGS

Synopsis: The American Society of Clinical Oncology issued new guidelines Monday for the use of hormone-based breast cancer drugs called aromatase inhibitors. They said most breast cancer patients past menopause should consider taking an aromatase inhibitor at some point, either right after surgery or after two to three years of the drug tamoxifen. Aromatase inhibitors include anastrozole, made by AstraZeneca under the brand name Arimidex, exemestane, made by Pfizer Inc., under the brand name Aromasin and Novartis's Femara or letrozole. Breast cancer is the second-leading cause of cancer death among U.S. women, after lung cancer. It kills 500,000 people globally every year and is diagnosed in close to 1.3 million people globally.

Topic: DIABETES PILL AVANDIA

Synopsis: The diabetes pill Avandia has been used by millions of patients and racked up billions in sales in more than a decade on the market. This week the Food and Drug Administration is trying to answer a seemingly simple question: Does it cause heart attacks? It's the type of crucial safety question that the agency was established to answer. But as the FDA began a two-day meeting Tuesday to determine Avandia's fate, it became clear that the agency's own scientists are divided. On Wednesday the FDA will ask a panel of advisers to untangle the mess of data that has stumped its own scientists for over three years. The group will vote on recommendations, including possible withdrawal of the drug. The FDA will make a final decision in coming months.

Topic: OIL SPILL LATEST

Synopsis: BP Plc prepared Tuesday to test a new cap on its runaway well in an effort to finally arrest the flow of oil gushing into the Gulf of Mexico for the last 12 weeks. The tests, due to last between six and 48 hours, will begin later Tuesday on BP's newly installed "capping stack", which has a better seal than the last cap placed on the well and aims to stop oil from spewing out of the failed blowout preventer. A critical test to gauge the integrity of the blown-out well is expected to start "in a couple of hours," a BP executive said at about 3:30 p.m. EDT . Regardless of the test results, BP should be able to contain the ruptured well's flow with oil-siphoning vessels by mid-July, said retired Coast Guard Admiral Thad Allen, the top U.S. official overseeing the oil spill. As the oil giant prepared for a potential turning point in the worst offshore spill in U.S. history, it also said its plans to sell some non-core assets, which will help pay for a $20 billion clean-up fund, were moving forward. Both pieces of news had helped BP shares maintain their recent recovery in London, although they seesawed in New York with profit-taking erasing most of the early gains.

Topic: POLITICAL ASYLUM FOR GUATEMALAN WOMEN

Synopsis: A federal appeals court ruling Monday created the possibility that Guatemalan women could qualify for political asylum in the U.S. because of the high female murder rate in the Central American country. The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals issued a strongly worded ruling reversing the deportation orders of two immigration courts that such a claim applies too broadly. The San Francisco-based court ordered the immigration judges, who work in the U.S. Department of Justice, to reconsider granting asylum to Lesly Yajayra Perdomo, an illegal immigrant in her mid-30s who settled in Reno, Nev. Most important, the court ordered the Board of Immigration to determine whether all Guatemalan women can qualify - a decision that could open the door to similar claims from other countries such as El Salvador, Honduras and others with history of widespread gender abuse. More than 3,800 Guatemalan women have been murdered since 2000 and fewer than 2 percent of the crimes have been solved, according to the Center for Gender and Refugee Studies at the University of California, San Francisco's law school.

Those fees are not part of the ticket price, meaning they can easily go unseen until it's too late for the consumer to shop around. Amounting to billions of dollars for the airlines, the fees also are exempt from an excise tax, and some lawmakers want to reclaim that money for the Treasury.

If the cap holds, if the sea floor doesn't crack and if the relief wells being prepared are completed successfully, this could be the beginning of the end for the spill. Synopsis: Most of the world's 33.4 million people who live with HIV/AIDS are in Africa, where the highest burden of HIV infection is among women younger than 30 years. The trial involved 889 women in Durban and a remote rural village in South Africa. Half the women were given the gel containing the medicine to use before and after sex, while half were given a placebo gel. After one year, the study results showed the gel lowered the risk of infection by 50% . After two-and-a-half years, the gel reduced the rate of infection by 39%. The lower level of effectiveness in the second year was associated with a drop-off in usage by women who became infected with HIV. Also, there were 54% fewer infections among those who used the gel more than 80% of the time and a 28% reduction among those who used it least. While the study used the gold standard for clinical research, some flaws would prevent applying for regulatory approval of the gel.

Over the 5-year follow-up period, both men and women gained about a pound a year, on average, although women gained a little less. And the more meat a person ate, the more they gained; for every additional 250 grams of meat a person ate daily (the equivalent of a half-pound, 450-calorie steak), their 5-year weight gain would be 4.4 pounds greater, the researchers calculate.

Synopsis: No more oil is likely to leak into the polluted Gulf of Mexico, the government's point man on the massive oil spill declared Wednesday as efforts to plug a blown-out well succeeded. A relieved President Barack Obama said the fight to stop the leak is "finally close to coming to an end." At the White House, National Incident Commander Adm. Thad Allen said the effort to plug the leak was progressing; giving officials "high confidence" that there will soon be no more oil leaking into the environment. That upbeat assessment came as a government report released Wednesday said only about a quarter of the spilled oil remains in the Gulf. The rest has been contained, cleaned up or has otherwise disappeared.

Synopsis: One day after a federal judge struck down California's ban on gay marriage, supporters of the voter-approved law Thursday filed notice with the court that they would appeal, firing a new salvo in what experts say will be a long legal battle ahead. The one-paragraph document, which is largely a formality, informs U.S. District Court Judge Vaughn Walker that the defendants intend to appeal his decision to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. That appeal had been expected in a politically charged case that most believe will ultimately be decided by the U.S. Supreme Court and could inject a divisive social issue into U.S. congressional and state elections this fall, including California's race for governor. Walker overturned California's voter-approved ban on gay marriages, known as Proposition 8, Wednesday after finding that it violates the due process and equal protection provisions of the U.S. Constitution.

Overall, the economy lost a net total of 131,000 jobs last month, as 143,000 temporary census jobs ended. The department also said that businesses hired fewer workers in June than it had previously estimated. July's private-sector job gains were revised down to 31,000 from 83,000. Synopsis: The jobs bill, which narrowly passed the Senate, is being described in starkly different political terms. Democrats say it could save the jobs of more than 300,000 teachers, police officers and other public health workers. Republicans see it as more profligate government spending and a pre-election gift to teachers' unions and other public service unions that are crucial to helping keep Democrats in the majority. The legislation provides $10 billion to school districts to rehire laid-off teachers or ensure that more teachers won't be let go before the new school year begins. The money could keep more than 160,000 teachers, including 16,000 in California and 14,000 in Texas, on the job, advocates say. The other half of the bill has $16 billion for six more months of increased Medicaid payments to the states. That would free up money for states to meet other budget priorities, including keeping more than 150,000 police officers and other public workers on the payroll. Synopsis: A Miami appeals court has upheld a ruling overturning Florida's law banning adoption by gays. The 3rd District Court of Appeal issued its decision Wednesday affirming a lower court's decision that the ban is unconstitutional. Florida is the only state with a law flatly banning gays from adopting children without exception. Gays can be foster parents in Florida. A Miami-Dade County judge ruled the gay adoption ban unconstitutional in 2008, but the state appealed. The case will ultimately go to the state Supreme Court. Martin Gill and his male partner, along with the American Civil Liberties Union, filed the lawsuit in their attempt to adopt two brothers who have been their foster children since December 2004.

Synopsis: Some changes won't apply to plans that are considered "grandfathered" under the law, meaning they existed when the law was signed March 23 and haven't substantially changed. Those plans are supposed to notify policyholders of their grandfathered status, Tolbert said. Once plans make a substantial change - such as significantly raising co-payments or significantly reducing benefits or the amount an employer contributes - they are no longer grandfathered. The Thursday changes are designed to help consumers between now and 2014, when the most significant provisions of the health law take effect. That's when new health insurance marketplaces, called exchanges, will be created and most Americans will be required to purchase insurance.

Synopsis: Instead of cutting taxes for the wealthiest few - tax breaks we cannot afford - I've called for tax cuts for middle class families who saw their incomes shrink by five percent during the last, lost decade. We've already cut 8 different taxes for small business owners to help them hire and grow, and we're going to cut 8 more. We're challenging our states and schools to do a better job educating our kids and making college more affordable so America can once more lead the world in the proportion of our kids graduating from college. And we're putting an end to the days of taxpayer-funded bailouts so Main Street never again has to pay for Wall Street's mistakes".

the picture's not that clear-cut. A new AP poll finds that Americans who think the law should have done more outnumber those who think the government should stay out of health care by 2-to-1. "I was disappointed that it didn't provide universal coverage," said Bronwyn Bleakley, 35, a biology professor from Easton, Mass. More than 30 million people would gain coverage in 2019 when the law is fully phased in, but another 20 million or so would remain uninsured. Topic: INTERNET WIRETAPS

Synopsis: The Obama administration is pushing to make it easier for the government to tap into internet and e-mail communications. But the plan has already drawn condemnation from privacy groups and communications firms may be wary of its costs and scope. Frustrated by sophisticated and often encrypted phone and e-mail technologies, U.S. officials say that law enforcement needs to improve its ability to eavesdrop on conversations involving terrorism, crimes or other public safety issues. Critics worry the changes are an unnecessary invasion of privacy and would only make citizens and businesses more vulnerable to identity theft and espionage. The new regulations that would be sent to Congress next year would affect American and foreign companies that provide communications services inside the U.S. It would require service providers to make the plain text of encrypted conversations -- over the phone, computer or e-mail -- readily available to law enforcement, according to federal officials and analysts.

 ESPOSA: Y nos haremos famosos.

CLIENTE: Esta es la quinta vez que vengo en dos días... ¡Este pollo me ha cambiado mi vida!

Building Better Futures For Children and The Mentoring Programs That Serve Them.

Whether it's a timid 10-year-old boy who gains the courage to try out for Little League baseball, or an ambitious 15-year-old girl who hopes to be the first in her family to attend college, the power of a mentor can make a lifetime difference. Yet, in Massachusetts alone, thousands of youth are waiting for a caring adult to step up and become their mentor.

Through our work with over 165 mentoring programs, Mass Mentoring Partnership (MMP) is the umbrella agency singularly focused on fueling the growth of quality youth mentoring in Massachusetts.

"most importantly, assistance in developing a quality-based program adhering to national mentoring standards."

- Jim Mathis, ED, SouthCoast Mentoring Initiative for Learning Education and Service

"Mass Mentoring has been an incredible partner with us for many years. We're proud to help champion a movement that's proven to make a lifetime impact on youth."

- Tom Werner, Chairman, Boston Red Sox

"When it comes to supporting Western Massachusetts mentoring programs and engaging more caring adults in the lives of area youth, Mass Mentoring is at the center of it all."

- Nick Fyritlakis, Assistant Vice President, Community Responsibility, MassMutual Financial

Why is Mentoring So Important?

Simply, because it works. Numerous studies have shown that over 70 percent of youth with mentors experience:

- A rise in both self-esteem and hope for the future
- An improvement in school performance and attendance
- A decline of risky behavior

With 20,000 youth currently in mentoring relationships across Massachusetts, there are many reasons to celebrate. But for every child with a mentor, there are many more who need one - that's why Mass Mentoring is fully devoted to expanding the power of youth mentoring across Massachusetts.
