AGRICULTURE	PROGRAM	DATE
The logistical act of getting food from gate to plate has many steps, stops and barriers on a regular week. The Coronavirus outbreak has upended the food system all over the world. (Duration: 14 min, 52 sec)	Market to Market	4/12/20 @ 10:30 am
The shuttering of meatpacking facilities across the country due to cases of COVID-19 diagnosed among hundreds of workers, some fatal, have led to livestock supply-chain warnings. (Duration: 4 min, 3 sec)	Market to Market	4/19/20 @ 10:30 am

COVID-19 is disrupting agriculture on many levels. The Trump administration recently announced it will spend $19 billion to help farmers. But they aren't the only group in need of support -- undocumented immigrants are roughly half of American farmworkers and they have been excluded from federal aid. (Duration: 10 min, 22 sec)	PBS NewsHour	4/20/20 @ 6 pm
Washington is allocating money specifically targeted for farmers and ranchers as the economy flags. Despite the aid being on the way, some animal producers are making tough decisions about euthanizing poultry flocks and culling hog herds. (Duration: 4 min, 39 sec)	Market to Market	4/26/20 @ 10:30 am
The Trump Administration has classified the American meat processing industry as critical infrastructure; mandating continued operations despite a surge in COVID-19 among the workforce. (Duration: 3 min, 22 sec)	Market to Market	5/3/20 @ 10:30 am
Rerouting produce proves challenging. (Duration: 3 min, 37 sec)	Market to Market	5/10/20 @ 10:30 am
Stress in rural America has been building with trade troubles, shrinking margins and evaporating savings accounts. Then COVID-19 arrived and disrupted nearly everything. Farm suicides and bankruptcies have been reported and those on and off the farm in rural America need assistance. A look at the challenges facing those feeding the supply chain in an effort to provide resources when they need them most. (Duration: 30 min)	Market to Market	5/17/20 @ 10:30 am
Weather dampens breakneck planting process. (Duration: 2 min, 24 sec)	Market to Market	5/31/20 @ 10:30 am
The USDA program that allows small state-inspected meat processors to sell product across state lines has added another name to its lineup. (Duration: 2 min, 29 sec)	Market to Market	6/14/20 @ 10:30 am
Agriculture remains a key sticking point among stalled US-EU-UK trade negotiations. U.S. officials downplayed the prospect of a transatlantic agreement by the end of the calendar year and accused Brussels of "thinly-veiled protectionism" by safeguarding European markets under food-safety concerns. (Duration: 2 min, 29 sec)	Market to Market	6/21/20 @ 10:30 am

CULTURE	PROGRAM	DATE
Our host stops by an infamous music venue in Spring Green where he samples tacos from Enos Farms. From there Luke is invited to check-out Enos' unique pig farm and their Harvest Moon farm dinner. Demand remains high for relief the federal Paycheck Protection Program is making available for smaller businesses. But the distribution of that money continues to be a source of controversy and the program has been mired with technical problems. (Duration: 9 min, 47 sec)	PBS NewsHour	4/28/20 @ 6 pm
Wisconsin's Department of Workforce Development secretary discusses COVID-19 and unemployment claims. (Duration: 5 min, 30 sec)	Here and Now	5/1/20 @ 7:30 pm
Congress is divided over whether the next coronavirus relief bill should fund cities and states reeling from the economic impact of the pandemic. Democrats and some Republicans cite governors and mayors who say aid is needed to stave off additional layoffs, but Majority Leader Mitch McConnell and others call such funding "Blue State Bailouts." (Duration: 4 min, 24 sec)	PBS NewsHour	5/6/20 @ 6 pm
The economic toll of the pandemic and the ensuing shutdowns continues to grow, with more than 40 million people losing jobs so far. Although economic activity will pick up as businesses reopen, there is growing debate about how government policy can support struggling Americans and a fragile economy. (Duration: 8 min, 35 sec)	PBS NewsHour	5/28/20 @ 6 pm

Minocqua Chamber of Commerce executive discusses what businesses are doing to keep customers safe and how the area is adjusting to changes in economic activity amid coronavirus concerns. (Duration: 7 min, 30 sec)	Here and Now	5/29/20 @ 7:30 pm
Jobs numbers from May were unexpectedly strong, catching most economists by surprise. But the Trump administration was quick to hail them as early indications of an economic recovery already underway. How do others interpret the new data -- and what do they suggest about the future? (Duration: 9 min, 9 sec)	PBS NewsHour	6/5/2020 @ 6 pm
Shutting down the U.S. economy in an effort to control the coronavirus outbreak came at enormous cost to American businesses. But the damage borne by African American entrepreneurs has been especially significant. Hear how black business owners face additional challenges -- from racism among customers to a lack of financial support -- even when economic circumstances are strong. (Duration: 7 min, 55 sec)	PBS NewsHour	6/11/20 @ 6 pm
EDUCATION	PROGRAM	DATE
An unusual college in Charleston, South Carolina, offers a four-year liberal arts education while students also earn certification in one of eight artisan trades. The blended approach enhances students' capabilities -- and helps replenish the domestic pipeline of craftspeople. (Duration: 7 min, 19 sec)	PBS NewsHour	4/1/20 @ 6 pm
The coronavirus pandemic has disrupted the academic year of some 20 million college students as campuses are shuttered nationwide. Many of these young people are continuing their studies through online classes - - but the transition is not easy for all of them. (Duration: 6 min, 19 sec)	PBS NewsHour	4/14/20 @ 6 pm
Schools across the U.S. have now been shuttered for weeks, forcing kids to stay home and parents to help orchestrate their online learning. But the adjustments to remote study and social isolation aren't easy for young people. PBS NewsHour's journalism training program for high school students shares some	PBS NewsHour	4/15/20 @ 6 pm

of the ways teenagers are coping in the age of social distancing. (Duration: 2 min, 9 sec)

Colleges and universities across the country are wrestling with how and when to reopen for classes in the fall. While some are planning to bring students and faculty back to campus, others feel such a move would be unwise and will conduct only online learning. (Duration: 6 min, 45 sec)	PBS NewsHour	5/14/20 @ 6 pm
It is that time of year when graduates of all levels are usually crossing the stage, shaking hands and receiving their diplomas. But the look and feel of these events this year is, of course, quite different, almost all of them virtual. (Duration: 5 min, 35 sec)	PBS NewsHour	5/15/20 @ 6 pm
With schools closed and classes moving online, students nationwide are being forced to adapt to a new learning landscape. One challenge: standardized testing for college admissions, many of which have been canceled this spring. Although test administrators say tests will be run online by this fall, some experts worry that shift will exacerbate existing systemic inequities. (Duration: 7 min, 51 sec)	PBS NewsHour	5/18/20 @ 6 pm
UW-Madison's chancellor proposes a hybrid model that strikes a balance of providing safety for faculty, staff and students while allowing for some in-person discussions, small class experience and maintaining experiences of a college campus. (Duration: 1 min, 6 sec)	Here and Now	6/19/20 @ 7:30 pm
