1. Education: Covered issues related to education
2. Social Issues: Covered social issues and needs.
3. Economics: Provided information concerning income and economics

April 2023

Members of our Air staff in conjunction with The bART Center for Music participated in the “Midday Mix emcee” at both Street School and Phoenix Rising Alternative School. Where Tulsa music professionals share their talents and experience with at-risk high school youth in Tulsa’s alternative schools through Midday Mix. Performances, Q&A sessions, immersive field trips, and hands-on experiences. This opportunity may bring new dreams and aspirations to these youth, enabling them to envision themselves as part of the future of the Tulsa artistic community.

May 2023

We conducted live on-air interviews with representatives from the USA BMX Foundation who sponsored a week of summer camp to all incoming 4th through 8th graders at Tulsa Public Schools for free. Olympians have been coming to Tulsa for the new BMX headquarters and during the camp kids will have the opportunity to learn from them.

June 2023

We conducted a live on-air interview with representatives from Build in Tulsa sponsoring a free event called “female Founders Pitch Night” at the Tulsa Central Library also streamed on Youtube. Founders of organizations pitch business models and are judged by a panel along with audience choice for cash prizes to the winners. Also talking about their free week long summer camp that empowers youth entering grades 6-12 to launch a company of their own and get a head start on their economic opportunities.
