The following is a list of some of the significant issues responded to by Station KTFD-DT, Denver, Colorado along with the most significant programming treatment of those issues for the period of October 1, 2014 through December 31, 2014. The listing is by no means exhaustive. The order in which the issues appear does not reflect any priority or significance.

DESCRIPTION OF ISSUE	PROGRAM SEGMENT	DATE	TIME	DURATION	NARRATION OF TYPE/ DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM SEGMENT
SAFETY: INFORMATION AND RECALLS
SAFETY	UniMás News Briefs	10/7/14	Various	:30	A recent study released by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety and the University of Utah, show that voice-activated smart phones and dashboard infotainment systems may be worsening the problem of distracted-driving. While the hands-free systems allows drivers to do things like tune the radio, send a text message or make a phone call, while still focusing on the road, more concentration may be needed to operate these systems because the systems are so error-prone or complex.
SAFETY	UniMás News Briefs	10/21/14	Various	:30	The National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration warned more than 4.7 million car owners to get the air bags fixed, amid concern of the injury they can cause due to a defect on the inflator mechanism which can rupture and cause metal fragments to fly out when the bags deploy in an accident.
IMMIGRATION: REFORM AND DEPORTATIONS
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	10/3/14	Various	:30	During a gala for the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute, President Obama reassured supporters that he will issue new orders on immigration within the next three months. President Obama is considering a series of orders that would grant status to many of the 11.5 million undocumented people in the country.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	10/5/14	6:00 AM	23:00	We have immigration attorneys as guests on Perspectiva Nacional , who will answer questions from our audience and also offer advice on immigration issues.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	10/19/14	6:00 AM	14:00	Discussion involved the immigrant community and its expectations of a presidential action on immigration reform with the midterm election a few weeks away. We discuss this and how cases of criminal deportations have decreased and the possible impact at the polls, as well as within the Latino community.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	11/2/14	6:00 AM	6:00	We discuss with immigration attorney Jose Pertierra a historic lawsuit in Colorado where a group of Latino inmates claim that the immigration detention center where they are being held, forced them to work and were only paid one dollar a day.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	11/16/14	6:00 AM	14:00	Two community leaders and representatives of national organizations discuss the imminent presidential executive order on immigration. Also, Congressman Ruben Gallego (D-AZ) discusses the immigration issue, possible actions from the White House and the congressional agenda for next year.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	11/23/14	6:00 AM	23:00	A panel of immigration attorneys join us to explain President Obama's new immigration executive actions and what it means for those who will benefit. They also offer their legal advice on how immigrants need to be careful of scammers who want to take advantage of them. We also discuss what to expect for 2015.

IMMIGRATION: REFORM AND DEPORTATIONS

IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	12/6/14	Various	:30	The U.S. Border Patrol and airport security under the Department of Homeland Security are excluded from new regulations that would restrict the FBI and other law enforcement agencies from considering religion, national origin, and other characteristics during investigations. A formal announcement on the new regulations is expected in the coming days.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	12/7/14	6:00 AM	17:00	The Republican agenda includes the legality of the executive orders presented by President Obama. We discuss the issue of racial profiling by the police across the country. Also, Congressman Henry Cuellar (D-TX) explains why the government's budget on the legislative agenda has a direct effect on the Latino community and the new immigration relief announced by President Obama.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	12/14/14	6:00 AM	17:00	A month after President Obama announced his executive actions for immigration, the U.S. Senate is holding hearings to verify the legality of such actions. We discuss the issue with our guest, a DREAMer from Nevada who tells us about her experience testifying before the Senate, and why she supports the executive actions. Also, a representative from the powerful organization, AFL-CIO, joins us to discuss why they are in favor of the immigration relief.
IMMIGRATION	Perspectiva Nacional	12/21/14	6:00 AM	17:01	We review all the immigration events of the year. Three national pro-immigration leaders will join us for discussion on the immigration events and issues for 2015.

IMMIGRATION: PRESIDENT OBAMA'S EXECUTIVE ACTION

IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/5/14	Various	:30	Despite Republicans taking control of the U.S. Senate in the recent election, President Obama said he will take executive action on immigration reform before the end of the year.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/13/14	Various	:30	President Obama has promised to take various executive actions under current law to address immigration and deportation before the end of the year. President Obama is overhauling American immigration policy in a long-anticipated move that would ignore his Republican critics and could allow up to five million undocumented immigrants to stay in the country.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/18/14	Various	:30	President Obama plans to help undocumented immigrants living in the United States without any action from Congress by temporarily shielding them from deportation and giving them permission to work in the country legally. However, only Congress can grant these undocumented immigrants green cards, visas or any other path to a permanent legal immigration.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/20/14	Various	:30	Attorney's offices are receiving many calls from undocumented immigrants seeking help in hopes of qualifying under President Obama's executive action plan. While President Obama has yet to reveal the details of his administrative order, immigrant advocates are preparing to help millions determine if they are eligible to apply and help them stay away from fraudulent consultants and so-called notaries.

IMMIGRATION: PRESIDENT OBAMA'S EXECUTIVE ACTION
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/20/14	Various	:30	President Obama's changes will offer papers and work authorization for up to four million undocumented parents of U.S. citizens or legal permanent residents that have lived in the U.S. at least five years. The President will remove the 30-years-old age limit from the DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) program which has allowed the children brought illegally to the U.S. to stay. This change will cover anyone who arrived in the country before 2010 and will extend a previous two-year guarantee of relief to three years.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/24/14	Various	:30	According to a new Pew Research Center analysis, unauthorized immigrants from Mexico account for two-thirds of those who will be eligible for deportation relief under President Obama's executive action. The new action, which mainly applies to unauthorized immigrant parents of U.S. citizen or legal permanent resident children, would benefit those born in Mexico more than any other group.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	11/26/14	Various	:30	Under President Obama's new executive actions, many undocumented immigrants who are spared deportation would be eligible to apply for work permits and a Social Security number. As a result they would pay into the Social Security system through payroll taxes and would be eligible for Social Security and Medicare benefits at retirement age but only if they have worked ten years or longer. President Obama's executive actions would not allow these immigrants to receive federal assistance such as welfare or food stamps, or be able to purchase health insurance in federal exchanges or apply for tax credits that would lower the cost of their health insurance.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	12/2/14	Various	:30	Homeland Security Secretary Jeh Johnson, in a first appearance on Capitol Hill by an administration official, defended President Obama's executive actions and said that the administration ordered a thorough legal review to ensure their legality. He also stated that presidents have been using executive authority to enhance immigration policy for decades.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	12/4/14	Various	:30	The House is set to vote on a Republican-sponsored bill to undo President Obama's executive order on immigration. It would be a symbolic vote by the GOP-led House because it would have little chance of passing the Senate which is controlled by Democrats. President Obama's executive order of last month delayed the deportation of millions of undocumented immigrants.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	12/16/14	Various	:30	As part of President Obama's executive action on immigration last month, undocumented immigrants must show that they have lived in the country for the past five years. Many of these immigrants, however, have done everything possible to remain under the radar during those years and as such, have little to no documentation to prove their residency. Many have not received their salaries through paychecks and have not filed tax returns, nor have they had a mortgage or rental contracts to attest to their living status.
IMMIGRATION	UniMás News Briefs	12/26/14	Various	:30	Unions around the country are approaching immigrants protected by the recent executive action on immigration taken by President Obama. Unions hope to strengthen their membership and political power by recruiting immigrants who have been reluctant to join the union for fear of reprisal.

HEALTH: LATEST INFORMATION ON EBOLA CRISIS
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/1/14	Various	:30	On September 30th, the Center for Disease Control and Prevention announced the first confirmed case of a patient testing positive for Ebola in the United States, although there will not be an outbreak in the U.S. at the same scale as the current outbreak in West Africa. Because there is no vaccine for Ebola, and no cure, stopping the disease is a matter of everyone working together to follow the correct procedures.
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/5/14	Various	:30	A doctor from the National Institutes of Health said West Africa has a weak health system which has not helped in the prevention of outbreak of Ebola in West Africa. He is predicting that the United States will not have an outbreak such as West Africa because scientists know how to stop the virus from spreading.
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/7/14	Various	:30	President Obama met with his national security team to discuss ways to better screen airline passengers in the U.S. for Ebola, as well as how to increase those efforts overseas. A Spanish nurse became the first person outside West Africa to contract the disease.
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/12/14	Various	:30	The director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said a breach of protocol caused a health care worker at a Dallas hospital to contract Ebola after she had extensive contact on multiple occasions with the first person patient diagnosed with Ebola. This is the first known case of the disease being contracted or transmitted in the U.S. The CDC is evaluating other health care workers who may have had the same breach of protocol as the nurse.
HEALTH	Perspectiva Nacional	10/12/14	6:00 AM	6:00	We speak with Dr. Fabian Sandoval, a Clinical Analysis Specialist, to get more information on whether the Ebola pandemic is truly a national security issue.
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/14/14	Various	:30	The Director for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Dr. Tom Frieden, is urging hospitals to watch for patients with fever or symptoms of Ebola who have traveled from the three Ebola-stricken African nations in the past 21 days.
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/29/14	Various	:30	According to a latest poll, American's fear for Ebola has eased slightly, despite a belief that the local hospitals are not prepared to deal with the virus and there is a hope that the federal government will find a better solution to the problem.
HEALTH: IMPORTANT NEWS AND INFORMATION
HEALTH	UniMás News Briefs	10/4/14	Various	:30	A virus has been causing severe respiratory illness across the country and has been blamed for the death of a four-year-old child. This virus has symptoms such as cough, runny nose, sneezing and body aches, and has sickened more than 500 people in 43 states including Washington, D.C., mostly all children. The U.S. Centers of Disease Control and Prevention said earlier this week that four people infected with the virus had died, but it's unclear what role the virus played in those deaths.

ECONOMY: LATEST NEWS AND INFORMATION
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/3/14	Various	:30	This summer, a cyber attack on JPMorgan Chase compromised the accounts of 76 million households and seven million small businesses, a tally that dwarfs previous estimates by the bank and puts the intrusion among the largest ever. Last year, the information of more than 100 million households were compromised at Target, while a similar attack at Home Depot in September affected 56 million.
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/11/14	Various	:30	In the latest cyber security attack against a major U.S. store, discount retailer Kmart said a data breach of its systems had compromised some customers' debit and credit card numbers. No personal information had been gleaned during the episode, which began in early September. Sears Holdings, which owns retailers Kmart and Sears, stated that their store payment data systems were infected with a form of malware that was undetectable by current anti-virus systems.
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/14/14	Various	:30	According to a recent survey, the average price of a gallon of gasoline in the United States dropped twelve cents in the past three weeks to its lowest point in nearly a year, driven by the latest round of falling oil prices. Crude oil prices have fallen over the past several months to near four-year lows, pressured by ample supply and concerns about the strength of the global economy.
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/16/14	Various	:30	U.S. mortgage rates plunged, sending borrowing costs for 30-year loans below four percent for the first time in 16 months, as signs of a slowing global economy drove investors to the safety of government bonds. Mortgage rates are following a slide in 10-year Treasury yields as weaker-than-expected economic data from Germany to China combine with concern about a spreading Ebola virus, sparking demand for safe investments.
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/22/14	Various	:30	According to the Social Security Administration, the average retired worker will receive checks reflecting a 1.7% increase beginning in 2015. The modest increase is tied to the latest consumer price index which is the government's main inflation measure. It showed prices increased 1.7% in the past 12 months.
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/23/14	Various	:30	Sears Holdings Corp. is closing more than 100 stores and laying off at least 5,457 employees indicating the struggling retailer may be stepping up store closures. Sears said they plan to close a total of 130 underperforming stores during the full fiscal year, but added that it may shut down additional stores beyond the 130.
ECONOMY	UniMás News Briefs	10/30/14	Various	:30	The sudden slump in oil prices, 15% in the past three months, has shaken the world's great oil powers. Higher output coupled with weaker demand from China and Europe has driven the price of crude down to its lowest in four years to $85. The U.S. also produces 65% more oil than it did five years ago following the boom in shale production. Prices are now well below the level on which many oil exporters have based their budgets.

GOVERNMENT: CHANGES AND INFORMATION
GOVERNMENT	UniMás News Briefs	10/17/14	Various	:30	President Obama appointed former White House official Ron Klain to serve as the Ebola response coordinator, less officially known as the "Ebola Czar". This was President Obama's response following requests from lawmakers for a single-point person in his administration to oversee the government's response to the virus.
GOVERNMENT	UniMás News Briefs	12/9/14	Various	:30	The government plans to offer mortgages with a down payment of as little as three percent of the purchase price. This proposal aims to make mortgages more widely available to people who have a strong credit history but lack the standard 20 percent down payment. Federal housing officials said the new programs include a range of safeguards, including underwriting restrictions, a requirement to buy private mortgage insurance and counseling to reduce the risk of defaults.
POLITICS: LATINOS AND THE ELECTION

LATINO ISSUES: NEWS AND INFORMATION

LATINO ISSUES	UniMás News Briefs	11/11/14	Various	:30	A year after open enrollment began for the Affordable Care Act, there are still one out of four Latinos in the United States that do not have health insurance, according to new data from the Census Bureau. This statistic is highest for Latinos than any other ethnic population. A variety of factors account for this including a lack of culturally specific outreach programs, language barriers, financial concerns, frustration with the law's complexities and fears that applying could reveal a relative's illegal status.
LATINO ISSUES	UniMás News Briefs	12/18/14	Various	:30	DREAMers can now apply for driver's licenses. There are about 22,000 people that could apply and take the written and road test. Each applicant will need to present identification. The agency says about 50 percent of applicants overall pass the written test and 75 percent pass the road test. If anyone fails to pass the first time, they must wait a week before retaking the test.
LATINO ISSUES	UniMás News Briefs	12/29/14	Various	:30	The White House says that the national security department will present new rules which could cover students in the DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) program. Currently, the rules require them to obtain a permit which is difficult to do as it is currently given to employed individuals, students studying outside the country, or those with a humanitarian situation such as a death of a parent.

Once a household qualifies for energy assistance, a payment for a portion of their bill is made directly to their utility company. - See more at: http://www.energyoutreach.org/what-we-do/energy-bill-assistance-programs#sthash.Hd2SJSnU.dpuf
November	3	:30	House Denver/AD COUNCIL		The PSAs aim to show parents that spending just two minutes, twice a day making sure their children brush could help save them from a lifetime of tooth pain. Because two minutes is such a short amount of time for such an important part of parenting, the new PSAs feature parents trying--and struggling--to squeeze other parenting lessons into so little time. These scenes suggest that while most parenting is hard, making sure your kids brush for two minutes, twice a day is one aspect that's easier. Parents are directed to 2min2x.org , where they can find fun two minute videos that kids can watch while brushing - See more at: http://www.adcouncil.org/Our-Campaigns/Health/Children-s-Oral-Health#sthash.KBUIUvzm.dpuf
November, December	11	:30	House Denver/AD COUNCIL		To encourage the adoption of children from the U.S. foster care system and to increase the number of potential families inquiring about adoption. The campaign encourages potential adoptive parents to call 888.200.4005 or visit www.adoptuskids.org to find out more information about adopting children from foster care.
November, December	3	:30	House Denver/AD COUNCIL		The new English and Spanish PSAs raise awareness about the risks of foodborne illness and educate consumers, especially parents, to take specific actions to reduce their personal risk through safe food- handling steps. Through depictions of dancing E. coli and Salmonella microbes, the campaign reminds consumers that the foodborne pathogens they can't see, can still hurt them, so it's crucial to practice food handling behaviors in their kitchens. All campaign elements direct audiences to visit www.FoodSafety.gov where they can find more food safety resources. - See more at: http://www.adcouncil.org/Our-Campaigns/Health/Food-Safety-Education#sthash.xkTU4gxe.dpuf
November	22	1:00	House Denver/AD COUNCIL		Making Home Affordable (MHA) launched in 2009 and is a critical part of the Administration's strategy to help homeowners avoid foreclosure, stabilize the country's housing market, and improve the nation's economy. The program offers a range of solutions, including lower monthly mortgage payments for struggling homeowners, as well as options for unemployed or underemployed homeowners and those who owe more than their homes are worth
November, December	42	1:00	House Denver/AD COUNCIL		Campaign to encourage current and prospective firearm owners to safely lock up their weapons when they're not in use.
November, December	20	1:00	House Denver/AD COUNCIL		The Ad Council partnered with Enroll America to create these "Take Care, People," PSAs to raise awareness, educate, and motivate uninsured Americans to get health insurance for themselves and their families under the Affordable Care Act, or ACA. Created pro bono by La Comunidad and Razorfish, the PSAs use pets as the unlikely spokespeople to break through the clutter with an action-oriented message: It's time for people to take care of themselves. Pets, including dogs, cats, birds and fish, encourage people to enroll in health insurance for themselves and their families. - See more at: http://www.adcouncil.org/Our-Campaigns/Health/Enrollment-in-Health-Insurance#sthash.1AGSD59Y.dpuf
December	21	:30	House Denver/ty Education CN		The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that 48 million people get foodborne illness each year, resulting in roughly 128,000 hospitalizations and 3,000 deaths. Children, the elderly, and those with weakened immune systems are especially at risk of contracting food poisoning. To help families—especially parents—learn the practical steps they can take at home to help reduce their risk of getting sick, the Ad Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service, in partnership with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the CDC introduced the Food Safe Families campaign. - See more at: http://www.adcouncil.org/Our-Campaigns/Health/Food-Safety-Education#sthash.iFsu5Wrv.dpuf
