Subject: Egging Houses On Halloween

Hey Barbara,

My boss sent me a note saying that you had reached out to him to ask me not to promote egging people's houses tonight if their lights are out. I'm soo sorry if it came across like that! I saw that 18% of people are actively hiding from Trick-or-Treaters tonight so I was trying to make light of that by saying I hope they don't get caught. I would never encourage egging somebody's home.

I totally understand your concerns though, as my mom is disabled and not able to get up and down to answer the door. The lights at my house will be off tonight too, because I won't be able to get home before the Trick-or-Treaters start.

I really appreciate you reaching out to share your concerns. Your feedback helps me soo much moving forward. And I really appreciate you listening! Again, my apologies and happy Halloween!

Lots of love,

Doug Lazy
