Date: 7/12/15

Duration: 30:00

Issues: Back to Nature Wildlife's (BTN) mission is to rescue and rehabilitate injured animals then release them back into the wild. Debbie Helsel, BTN's executive director, discussed this mission and ways volunteers can help. BTN has been in a new location for only a year and they still lack enough new enclosures for the animals, so they need listeners' help. There is an event on July 18th, called the Baby Squirrel Shower, at which visitors can view the new site and see the education animals.

Duration: 30:00

Issues: Pacenti explained that he founded the Give Hope Foundation to benefit pediatric cancer patients and their families. He says that a unique aspect of the organization is that it is operated completely by volunteers, thus eliminating all overhead cost. Funds raised go to their three internal programs: the Give Hope Hero Program, the Apple a Day Program, and the Give Hope Hero Fund. Through these programs families are given financial assistance to help with medical expenses and the children are given tools like phones so they can stay in touch with friends while they're in the hospital. Organization: Harbor House of Central Florida

Guest(s): Carol Wick, CEO

Contact: (407) 886-2856; harborhousefl.com

Date: 9/27/15

Duration: 30:00

Wick described the significance of domestic violence within Central Florida and invited listeners to participate in efforts to raise awareness on this issue. She said that on any given day, 60,000 people in the tri-county area experience some form of intimate partner violence. Harbor House provides support for victims and offers education for everyone who wants to improve their situation. During Domestic Violence Awareness Month there will be many events: a Ravi Mehta benefit concert; a 'Preach In' during which ministers describe healthy relationships; a announcement about a new partnership agreement with law enforcement; a purple door fundraiser event; and Takes Courage, a door to door campaign.

Organization:

Guest(s): Mark Cheverton, Author of Minecraft Series

Contact: Markcheverton.com

Date: 7/12/15

Duration: 30:00

Issues:

After his son was bullied by online 'griefers' who destroyed his Minecraft server creations, Mark Cheverton wrote a book to help his son process the experience. He explained that his son, who was seven years old at the time, worried that he had brought the bullying on himself. Cheverton wrote his book to help his son to understand that the issue is with the bully and not the victim. He has gotten a lot of feedback from other children who have been bullied online and who express that they have also learned that lesson. Cheverton provided parents with insights about how to address the issue of online bullying.

Organization: Community Food and Outreach

Guest(s): Eric Gray, Executive Director

Contact: (407) 797-7755; harvestfoodoutreach.org

Date: 8/2/15

Duration: 30:00

Issues: Gray described the Community Food and Outreach Center's (CFOC) 5th annual summer campaign, Hunger Doesn't Take a Vacation. This campaign raises awareness of the food insecurity many kids face during the summer. CFOC's Emergency Food Pantry receives 80% of its donations during the last eight weeks of the year. This unbalanced distribution makes it difficult in the summer months, when the need skyrockets. This campaign is a way for CFOC to help struggling parents subsidize their already tight food budgets by getting the community involved in year-round food drives.

Organization: BETA Center for Girls

Guest(s): Ciamarra Matos, Volunteer Manager

Contact: Betacenter.org

Date: 8/16/15

Duration: 30:00

Issues: Beta Center is an organization that serves children and families. They provide struggling families in the community with necessary items like diapers, formula, and baby clothing. They serve about 5,000 families a year with these in-kind donations. There is also a school for teen mothers who are pregnant or parenting. These girls receive their education, their diploma, parenting skills, Lamaze, prenatal checkups, and mental health support. There is also a residential program. The Diamonds and Denim Gala on August 22nd is a way to raise funds for these programs.

Date: 8/23/15

Duration: 30:00

Issues: The two guests described the various Salvation Army programs that support veterans. A grant from the Veteran's Administration allows the Salvation Army to provide special veteran support within the women's and men's shelters. In fact, the men's shelter even features a side that is exclusively for veterans, so that they can bond over their shared experiences. Morris and Christie said that their veterans' programs have been very successful at helping veterans get 'back on their feet.'

Organization: Second Harvest Food Bank of Central Florida

Guest(s): Greg Higginson, Vice President of Development

Contact: Feedhopenow.org

Date: 9/13/15

Duration: 15:00

Issues:

September is Hunger Action Month. Each year, Second Harvest Food Bank of Central Florida creates a campaign called "30 Ways in 30 Days." Through this initiative, Central Floridians are encouraged to participate and fight hunger all month long. The calendar of activities is available at Feedhopenow.org. Some actions are as small as sharing a statistic about hunger in Central Florida on social media, while other actions like volunteering, take more time. Higginson explained that every step participants take makes a difference in the ongoing effort to end hunger.
