WLOR-AM Second Quarter 2013 Issues and Programs Review

April 16

The Kids To Love Foundation is one that provides clothing and toys for children currently in foster care. Lee Marshall, Founder and CEO, came in to promote a fund-raising Barbeque cooking challenge, the Star-B-Cue, intended to provide funding for their efforts. Jimbo & Casio acted as guest judges for the event.

April 25

Dr. Harry Hobbs, HPD's Communications Relations Officer, discussed the drug take-back program. In the community's interest, the HPD conducted the 5th annual take-back initiative, a day during which citizens could anonymously turn in any out-of-date or unwanted prescription meds in order to get them out of circulation.

May 16

Army veteran Pat Reese discussed community veterans affairs programs. He talked about some of the programs offered and in doing so, promoted a bike night fund-raiser conducted by the Combat Veterans Motorcycle Association. All funds are used to provide services for area veterans.

May 17

The Caring House of Madison County is a not-for-profit Hospice Care organization that offers support and counseling for the dying and their families. Our guest was Sweetie Pie, who came in to discuss the need for operating funds. She promoted a poker run designed to provide said funds.
