CAPITOL UPDATE continued

3/31 - #2704 Topics this week include: The Governor signed the bill banning social media accounts for kids under 14. He also signed a bill that makes it easier for homeowners to evict squatters and another that allows the sale of wine in bigger bottles. The Florida Department of State got feedback from election supervisors on proposed rules requiring greater scrutiny of voters' signatures.

FLORIDA CROSSROADS – Thursdays at 8:30pm / Repeats Sundays at 11am & Tuesdays at 3:30pm. Florida Crossroads is a weekly program produced by the Florida Channel that highlights some of the unique stories of the lives of Floridians.

1/4 & 1/7 - #3627 Artistic Expressions: Cultural Artisans

Produced by Shane Marshall and Josh Eaton

An artisan is often described as a skilled craft worker who makes or creates material objects partly or entirely by hand. In this Florida Crossroads, we travel to several different places where artistic expression is molded through different avenues and look at how each place has affected their local communities in Florida through craftwork.

1/11 & 1/14 - #3628 Florida Remembers: Vintage Florida

Produced by Mike Licquia

Florida's rich tourism history dates back well before the mega theme parks that attract modern-day tourists. Through vintage marketing films created by the state, we step back in time and revisit some of those popular tourist destinations in this segment of our ongoing history series, Florida Remembers: Vintage Florida.

1/18 & 1/21 - #3629 In the Footsteps of a King

Produced by Meredith Moses

In 1964, the Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. traveled to segregated Florida. King brought the peaceful protests of his civil rights movement to the state at a time when some of the most violent attacks against blacks were taking place. In this edition of Florida Crossroads, Producer Meredith Moses talks to Floridians who share their memories of marching "In the Footsteps of a King".

1/25 & 1/28 - #3630 The Grove: Digging Up History

Produced by Shane Marshall

Designated a National Historic Landmark in 1976, The Grove's mission is to preserve the surrounding acreage and engage the public in a dialogue about civil rights and American history. People connected with this site have figured prominently in the moments that shaped Florida history. Senior Archaeologist Brandon Ackermann takes an audience through the history of The Grove and discusses ground-penetrating radar testing on the site and findings from his research.

2/1 & 2/4 - #3631 Pet Control

Produced by Mike Licquia

Breeders of snakes, lizards, tropical fish and much more have long found the warm Florida climate to be an ideal place to do business. Some of those exotic pets though like pythons and iguanas have turned into harmful invaders. In this episode, we explore the business of the exotic pet trade as state regulators wrestle with the challenge of Pet Control.

2/8 & 2/11 - #3632 Florida Remembers: The 1964 Civil Rights Act

Produced by The Florida Channel Team

During the Civil Rights Movement, some Floridians were directly impacted by efforts to improve the quality of life for African Americans and other minority groups. In the 1950s, many "foot soldiers" – as they were called – risked their careers and their lives to open the door to social and political change. The Florida Channel remembers a few of the people, places, and protests at the center of the Civil Rights Movement in Florida.

2//15 & 1/18 - #3633 Paradise Lost: Florida's Segregated Beaches and Parks

Produced by Theresa Marsenburg

Not long ago, the signs of the segregated South – "White Only" and "Colored Only" – applied to just about every aspect of life. Florida's world-famous seashores, riverbanks, and lakeside properties were not exempt. While they were never "separate but equal", the colored beaches and parks throughout the state were scenic and served as an oasis in a world of oppression and racism. These parks beckoned people of color to relax and unite; however, as African Americans began to experience the equalities brought about by the Civil Rights Act of 1964, many say they lost what was uniquely theirs.

2/22 & 2/25 - #3634 Ghosts of Groveland

Produced by Mike Licquia

Death, pain, and heartache followed four African American families for generations after four men were accused of raping a white teenager in Groveland in 1949. Seventy years later came a pardon for this "crime" and peace for a new generation as new evidence comes to light.

2/29 & 3/3 - #3635 Florida's Underground Railroad: Southern Route to Freedom

Produced by Theresa Marsenburg

Centuries before a secret network was formed to help slaves escape to Northern states and Canada, the Underground Railroad ran South. As early as 187, Spain's La Florida was recorded to be a safe haven for freedom seekers resisting enslavement, including the unique group of African Americans called Gullah Geechee who are still fighting to preserve their identity.

3/7 & 3/10 - #3636 Art History: Florida's Story as Painted by Christopher Still Produced by Krysta Brown

In 1999, Florida artist Christopher Still was commissioned by the Florida House of Representatives to paint eight works of art. Still completed two more for the renovation of the House Chamber in Tallahassee and the ten paintings are permanently on display. To commemorate the 20th anniversary of the renovation, two house speakers sat down with Florida's Artist in Residence to talk about his inspiration, his work and the stories behind the paintings portraying Florida's past and Present.

3/14 & 3/17 - #3637 Florida Highways and Byways: Northern Region

Produced by Shane Marshall and Josh Eaton

The Florida Scenic Highways Program was established to showcase the outstanding and intrinsic resources that can be found along Florida's highway system. On this continuing Florida Crossroads series, we highlight four roadways in North Florida that enhance the traveling experience for the public through history, recreation, nature and scenic beauty.

3/21 & 3/24 - #3638 Coastal Dune Lakes: In-Between Paved Paradise

Produced by Shane Marshall

Many tourists frequent the Emerald Coast along Florida's Panhandle, bathing in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico or tanning on the pristine beaches. They also visit to experience a rarity: a string of 15 coastal dune lakes found in only a few other places around the world. Coastal Dune Lakes: In-Between Paved Paradise explores the characteristics of these dune lakes, how they form, the dynamic ecosystems that exist within them and how they are being protected now and in the future.

3/28 & 3/31 - #3639 Florida Memory

Produced by Melissa Klinzing

A building two blocks from the Capitol in Tallahassee houses millions of state records and other items that belong to the people of the State of Florida. But you don't have to visit Tallahassee to explore those resources. This edition of Florida Crossroads takes you inside the vast holdings of the State Archives and Library through an online portal everyone can enter: Florida Memory. We'll explore the strange, beautiful Spanish Land Grant maps that are still legal documents after more than two centuries; photographs, films and videos everyone can enjoy; and reveal some little-known records of special interest to African-Americans researching family histories.

LOCAL ROUTES – A look at the people, places, things and events that make the Big Bend area unique. LOCAL ROUTES airs in limited runs throughout the year, Thursday nights at 8pm, repeating Sunday mornings at 10am and Tuesday at 3pm. (Note: LOCAL ROUTES is on hiatus during this reporting period.)
