3rd Quarter 2020

5:30p	August 2, 2020	1:00	One of Wisconsin's U.S. Senators says he opposes a new coronavirus relief bill due to its high cost. U.S. Senator Ron Johnson (R-Wisconsin), says there is at least one trillion dollars still unspent from a previous relief bill that should be targeted first. On Friday, a previous plan that gave unemployed people an extra $600 per week expired. Now, Senator Johnson has offered his own solution which offers bonuses from $200-$500 a week.
5:30p	August 2, 2020	1:00	JR Ross of WisPolitics.com says Republican lawmakers have considerations to weigh as they think about challenging Democratic Gov. Evers' mask mandate. The GOP Senate leader says Wisconsin Senate Republicans "stand ready" to strike down the statewide mask mandate that Democratic Gov. Tony Evers announced on Thursday. Republican Senate Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald stopped short Friday of promising that the Senate would vote to kill the order, which is slated to take effect on Saturday. He also did not indicate when the Senate might convene. State law gives the Legislature authority to revoke a governor's emergency order. Assembly Speaker Robin Vos said Thursday he expected the order to face a legal challenge, but didn't raise the possibility of the Legislature taking action.

10p	August 2, 2020	1:00	Lawmakers participating in rare weekend talks on a huge coronavirus relief measure are reporting progress, as political pressure mounts to restore a newly expired $600-per-week supplemental unemployment benefit and send funding to help schools reopen. President Donald Trump is eager for an agreement and is willing to extend the $600 benefit, at least in the short term, but is balking at other demands of Democratic negotiators like aid the state and local governments, food stamp increases, and assistance to renters and homeowners.
5:00a	August 3, 2020	0:45	Wisconsin Senate Republicans mull challenging the mask mandate, but it doesn't look like Assembly Republicans are on board.

3rd Quarter 2020

6:00a	August 3, 2020	0:45	Wisconsin Senate Republicans mull challenging the mask mandate, but it doesn't look like Assembly Republicans are on board.
4p	August 3, 2020	1:15	Negotiations on a huge COVID-19 relief bill are set to resume, but the path forward promises to be challenging. The Trump administration negotiating team and top Capitol Hill Democrats reported progress over the weekend even as they highlighted their differences. Ahead of Monday's talks, all sides predict a long slog ahead despite the lapse of a $600-per-week supplemental jobless benefit. At least several more days of talks are expected. The White House is seeking opportunities to boost President Donald Trump, like more $1,200 stimulus payments. Democratic House Speaker Nancy Pelosi wants big money for state and local governments.
5p	August 3, 2020	0:30	Wisconsin Senate Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald says he wants the Legislature to convene this week or next to strike down the governor's mask mandate. Fitzgerald says he has been talking with Assembly Speaker Robin Vos about a plan. Vos has not said whether the Assembly would convene to vote down the mandate. It would take both houses of the Legislature to make it happen.
6p	August 3, 2020	0:30	Wisconsin's elections commission says more than 330,000 voters have returned absentee ballots for the Aug. 11 primary election. As of Aug. 3, 836,469 absentee ballot applications have been received by municipal clerks in the state.
4p	August 4, 2020	1:00	Gov. Tony Evers says he has no secret plans to ban in-person instruction for Wisconsin's K-12 students this fall. Republican lawmakers are worried that Evers is planning to order schools to close their doors and offer online instruction only as the coronavirus pandemic rages on. But the governor told reporters during a video conference Tuesday that he has no plans for such a move and he's leaving it up to local school districts to make their own decisions. Senate Republican Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald said he's still afraid Evers will cave to pressure from liberal groups and shut schools down.

Government/Political

3rd Quarter 2020

4p	August 4, 2020	1:00	A key Senate Republican said he supports an increase in the food stamp benefit as part of a huge coronavirus relief bill, adding that an agreement on that issue could lead to further overall progress on the legislation. The bill remains stalled despite days of Capitol negotiations. Senate Agriculture Committee Chair Pat Roberts said Tuesday that "you can make an argument that we need some kind of an increase" in food stamps and that he's raised the topic with Majority Leader Mitch McConnell. All sides predict a long slog ahead despite the lapse of a $600-per-week expanded unemployment benefit at the end of July. Several more days of talks are expected.
5p	August 4, 2020	2:15	Gov. Tony Evers says his focus is on increasing the state's COVID-19 testing capacity, even as some Republicans suggest trying to strike down the mask order he issued just a few days ago. Brittany Schmidt reported on the latest efforts from state health officials.
5p	August 4, 2020	0:30	Republican Senate Majority Leader Scott Fitzgerald says he believes Gov. Evers might force schools to start virtually in the fall, even though the governor has said that is not his plan. Fitzgerald says he is fearful the governor will "cave to pressures from liberal groups and backtrack," but the Evers has said there is no secret plan and local school districts can make their own decisions.
10p	August 4, 2020	2:00	Waupaca is the latest city to start vote for a mask mandate tonight. The move comes after the Governor created a statewide mask mandate, but officials in the city say a local mandate will stay in place if the state mandate is overturned. It's also more robust than the mask mandate and goes until October 30th.
10p	August 4, 2020	0:30	The Wisconsin Election Commission says Green Bay and Appleton are among the cities in Wisconsin that are seeing the largest shortage of poll workers for the upcoming elections. Officials say the pandemic is forcing more of the older volunteers to stay away from the polls this year. That has put them missing more than 900 workers ahead of voting day.
10p	August 4, 2020	0:30	The Elections Commission is also announcing the five independent candidates that have filed to be on the ballot. The candidates needed two thousand signatures to get on the ballot. Now the commission will look through the list and make sure each person and their running mate meet the criteria.

12p	August 5, 2020	0:45	Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden will not travel to Milwaukee to accept his party's nomination because of concerns around the pandemic. Party officials say Biden will instead accept the nomination while in his home state of Delaware. An official says all speakers and presenters for the Democratic Convention in Milwaukee in two weeks are now expected to speak from remote locations.
4p	August 5, 2020	0:45	A federal judge questioned whether it would be right to order an easing of Wisconsin's absentee voting regulations ahead of the November presidential election. Democrats and allied groups sued ahead of the state's April election demanding that Judge William Conley ease absentee voting requirements as the pandemic began. The U.S. Supreme Court blocked them but the groups renewed their requests for November. Conley said during a hearing Wednesday that people know more about the virus now and he's not sure he should take such substantial steps. Meanwhile, Gov. Tony Evers activated the National Guard to serve as poll workers for Tuesday's state primary after election officials said they're more than 900 workers short statewide.
4p	August 5, 2020	0:30	Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden will not travel to Milwaukee to accept his party's White House nomination because of concerns over the coronavirus. Party officials confirmed the change in plans on Wednesday. The move is the latest example of the pandemic's sweeping effects on the 2020 presidential election and the latest blow to traditional party nominating conventions that historically have marked the start of fall general election campaigns. Neither the Biden campaign nor Democratic National Committee officials offered details about how Biden might accept the nomination. A DNC official said all speakers and presenters for the Aug. 17-24 convention are now expected to speak from remote locations.

3rd Quarter 2020

4p	August 5, 2020	0:30	President Donald Trump says he's considering delivering his Republican convention speech from the White House. That would mark an unprecedented use of public property for partisan political purposes. Trump told Fox News Channel on Wednesday he's "probably" going to deliver the speech from the White House because of the security and cost advantages. The Republican convention is scheduled for Aug. 24-27, with Trump's speech capping the final night. The speech was going to be held in North Carolina until Trump feuded with the Democratic governor over health restrictions. Trump moved it to Florida but scrapped that because of a resurgence of the coronavirus there. Democrats will hold their convention in Wisconsin almost all virtually, and Joe Biden won't travel there.
4p	August 5, 2020	1:00	After more than a week's worth of meetings, at least some clarity is coming to bipartisan Washington talks on a huge COVID-19 response bill. An exchange of offers Tuesday and a meeting devoted to the U.S. Postal Service on Wednesday indicates a long slog remains, but the White House is offering some movement in House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's direction on aid to states and local governments and unemployment insurance benefits. Multiple issues remain, but some areas of likely agreement are coming into focus.
5p	August 5, 2020	0:30	Joe Biden will not travel to Milwaukee to accept the Democratic presidential nomination. The Democratic National Committee says all speakers and presenters are not expected to participate from remote locations. The convention is set to start August 17.
10p	August 5, 2020	2:00	Green Bay officials say they will now accept help from the Wisconsin National Guard for the primary election. Green Bay is down about 90 election workers, a shortage created by the pandemic. There is still time for more people to sign up to volunteer, Absentee voting is also underway.
10p	August 5, 2020	1:00	Milwaukee officials say they're still focusing their attention on the DNC event though Joe Biden will no longer be making his acceptance speech in Wisconsin. Milwaukee Mayor Tom Barrett says although they are disappointed the DNC will now be all virtual, it shows that Democrats are taking the virus seriously. Some want Wisconsin to be a choice for the 2024 DNC. Republicans are criticizing the move.

10p	August 5, 2020	0:30	A U.S. Appeals court judge is now overturning a ruling on the Dakota Access Pipeline. The move now lets an oil company continue to pump their product through the pipeline while an environmental impact report is completed. The company says shutting down during that time would have lost them millions of dollars.
12p	August 6, 2020	2:00	Lawmakers are still in a stalemate over a new stimulus package.
4p	August 6, 2020	0:30	President Trump on Thursday said he thinks it's possible there will be a COVID-19 vaccine ready around Election Day in November. "I think in some cases, yes, possible before, but right around that time," Trump said on Geraldo Rivera's radio show when asked if he thought a vaccine would be ready by Nov. 3. "We have great companies," he added. "The rest of the world is also doing vaccines, so let's see how they do."
10p	August 6, 2020	1:45	As the partisan primary gets closer, officials are preparing for another voting day in a pandemic. In Appleton, officials say the election will look similar to voting in April. They will keep all of their polling locations open saying it prevents crowding at bigger polling spots.
4:30a	August 7, 2020	0:30	Appleton says they will keep all of their polling places open for Tuesday's election. They say it worked well for the April election.

Government/Political

3rd Quarter 2020

4p	August 7, 2020	1:15	A last-ditch effort by Democrats to revive collapsing Capitol Hill talks on vital COVID-19 rescue money have ended in disappointment. That makes it increasingly likely that Washington gridlock will mean more hardship for millions of people who are losing enhanced jobless benefits and further damage for an economy pummeled by the still-raging coronavirus. Deadlocks on aid to states and local governments and renewing supplemental unemployment benefits are blocking the way to agreement. Republicans say President Donald Trump will now at least issue executive orders on home evictions as many jobless Americans have difficulty making rent or mortgage payments.
4p	August 7, 2020	0:45	Financial losses are mounting at the U.S. Postal Service during the coronavirus pandemic. The agency said Friday it lost $2.2 billion in the three months ending in June. Officials warn the losses could top $20 billion over two years. Postmaster General Louis DeJoy calls the agency's financial position "dire." But he disputes reports his agency is slowing down mail and says it has "ample capacity to deliver all election mail securely and on time." The Postal Service is seeking at least $10 billion to cover operating losses as well as changes to how it funds retiree health benefits. Lawmakers want the Postal Service to reverse operational changes that are causing delivery delays.
4p	August 7, 2020	0:45	The U.S. is imposing sanctions on pro-China officials in Hong Kong, including the leader of the government, for their alleged roles in squashing freedom in the former British colony. The Treasury Department announced sanctions Friday on Carrie Lam, the leader of the pro-Beijing government, and 10 other officials. The sanctions are the latest in a string of actions the Trump administration has taken against China as tensions between the two nations rise over trade disputes and the coronavirus. Beijing imposed a sweeping national security law on Hong Kong earlier this year, raising widespread concerns about the Chinese government cracking down on the anti-government protests.
10p	August 7, 2020	0:30	Vice President Mike Pence will be coming to Wisconsin during the DNC. He will be campaigning for the president. Joe Biden announced recently that he will not be coming to Milwaukee for the event. His campaign says Pence's move is irresponsible.

4p	August 11, 2020	0:45	Joe Biden has chosen California Sen. Kamala Harris as his running mate. It's a move that fulfills the wish of Democrats clamoring to see a woman of color on a major party's presidential ticket for the first time in history. The 55-year-old Harris was elected to the Senate in 2016 after serving as California's attorney general. Harris competed against Biden for the Democratic presidential nomination but left the race before voting began as she struggled to raise money. One of Harris' standout moments of her presidential campaign came at the expense of Biden, when she slammed his past opposition to school busing.

4p	August 12, 2020	2:00	Joe Biden and Kamala Harris delivered an aggressive one-two attack on the character and performance of President Donald Trump on Wednesday as they made their election case for the first time as running mates. Biden pitched his former primary rival as a smart, tenacious figure who will help him defeat Trump in November amid a pandemic, cratering economy and national reckoning on racism. Harris is making history as the first Black woman on a national major party ticket. 4p	August 17, 2020	1:15	U.S. Sen. Tammy Baldwin (D-Wisconsin) lashed out against the president's response to the coronavirus in an internet news conference Monday morning. Wisconsin Democrats have marked the start of the Democratic National Convention by blaming President Donald Trump for botching the response to the coronavirus pandemic. Democrats said during an online welcome event Monday that Trump's handling of the pandemic forced them to cancel the in-person gathering that would have brought about 50,000 people to Milwaukee. However, they tried to put a positive spin on the situation, with Milwaukee Mayor Tom Barrett encouraging those who canceled their travel plans to "come back any time." Meanwhile, Trump, his son Eric Trump and Vice President Mike Pence are due to make appearances in Wisconsin this week.
4p	August 17, 2020	1:15	Several individuals including candidates for public office are suing President Donald Trump and the new postmaster general of the U.S. Postal Service in New York to ensure adequate funding for postal operations. The lawsuit was filed Monday in Manhattan federal court. The lawsuit alleges that Trump and his newly appointed Postmaster General Louis DeJoy are trying to ensure the postal service cannot reliably deliver election mail. The lawsuit seeks a court order to force adequate funding of the postal service prior to November's election. Messages seeking comment were left with the Justice Department and the U.S. Postal Service.

He's highlighting what he sees as a global leadership deficit that threatens U.S. national security. Jill Biden will also introduce herself to the nation for the first time as the prospective first lady. A longtime teacher, she'll speak from her former classroom at Brandywine High School near the family home in Wilmington, Delaware. Former President Bill Clinton and former Secretary of State John Kerry are among the headliners on a night that organizers hope to emphasize a simple theme: Leadership matters.

His support has been eroding among suburban white women in battleground states since his last campaign, in part because of his harsh rhetoric. Anthony was arrested for voting in her hometown of Rochester, New York, and convicted in a widely publicized trial. Trump says he'll sign the pardon later Tuesday. That's 100 years after the ratification of the 19th Amendment, which ensures the right of women to vote and which is named for Anthony.

4p	September 10, 2020	0:45	President Donald Trump is heading for a rally in battleground Michigan Thursday as he tries to move past revelations that he was determined to play down the threat of the coronavirus last winter -even as he talked of the dangers in private. He's getting new pushback concerning the virus and his rallies, too. Local leaders are worried that the rallies are growing in size and flouting public health guidelines intended to halt the spread of the virus. This week, the state of Nevada became the first to scuttle Trump's plans for rallies initially set for Las Vegas and Reno. Michigan's Democratic Gov. Gretchen Whitmer has also raised alarms about Thursday's event.
4p	September 10, 2020	0:30	Another coronavirus rescue package has failed in the U.S. Senate. Democrats blocked a Republican bill Thursday that they said shortchanged pressing national needs. The mostly party-line vote capped weeks of wrangling over a fifth relief bill that all sides say they want but are unable to deliver. The $650 billion measure that failed Thursday was roughly half the size of legislation promoted by GOP leaders this summer. But that version was too big for most conservatives, so the bill was stripped back to focus on school aid, jobless benefits and help for small businesses. It's unclear whether bipartisan talks on a bill will resume.

4:00p	September 21, 2020	1:45	Former Vice President Joe Biden plans to campaign Monday in northeast Wisconsin for his second visit to the state this month. Biden's campaign announced Sunday that the Democratic presidential nominee would be campaigning in Manitowoc, a city of about 32,000 that's on the shores of Lake Michigan about 80 miles north of Milwaukee. Biden is coming back to the state as the number of COVID-19 cases has topped 100,000, which he referred to in a statement as a "grim milestone."
4:00p	September 21, 2020	1:00	President Donald Trump said he expects to quickly announce his pick for the Supreme Court on Friday or Saturday. That would be before Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg is buried next week at Arlington National Cemetery but ahead of the first presidential debate. Ginsburg's casket will be on public view Wednesday and Thursday outside the court and Friday inside the Capitol. Trump told "Fox & Friends" on Monday that he has a list of five finalists, "probably four" and he wants his choice confirmed before Election Day, Nov. 3. Democrats led by Joe Biden are pointing to the hypocrisy of Republicans rushing through a pick so close to the election after refusing to do so for President Barack Obama in 2016.
4:00p	September 21, 2020	0:30	The Justice Department identified New York City, Portland, Oregon, and Seattle as three cities that could have federal funding slashed under a memorandum by President Donald Trump that sought to identify localities that permit "anarchy, violence and destruction in American cities." The designation drew immediate criticism from local elected officials. It comes as Trump has cast cities run by Democratic mayors as under siege by violence and lawlessness. That's despite the fact that most of the demonstrations against racial injustice have been largely peaceful. An attempt to cut off federal funding to the cities would likely be met with immediate legal challenges.
