Russian President Vladimir Putin continues to assert his country had no choice but to invade Ukraine.	Newscast	2-21-23 8 & 9am	Russian President Vladimir Putin continues to assert his country had no choice but to invade Ukraine. As NBC's Keir Simmons reports, Putin addressed his country's Federal Assembly today blaming the West for the start of the war he launched almost exactly one year ago. It's a similar argument he made in a speech last February as the war began. Putin also made the claim that Ukraine was hoping to be provided with nuclear weapons.

Newscast	2-21-23 8 & 9am	When Republicans took control of the House, there was an expectation that a border security bill would be a no-brainer. That's proving to be a tough sell as the Senate is controlled by Democrats. Senator John Cornyn says his

			fellow Texans in Congress need to be leading the way on border security. Even that's proving to be harder than some thought as those on the far right are sparring with moderate Republicans. One plan, which would turn away migrants in order to achieve "operational control" at the border, is falling on its face.

The Biden administration is threatening a nationwide ban on TikTok if the Chinese-owned app isn't sold.	Newscast	3-16-23 8 & 9am	The Biden administration is threatening a nationwide ban on TikTok if the Chinese-owned app isn't sold. NBC News Chief White House Correspondent Kristen Welker says this marks a dramatic shift in the administration's policy towards the popular app. TikTok is firing back, saying, "If protecting national security is the objective, divestment doesn't solve the problem." The popular video-sharing app is used by more than 100 million Americans. There's concern the company could harvest and supply sensitive data on U.S. users to the Chinese government. Multiple state governments and Congress have banned the app from government devices.

The Kentucky House of Representatives approved increased criminal penalties for hazing last week, thanks to the advocacy work of Tracy and Kirk Hazelwood, whose son Lofton died from alcohol poisoning at the University of Kentucky.	Newscast	3-20-23 8 & 9am	The Kentucky House of Representatives approved increased criminal penalties for hazing last week, thanks to the advocacy work of Tracy and Kirk Hazelwood, whose son Lofton died from alcohol poisoning at the University of Kentucky. Tracy and Kirk Hazelwood, alongside Kentucky legislators, said hazing by the FarmHouse Fraternity, a Greek organization, contributed to the freshman's death. UK police said an investigation failed to prove Lofton was forced or coerced to drink excessively. Kentucky statute defines hazing as any action which endangers the physical or mental health of a minor or
