Description of Issue	Program / Segment	Date	Time	Duration	Narration of Type and Description of Program / Segment
1) Economic Hardship and The Job Search	Walking Wisely	8/4/2013	11am/7pm	24:31:00	Inspirational Broadcast: The ancient concept of "walking circumspectly" means literally to watch in all directions as you move ahead. That kind of advice undergirds the job search as faith resources and working hard at finding work come together. This hour of hopeful devotion leads all caught up in the pinch of economic conditions thorough options in both walking ahead with steadiness and watching for opportunities as they arise.
2) Changing Times and Emotional Health	Born Again and Again	7/28/2013	11am/7pm	27:10:00	Devotional: Rebirth is both religious, as new perspective is gained by faith... and practical... as personal renewal enables one to face new situations with fresh approaches. As the landscape around us changes, emotional health can be strengthened by using faith resources to become new... and the freedom to adapt to face the future with confidence.
2) Changing Times and Emotional Health	Compassion	7/14/2013	11am/7pm	24:33:00	The Hour of Hope Broadcast holds up compassion as a key to navigating the waters of rapid and turbulent change. Emotional health can be maintained when we focus on people and relationships over possessions and circumstances. Compassion is the ability to feel with another, forming strong emotional bonds. These bonds can be the key to family and community survival when times are uncertain.

3) Families Under Stress	Battle for Control	7/21/2013	11am/7pm	25:10:00	Changing Times: Families in our listening area often struggle for control as economic climates change and family members succumb to stress... and sometimes mental illness and chemical dependencies. Religious faith along with appropriate medical help is a key element in achieving control over life and family situations.
4) Making a Stronger Community	Temptations of the American People	7/7/2013	11am/7pm	23:15	On this week of our nation's birthday, Station Founder, Rev. L. C. Orrick urges listeners to make a stronger community through responding to the needs of those less fortunate. It's a temptation, he says, to confuse pride with gratitude. Pride says "Look what I've done." Gratitude prompts us to help others... to make us all stronger as neighbors and citizens.
