The Art and History Museums – Maitland Art Center has become the first National Historic Landmark in Orange County and the 44th in the state of Florida. Founded in 1937, the museum consists of two sites which include gardens, diverse collections, ongoing exhibitions and educational programming. Originally known as the Research Studio, it was part of a colony that provided a place for artists to live, experiment with new forms and escape the demands of daily life. Today, the Artist-in-Residence and Artist-in-Action programs honor the museum's original purpose. The museum is open Tuesday through Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4p.m.. Tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for children and seniors.

Executive Director and CEO Andrea Bailey Cox stopped by SUNNY Across Central Florida to talk about A&H's Maitland Art Center.
