3. Outdoor Adventures	Outdoor Idaho “The Outfitters” Idaho’s outfitting industry has always attracted colorful characters: the ones completely at home leading a pack string down a mountain trail, or piloting a raft through one of the state’s many Class IV rapids. This is an industry with a major impact on Idaho’s economy, its image, and its outdoor resources.. “The Outfitters” profiles some of these men and women, tasked with connecting us to the natural world; and in the process we discover why Idaho is a national leader in the licensing and regulating of this important industry. Outdoor Idaho “Yellowstone’s Cascade Corner” Yellowstone National Park is a place of hidden fire and scalding steam, wild predators and rushing rivers. Visitors flock to the natural wonders of this grand terrain. Yet there is a more lightly traveled, a more private side, of the park. It’s the lush southwestern corner of Yellowstone that extends from Wyoming into Idaho. The 200 square mile region is filled with huge meadows, twisting canyons and countless waterfalls. This area known as the Cascade Corner offers a wonderful wilderness escape to hardy adventurers who are willing to go the extra mile. Outdoor Idaho “Gold Rush Days and Ghost Towns” They are glimpses of mining’s glory days. Reminders of a rush for riches that helped transform a wilderness into a state. But as the luster of the metals faded, so too did many of the boom towns, gradually disappearing into the hard landscape from which they were carved. We search for these weathered vestiges of the past among Idaho’s gold rush days and ghost towns. Outdoor Idaho “Idaho’s Scenic Byways” In Idaho, a drive can be an adventure, a journey to places of beauty, history and inspiration. It can be a remote trek along a dusty desert pathway or a leisurely spin on pavement bordered by striking mountain vistas. It’s all available by charting a course along one of Idaho’s 31 scenic, historic or backcountry byways. Crossing through nearly every corner of the state, these routes are incredible corridors that can carry you to some of Idaho’s most compelling landscapes.	7/20/17 8 p.m. 30 minutes 8/17/17 8 p.m. 1 hour 8/24/17 8 p.m. 1 hour 9/3/17 7 p.m. 1 hour
4. Health	Second Opinion “Lead Poisoning” Even small amounts of lead can cause serious health problems—particularly in young children. Yvette Reynolds shares her personal story about her daughter's dangerously high lead levels and how it could have been prevented. Second Opinion “Melanoma” Melanoma is the most dangerous form of skin cancer, these	8/26/17 7 a.m. 30 minutes 9/16/17 7 a.m.

	cancerous growths develop when unrepaired DNA damage to skin cells (most often caused by ultraviolet radiation from sunshine or tanning beds) triggers mutations (genetic defects) that lead the skin cells to multiply rapidly and form malignant tumors. These tumors originate in the pigment-producing melanocytes in the basal layer of the epidermis. Alzheimer’s: Every Minute Counts This program is an urgent wake-up call about the national threat posed by Alzheimer’s disease. Many know the unique tragedy of this disease, but few know that Alzheimer’s is one of the most critical public health crises facing America. This powerful documentary illuminates the social and economic consequences for the country unless a medical breakthrough is discovered for this currently incurable disease. Long Road Home Exploring the impact of wartime Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, “Long Road Home” offers compelling stories of Pittsburgh-area military veterans of Vietnam, Korea and World War II still coming to terms with the emotional wounds of war. The film explores successful therapies and documents the promising research underway at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center, where doctors study the sleep and brain patterns of PTSD sufferers and examine the reasons why women are twice as likely as men to develop the disorder. The program concludes on a hopeful note, with a visit to a weekend retreat for veterans dealing with PTSD and combat stress. Elder Abuse and Exploitation There are more than five million elder abuse victims in the United States, affecting an estimated one in 10 adults over the age of 60. Elder abuse is defined by the National Center on Elder Abuse as a knowing, intended or careless act that causes harm to an older person — physically, mentally, emotionally or financially. This documentary examines the causes behind geriatric mistreatment, neglect and exploitation. Experts suggest that our understanding of elder abuse lags decades behind child abuse and domestic violence. This form of maltreatment is often underreported, lacks clear legal definition, and is complicated by ethical challenges. The documentary shares several surprising and thought-provoking facts about elderly abuse.	30 minutes 9/26/17 7 p.m. 1 hour 9/28/17 10 p.m. 1 hour 9/29/17 8:30 p.m. 30 minutes

Logevall, the Laurence D. Belfer Professor of International Affairs at the Harvard Kennedy School and a professor of history at Harvard College, won the 2013 Pulitzer Prize in History for his book, “Embers of War.” It examines France’s colonial involvement in Vietnam and how and why U.S. support of the French led to the Vietnam War. He talks about why he felt it was important for people to know about the pre-history of the Vietnam War, whether the war could have been avoided, and how the decisions made before and during the Vietnam War have affected our country’s foreign policy since then. Dialogue “Bravo!” Ken and Betty Rodgers, residents of Eagle, ID, talk about a documentary they have produced called “Bravo! Common Men, Uncommon Valor” about the 1968 siege of Khe Sanh in Vietnam. Ken Rodgers is a former Marine Lance Corporal and a veteran of Khe Sanh. He and his wife Betty are joined by Steve Wiese, a former Marine Corporal who is also a veteran of Khe Sanh and lives in California. Both Rodgers and Wiese were members of Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 26th Marine Regiment, which fought at Khe Sanh in what would become the longest siege of the Vietnam War, and which would end in a stalemate. In the film “Bravo!,” Rodgers, Wiese and 13 other former Marines describe their experiences in combat and how those experiences have continued to affect their lives.	9/24/17 7:30 p.m. 30 minutes 9/26/17 10 p.m. 30 minutes
6. Local Community Interest	Outdoor Idaho “Creative License” Idaho’s landscape challenges us to explore and invites us to imagine. Her natural wonders stir the senses, inspiring artistic expression in many forms. “Outdoor Idaho’s ‘Creative License’ follows four artists on their journey to create and inspire. For singer-songwriter Casey Kristofferson, the mountains of central Idaho are a majestic backdrop against which to write and record his mountain music. Sculptor John Grade found his muse in the form of a lava tube at Craters of the Moon National Monument and creates a wooden sculpture based on a digital scan of the tube’s interior. Alexandra Paliwoda forges iron into functional art from her blacksmith shop in the valley of the Tetons near the Wyoming border. And Jon Mills chases storm clouds across the desert to capture digital images of stunning desert lightning storms in southern Idaho — he’s even been hit by lightning.	7/13/17 8 p.m. 30 minutes

	Dialogue “Dent Conference” Host Marcia Franklin talks with Steve Broback and Jason Preston, the co-founders of the Dent Conference, a three-day event held in Sun Valley in March that focuses on people and ideas “denting the future.” The two discuss why they founded the event in 2013, what makes it unique, why they chose Sun Valley as its location, and some of the other events they sponsor during the year. Idaho Reports Special: Remembering Governor Cecil Andrus This program takes a retrospective look at Governor Andrus’ impact on the leaders and landscapes of the American West. The “Idaho Reports” team explores Andrus’ legacy, what about his personality made Andrus one of Idaho’s most notable modern politicians, and whether there are political lessons to learn from his successes as Idaho’s longest serving governor and the first Interior Secretary appointed from the Gem State. The special draws upon archival footage of Andrus, interviews with Andrus’ friends and political contemporaries, and a pundits discussion.	8/18/17 7:30 p.m. 30 minutes 9/1/17 8 p.m. 30 minutes
