1. Early Childhood Education	Children’s and Ready to Learn Programming Programs include: Rosie’s Rules, Alma’s Way, Dinosaur Train, Sesame Street, Curious George, Let’s Go Luna!, Xavier Riddle and the Secret Museum, Wild Kratts, Daniel Tiger’s Neighborhood, Molly of Denali, Elinor Wonders Why, Hero Elementary, etc. These programs are focused on helping young children build strong pre-reading and reading skills.	Weekdays 6:30 a.m. – 4 p.m. 9 ½ hours each weekday and Sundays 6 a.m. – 10 a.m. 4 hours each Sunday
2. Education	Science Trek “Soil” Soil is the top layer of Earth. Without soil, there would be no life on our planet. There is a lot more to the study of soil than just dirt. Kathleen Lohse, associate professor in soil processes and biogeochemistry at Idaho State University, and Carla Rebernak, a soil scientist with the Natural Resources Conservation Service, answer students’ questions about soil and the environment. Science Trek “Asteroids and Comets” Asteroids are small, rocky objects left over from the formation of our solar system. Comets are leftovers too, made of dust, rock and ice. These small worlds can tell us what the early solar system was like. Science Trek “Insects” Insects are the most numerous and diverse of all animal groups on Earth. There are nearly one million known species of insects, and more are being discovered each year. Guest scientists answer students’ questions about insects. Science Trek “Volcanoes” A volcano can be described as part of Earth’s plumbing system. Magma, or molten rock from under the earth, pushes upward through a sort of natural pipe and sometimes explodes lava out of the ground. Volcanoes created many of Idaho’s mountains and plains. Scientists study volcanoes to learn more about the earth and to protect the millions of people who live near these fascinating geological features. Jeffrey Johnson, associate research professor of geophysics at Boise State University, and Brittany Brand, assistant professor in the department of geophysics at Boise State University,	10/2/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes 10/11/2022 3 p.m. 30 minutes 10/16/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes 10/25/2022 3 p.m. 30 minutes

	answer students' questions about volcanoes. Science Trek "Television" An average American spends 33 hours each week viewing a television or some type of streaming device. How exactly does the video get to the screen? What is the difference between broadcasting and streaming? Guests Rich Van Genderen, director of technology, and Craig Koster, chief engineer, both of Idaho Public Television, answer students' questions about television. Science Trek "Idaho Ecosystems" Idaho has many different ecosystems, including forests, wetlands, deserts and grasslands. Why are these different ecosystems important to the plants and animals in the state? How are they different? How are they the same? Leif Tapanila, director of the Idaho Museum of Natural History, and Rosemary Smith, professor of biology at Idaho State University, answer students' questions about Idaho's ecosystems. Science Trek "Five Senses" Sight, hearing, touch, smell, taste — these are your five senses. You learn about the world and how to live safely thanks to them. How do your five senses all work? What happens when something goes wrong with one of them? Pediatricians Naya Antink and Bradley Bishop with Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center answer students' questions. Science Trek "Force and Motion" Gravity, inertia and momentum affect everything. Sir Isaac Newton developed his laws of motion to explain how these forces act. John Gardner, professor of mechanical engineering at Boise State University, and Kathryn Devine, assistant professor of physics at the College of Idaho, answer students' questions. Science Trek "Horses" Horses have played an important role in human history. There are more than 200 breeds of horses worldwide. They come in many sizes — from the Shetland, which stands about four feet tall, to the Clydesdale, which can reach six feet in height. Idaho Quarter Horse Association President Myron Amsden and equine veterinarian Dr. Madison Seamans answer students' questions about horses.	10/30/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes 11/8/2022 3 p.m. 30 minutes 11/13/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes 11/22/2022 3 p.m. 30 minutes 11/27/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes

	Science Trek “Oceans” Oceans are salty bodies of water that cover 70% of the earth. Oceans contain many different ecosystems, and they are home to a wide variety of animal and plant life. Some of the largest and smallest creatures live in the ocean. Our weather is depended upon oceans. We get lots of our food from the oceans. Yet people have only explored about 5% of the oceans. David Wilkins, associate professor of geosciences, and Walter Snyder, professor emeritus, department of geosciences, answer students’ questions about oceans. Science Trek “Computers” The computing power in one cell phone is greater than all the processing power in all the computers aboard the Apollo 11 lunar lander that put men on the moon in July 1969. Tim Anderson, Computer Science Department Chair, Boise State University; and Flossie Erben, firmware program manager, HP Inc, answer questions from students. Science Trek “Zoology” Zoologists study animals of all shapes and sizes. Zoologists help us understand how animals live and interact with the world. Steve Burns, director of Zoo Boise, and Holly Holman, Zoo Boise’s veterinarian, answer students’ questions about zoology. Viewers will also visit Zoo Boise and learn about its very special conservation program. Science Trek “Digestive System” Your body needs food for energy, vitamins and minerals. But food needs to be broken down into a substance your body can use. That’s the job of your digestive system. Your digestive system starts its job even before you eat your first bite. Find out how the digestive system works. Gastroenterologists Matt Sericati and Brian Story answer students’ questions.	12/6/2022 3 p.m. 30 minutes 12/11/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes 12/18/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes 12/25/2022 9:30 a.m. 30 minutes
3. Local Community Interest	Outdoor Idaho “The Frank” The fight over the creation of the River of No Return Wilderness was one of the pivotal battles in the state’s history. We explore the fascination with this crown jewel of the nation’s wilderness system. Outdoor Idaho “My Excellent Adventure” Is there an adventure that you’ve always wanted to experience? That’s the question Outdoor Idaho posed to our Facebook friends. Here are four stories that take viewers to some of Idaho’s best loved parts of the state.	10/2/2022 7 p.m. 30 minutes 10/6/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes

	Outdoor Idaho “Looking Back and Moving Forward” For 40 years Outdoor Idaho has been bringing beauty, nature, science and wonder into your living room. It’s time to look back on the legacy and look forward to the future. In this special celebration broadcast we’ll find out how Outdoor Idaho came to be, who made it the masterpiece that it is today, and what we’re doing to ensure Idaho’s outdoor stories continue to be told.	10/13/2022 8 p.m. 45 minutes
	Outdoor Idaho “35th Anniversary Special” This hour-long special revisits some of the scenic wonders we’ve uncovered in 35 years. We also take viewers behind the scenes, and we remember the folks who have shared their stories with us over the years. We’ve changed a lot in three and a half decades. Of course, who hasn’t? Welcome to our 35th Anniversary Special!	10/16/2022 7 p.m. 1 hour
	Outdoor Idaho “Hops & Barley” From the golden fields of barley in southeastern Idaho to the biggest hops ranch in the world nestled up against the Canadian border, Outdoor Idaho takes you on an exploration of the ingredients and the craftsmanship behind Idaho beer.	10/20/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes
	Outdoor Idaho “Crafting A Living” We honor those who use their artistic vision and craftsmanship to make unique creations. Master bladesmith Bill Burke creates high performance Damascus knives. Ashley Delonas tracks down antler sheds for her unique creations. Cary Schwarz’s hand-crafted saddles are widely revered for their durability and artistic design.	10/27/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes
	Outdoor Idaho “Women Who Hunt” It’s the taste for meat and a thirst for adventure that drives hunters to dedicate early mornings and dusky evenings to the pursuit of an animal. From elk to pheasant, deer to chukar, hunting is in the genetic makeup of Idaho, both historically and culturally. In this show, we’ll hike along a snowy ridge, scramble across rocks and follow tracks to get inside the heads of Idaho’s women who hunt.	11/3/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes
	Outdoor Idaho “Home on the Range” Cowboy poets remind us that it’s still possible to live the life of a cowboy, to ride the range in solitude, and of course, to wear the outfit of the icon of the American west. We explore the lives of the cowboys and the wannabe cowboys, at home on the range.	11/10/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes

	Outdoor Idaho “Almost Canada” This program highlights the terrain and activities in the northern section of the Idaho panhandle that borders Canada. Features include the Boundary-Smith Creek Wildlife Management Area, rafting the Moyie River, the Kootenai Tribes’ work with sturgeon, the Upper Priest Lake Scenic Area, American Falls at the end of the Centennial Trail, fishing on the Kootenai River, and horse packing to the Shorty Peak Lookout. Highlights the terrain and activities in the northern section of the Idaho panhandle that borders Canada. Features the Boundary-Smith e Centennial Trail, fishing on the Kootenai River, and horse packing to the Shorty Peak Lookout. Outdoor Idaho “Salmon Reckoning” Idaho’s salmon are facing extinction. Congressman Mike Simpson says the only way to save these ocean-going fish is to breach the four lower Snake River dams, all located in the state of Washington. His proposal has generated both condemnation and praise. We explore one of the most controversial and consequential issues facing the Northwest. Outdoor Idaho “In The Shadow of the Bitterroots” Idaho’s Bitterroot Mountains define our state’s squiggly eastern border. Rugged, remote and hard to get to, the Bitterroot Mountains offer a challenge and reward. This program will uncover the history, culture, recreation and science of the land. From sacred Nez Perce trails to the tallest peaks, this show will inspire curiosity about a unique mountain range. Outdoor Idaho “Seeking Refuge” This episode captures nature’s scenes and sounds in Idaho’s six National Wildlife Refuges. Hundreds of thousands of migrating birds, plus more who find nesting sites in the refuges, also attract birdwatchers, scientists and others to these special places. The six refuges in Idaho are the Kootenai, Deer Flat, Minidoka, Camas, Bear Lake and Grays Lake Outdoor Idaho “Jewel of the North” Priest Lake is the least developed of Idaho’s three large northern lakes and retains much of the natural beauty that has enticed visitors for decades. This program captures the beauty of the landscape and also showcases the areas many recreational opportunities. It also portrays its unique history and the people who believe this place really is the “jewel” of Idaho.	11/17/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes 11/24/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes 12/1/2022 8 p.m. 1 hour 12/8/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes 12/18/2022 7 p.m. 30 minutes

	Outdoor Idaho “Chasing the Light” A photograph can stop time, can capture a moment and make the familiar new again. This is a chance to see Idaho through the lens of some of the finest photographers in the world, all of whom call Idaho their home. Mark Lisk, Leland Howard, Alison Meyer, Steve Bly, Glenn Oakley, Chad Case, and Tim Buckley -- they share with us their secrets and some of their favorite places for chasing the light. Outdoor Idaho “Hometown Ski Hills” Community ski hills are scattered throughout Idaho, each with its own field of dreams story to tell. We profile three of them: Bogus Basin near Boise; Little Ski Hill by McCall; and Pomerelle near Albion.	12/22/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes 12/29/2022 8 p.m. 30 minutes
4. History	Idaho Experience “Proving Up: Idaho’s Homesteaders” This surge of newcomers isn’t Idaho’s first land rush. That distinction goes to homesteaders proving up more than a century ago. This isn’t the locals’ first struggle with outsiders either. That burden is carried by Native American tribes going back several centuries. Drawing lines on the land in this territory is a complicated map of successes and failures that started before Idaho became a state. Idaho Experience “Idaho Myths, Monsters and Legends” Haunted houses. Creatures in the forest, in the sky, in the water. Why are we drawn to tales of the monstrous and mysterious? Idaho Experience “Remembering the Sunshine Mine Disaster” Fifty years after the fire that killed 91 miners in Kellogg, Idaho Experience looks at the ways the community is remembering the losses and lessons of the 1972 disaster.	9/11/2022 7:30 p.m. 30 minutes 10/20/2022 8:30 p.m. 30 minutes 12/4/2022 6:00 p.m. 30 minutes

	statewide candidates about their visions for the state in the next few years. Idaho Reports This week, we explore funding for emergency medical services in rural Idaho. Kevin Richert of Idaho Education News and Kaye Thornbrugh of the Coeur d’Alene Press discuss the recent heated trustee elections at the College of Western Idaho and North Idaho College, and what the races’ outcomes mean for Idaho’s students. We’ll also discuss the horrific events last weekend at the University of Idaho. Idaho Reports For the first time in a decade, the Idaho House of Representatives has a new speaker, and the rest of the lawmakers have their new committee assignments. Kevin Richert of Idaho Education News and Betsy Russell of the Idaho Press break down what that means for Idahoans. Plus, a new chapter in the decades-long effort to clean up historic mining waste in the Bunker Hill Superfund site. Idaho Reports This program explores funding challenges for rural domestic violence programs. Idaho is one of the only states that provides no general funds for local domestic violence services, and providers rely almost entirely on federal funding. Then, outgoing attorney general Lawrence Wasden discusses his career and the transition to the incoming Raúl Labrador administration. Idaho Reports Health care officials sound the alarm over hospital capacity due to RSV, flu, and COVID surges. Kevin Richert of Idaho Education News discusses turmoil at North Idaho College, as well as what the next few months of education policy discussions may look like.
