Description: Grace MacAfee lost her grandson Trent to a heroin overdose in June. She attended the York County Heroin Town Hall meeting to share his story and offer some input from someone who has lived it. She believes people in recovery need treatment plans, not jail time. A body bag served as a centerpiece for the meeting, decorated with 31 toe tags to symbolize the 31 people who have already lost their lives to heroin this year. Members of the Heroin Task Force held this meeting to address the current heroin epidemic plaguing York County.

"What they're doing is wonderful. They're very honest about the fact that this is a huge problem. It's bigger than all of us. But they're willing to do this in their own free time and I think that says something about them".
