PROGRAMS THAT ADDRESS LOCAL ISSUES

The following programs that aired during the relevant reporting period regularly address local issues and concerns in the station's city of license and within its service area. Specific episodes and segments of these programs and the issues they addressed are listed on the following pages.

Program Name	Schedule (Day/Time)	Description (Note whether local, syndicated or network)
Contact Tracing	7/1/2020 at 6:00pm 2:30	As covid-19 cases climb, health officials are stressing the importance of contact tracing to stop the spread. Here's how it works. Those infected are identified and isolated. Then, health departments try to track down everyone they've been in contact with. Those people are then tested and quarantined. But tracking down people who may have been exposed to covid-19 is sometimes easier said than done. 13 On Your Side's Alana Holland tells us how contact tracing is working out in west Michigan.
Quarantine Fatigue	7/2/2020 at 6:00am 3:15	As the pandemic stretches into its 4th month in Michigan, some are experiencing Quarantine Fatigue. I spoke with psychologist Dr. Nicole Beurkens to ask first-what is it, and what can we do about it?
Herd Immunity	7/7/2020 at 6:00pm 1:23	You've probably heard talk of "Herd Immunity" as we continue to deal with this pandemic. But could it help us get past Covid-19? 13 On Your Sides, Health Report, Val Lego connects the dots.
Vaccine Approval Explainer	7/8/2020 at 6:00am 1:10	There is a lot riding on a vaccine for Covid 19. So, here is a look at how the CDC says vaccines get approved....
Ronald McDonald House	7/10/2020 at 6:00am 2:15	In April, Coronavirus forced Ronald McDonald Houses to close the doors to new families around the globe. This week, the Grand Rapids House re-opened. 13 On Your Side's Angela Cunningham show us why many are excited... and thankful.
Abortion Pill	7/14/2020 at 5:00am :40	A judge's ruling allows women to have the abortion pill mailed to them during the COVID-19 pandemic. A U.S. District Judge agreed to suspend a rule requiring women to visit a hospital or clinic to get mifepristone (muh-fuh-pri-stown. In person requirements create what the judge called a "substantial obstacle" to abortion patients. Mifepristone (muh-fuh-pri-stown) is used with another drug, my-soprostol, to end an early pregnancy or manage a miscarriage. More than 4 million Americans have used this method to end an early pregnancy. In 2017, it accounted for 39 percent of all U-S abortions.

Contact Tracing Explainer	7/14/2020 at 5:00am 1:20	Contact tracing is an important tool in the fight against the coronavirus. Here's how it works and why you should take it seriously. A contract tracer's job involves reaching out to people who test positive for COVID-19 and determining anyone else they might have infected. Each state hires their own contact tracers. They will interview the person who tested positive and reach out to anyone they had contact with to ensure all parties isolate for two weeks and get tested. This will be done confidentially, without revealing the identity of the person who first tested positive. The contact tracer can also help link people with resources to help make the self-quarantining process easier. Contract tracing is an important step in disrupting the chain of infection and should be taken seriously by everyone.
Dealing With Child Stress	7/16/2020 at 6:00am 3:20	Psychologists say meltdown like that one shouldn't come as a big surprise, as kids reach a boiling point over pandemic restrictions. I talked with holistic child psychologist Dr. Nicole Beurkens about how to recognize these signs of stress in your kids, and how to manage them.

		A diagnostic test for COVID 19 is getting a pre-liminary thumbs up. The F-D-A recently gave Saliva Direct early Saliva Test	8/26/2020 at 5:00pm 1:00	use authorization for its saliva test. It's a simple test where patients spit into a sterilized container and that's it. The F-D-A recently gave Saliva Direct early use authorization for it's saliva test. It's a simple test where patients spit into a sterilized container and that's it. It takes about 15 minutes to get results and cuts costs by 75%. While the nasal swab is still considered the gold standard with 99% accuracy... the new saliva test isn't far behind with about 90% accuracy. It has infectious disease specialists like Dr. Liam Sullivan from Spectrum Health excited about having other options for COVID 19 testing.

Covid Colds	9/3/2020 at 5:00pm 1:20	And when it comes to COVID-19 there's some interesting new research that says the common cold might provide some protection. Remember that miserable cold you got a few years back? Turns out that fever, runny nose and down-right miserable feeling may be protecting you from the coronavirus. Dr. Sullivan/Spectrum Health Infectious Disease Specialist: "There's four different coronaviruses that cause the common cold. Even though they aren't directly related to the coronavirus that causes COVID 19, there are similarities between them." Dr. Sullivan is an infectious disease specialist with Spectrum Health he says new research published in the journal Cell found an interesting connection. Dr. Sullivan: "They took patients that knew they had COVID and then patients that didn't have COVID and they found a little bit of cross reactivity in the patients that didn't have COVID and they found that they had T Helper cells as well." Sound confusing? Let's break it down. T-Helper Cells tell B Cells to make antibodies which creates T-Cells that kill off the virus. So if you have enough of those T-cells as a result of having a coronavirus related cold... then you might be able to fight off COVID-19. Dr. Sullivan: "It might explain why some people are not getting very sick from this virus." It's just one more piece of the puzzle that makes up COVID 19 and may just help to control the virus. Dr. Sullivan: "It's strengthening the information we have and helping us develop better vaccinations and therapeutics in the future."
Kids and Screen Time	9/9/2020 at 5:00am 1:35	For kids doing virtual learning, more screen time will be unavoidable this school year. But should parents be worried about children glued to a screen all day long? Let's connect the dots.
